FOREWORD

It is to be hoped that every alumnus, student and friend of St. Viator College into whose hands this SOUVENIR PROGRAM will fall, shall find the FAMILY ALBUM part of it interesting, stimulating and entertaining. We like to disinter the old plush covered family album once in a while and look over the tin types and photos to see what "they" looked like in those days. An attempt is here made to present the past history of St. Viator College in a brief and rapid fashion, to turn over the pages of the College Album and to look once more at the "faces" of bygone days.

Whether in the field of scholastic endeavor or on the athletic field, you will find the characters moving from the earliest PRINTED RECORDS down to the present time. A sort of kaleidoscopic view of St. Viator and its activities in college life. Many names will be familiar, many too that have now risen to heights of distinction and prominence in all walks of life. Reading through these lists is sure to provoke memories, anecdotes and incidents, all of which will bind the alumni closer together, foster loyalty and love for the old school, link the present with the past, and give a feeling of kinship between the "old boys" and the "new" and so make for a greater solidarity among alumni, students and friends.

HISTORY OF ST. VIATOR COLLEGE AND THE EARLY VILLAGE OF BOURBONNAIS

THE INDIANS AND THE EARLY SETTLERS

HI YE HA! hi ya hi yil
In the 1700's, the Pottowattomi Indians were on the warpath against the Illini tribes. They fought fearlessly for possession of the land on which the village of Bourbonnais now stands. This territory along the Kankakee was richly abundant in game and fish, and its fertile soil was well worth safeguarding. Great hunters and fishers, the Pottowattomi fought fiercely for their chosen land.

They were the firm allies of the French until the close of Queen Anne's War in 1713, and their help was often sought by early French explorers. Marquette induced five canoes of Pottowattomi to accompany him on his voyage across Lake Michigan in 1674. Their raids, led by Pontiac against the English, were of great value to the French for many years. In the Revolutionary War, however, they gave their allegiance to their former enemies, the English.

EARLY CATHOLIC REDMEN TO THE RESCUE

During the Revolution and in after years, isolated villages and poorly garrisoned forts suffered greatly at their hands, as they captured many, and slew the defenders ruthlessly. At a later date, General Wayne of the American Army induced the Pottowattomi to sign a peace treaty at Greenville on August 4, 1795. This treaty was kept for many years, but the Pottowattomi revolted during the War of 1812 and played a leading role in the Fort Dearborn Massacre. The slaughter and havoc were terrible. Even more horrible would have been the outcome had it not been for the arrival of two half-breed Pottowattomi chiefs, Billy Caldwell and Alexander Robinson, who had embraced Catholicism. These friendly chiefs exerted sufficient influence to stop the massacre, thereby saving the Kinzie family and many others, from a hideous fate.

These two friendly chieftains with the aid of Chief Shabbona of the Pottowattomi were able eventually to convince their tribes of the futility of warfare against the "palefaces." As a result, the Pottowattomi refused to participate with Chief Black Hawk in the Winnebago War of 1827, and accepted the logical alternative of living amicably with the white settlers.

MEETING THE INDIANS ON FRIENDLY TERMS

When the brave "Coureur de Bois" entered the Kankakee country they found the Pottowattomi ordinarily a peaceful tribe. They were never a menace to the fur traders except when they consulted the spirits of the bottle and imbibed too freely. Two of the earliest fur traders in this land, Gordon S. Hubbard and Noel Le Vasseur, were well liked by the Indians and lived in harmony with them.

Some interesting tales are related to illustrate Pottowattomi hospitality and friendliness. Thomas Durham, a partner of Le Vasseur, was resting on the land near Bourbonnais, when he perceived a tall Indian chief staring at him from a short distance away. For a long time they surveyed each other in silence. Then the Indian removed his head-dress, walked over to Durham and exchanged it for the latter's tall Quaker hat. The chief then beckoned to his band who had intently watched the proceedings at a little distance. They examined Durham's Quaker clothing curiously and put the astonished trader on a pony and brought him to their encampment, where he enjoyed their hospitality for some time.

At a later date Durham, accompanied by his young wife and infant, again journeyed to the same territory. He was relating to his wife the odd incident with the Indians, when he was startled by the arrival of the same chief and his tribe. After staring curiously at the paleface squaw and papoose, the chief gently but firmly lifted the baby from the mother's arms and set out for the river. There the baby was suddenly "dunked" much to the consternation of the young parents. After he had returned the thoroughly drenched child, the chief told Durham that the boy would never have any chest or throat ailments. Strange as it may seem, the boy lived to a ripe old age without having even a common cold.

Noel Le Vasseur, an associate of Thomas Durham in the fur trade, was the first white settler of Kankakee County. Together with Gordon S. Hubbard, he conducted the American Fur Company's business in the Illinois country from 1820 until about 1835.

In 1824, Hubbard married an Indian princess, Watseka, with whom he lived until 1832. He then sold his share of the trading post to Le Vasseur, secured an "Indian divorce" from Watseka and went to Danville. At a later date, he journeyed to Chicago where he conducted a large and profitable packing house.

When Hubbard divorced Watseka, Le Vasseur married her. They lived together for a few years, after which Le Vasseur also divorced her and settled a large sum of money upon her.

ST. VIATOR'S ORIGIN

In 1835 Le Vasseur bought the Frances Le Via reservation consisting of a section of land along the Kankakee River, west of Davis Creek, where the settlement known as "Petit Canada" was established shortly afterward. Le Vasseur also owned the land on which St. Viator College now stands, and Marsile Hall is erected on the site of Le Vasseur's brick house which he built in 1840.

In 1837 Le Vasseur married Miss Ruth Bull of Danville and of this marriage four boys and four girls were born. The youngest daughter, years later, married Dr. Monast who was an early house physician at St. Viator College and a member of the faculty. Mrs. Le Vasseur died in 1860, and in 1861 Le Vasseur married again. His third wife was Miss Elenore Franchere of Chicago.

Le Vasseur spent his declining years in the shadow of the old St. Viator College the existence of which he had largely made possible. His children and grand-children were educated there and he was frequently the center of a group of eager young college students. Into their interested ears he poured many an exciting tale of pioneer life in the old Northwest.

Mr. Alfred Senesac of Bourbonnais, as a boy, was well acquainted with Le Vasseur. He relates that when the old pioneer lay on his death-bed, Le Vasseur requested Mr. Senesac's father to bring his favorite horse into the sickroom. The younger Senesac was hoisted upon the horse, which he rode into the room. There, Le Vasseur revealed the close kinship that existed between man and horse in the days when a man's life often depended upon a swift and faithful steed. Le Vasseur wept exceedingly as he kissed the horse goodbye. The next day Le Vasseur died, and according to the testimony of some, was buried in the village churchyard.

THE COMING OF THE VIATORIANS

The Kankakee country was opened to settlement in 1832 after the Government had concluded a treaty with the Pottowattomi. The same year saw the establishment of a post office called Kankakee which name was later changed to Bull-bonas Grove. This was a corruption of "Bourbonnais Grove."

The general consensus of opinion is that the name was taken from that of Francois Bourbonnais, an early fur trader of Hubbard's era. Francois Bourbonnais established a trading post near the present site of Bourbonnais and married a Pottowattomi maiden named Catish. His contemporaries relate that soon after his marriage he forsook most of his white man's ways and led the life of a typical Pottowattomi. A large portion of the present city of Kankakee is built upon his wife's reservation of land from the Government.

THE CATHOLIC CHURCH IN EARLY BOURBONNAIS

When the land was cleared of Indians and thrown open by the Government in 1836 large numbers of French-Canadian immigrants came to Bourbonnais. Many of these fled from the Canadian insurrection of 1837 and 1838 and sought new life in this fertile prairie land.

For some time their staunch Catholic hearts had to be content with occasional visits of missionaries. Bishop St. Palais, Father Lohimliere, Father Crevier and Father Stephen Theodore Badin (in 1793, the first priest ordained in the United States) were the early missionaries who said Mass in the settlers' cabins.

Father Hipolyte Dupontavice (or Pontavisse) built a log church in 1846 on the site of the present Bourbonnais parish house. This rude sanctuary, St. Leo's, was replaced in 1849 by a frame structure dedicated to the Maternity of the Blessed Virgin Mary. Father Courgeault (or Courjault) was the first resident pastor in 1847. Maternity Church, which replaced St. Leo's, was later destroyed by fire. In 1858, it was replaced by the present stone edifice which is also named "Maternity Church."

"Neglecting Neither Mind Nor Body" St. Viator in Athletics

INTRAMURAL activities and athletics have been in vogue at St. Viator College since the first year of its founding. It is true that the college did not have a well formulated program of physical education until recently. Under the direction of Lou Zarza, Director of Physical Education and Football coach, this department has become a part of the college curriculum. Freshmen and Sophomores must follow this course now as a requisite for graduation. Throughout the history of the school from 1865-1936

there was only one year in which there was any semblance of a physical education program that was a part of the college curriculum. This was in the year 1923 when Jack Crangle, an Illinois University graduate, coached football and conducted formal activities, drills and calisthenics in the gymnasium.

INTRA MURALS HAVE THEIR HISTORY, TOO

Intramural athletics were popular at St. Viator College as far back as 1887. In the March 26th issue of the college publication of that year the first records of intramural activities appeared. The seniors of the school then organized a baseball league, composed of 9 teams and referred to as the C. S. V. League (Clerics of St. Viator League).

The intramural program developed gradually. Football, billiards, handball and swimming were soon added to the program of activities. On Oct. 21, 1893 the first intramural track and field meet was held. This event has become the most popular part of intramurals in modern times.

Until his resignation from the athletic department four years ago Rev. E. M. Kelly, C.S.V. had always stimulated interest in intramural as well as varsity athletics. His duties as athletic director and coach of the baseball team made it difficult for him to direct the intramural program personally. In 1922 Father Kelly appointed Rev. Tom Harrison, then assistant prefect of discipline, as director of the Intramural program. Father Harrison stimulated enthusiasm and interest in all athletic activities until he was transferred to his new duties in Brimfield, Ill. in 1931. In 1934, Rev. F. J. Harbauer, C.S.V. was appointed to take charge of the administrative duties of the intramural and athletic departments. In addition to the activities in progress the intramural program added indoor baseball, boxing, tennis, golf, ping-pong and badminton.

AFTER HONORS IN FOREIGN FIELDS

The official school publication, the Viatorian, states that organized competitive athletics began in 1883. The Viatorian records reveal that a college baseball game was played with the Kankakee Reds, the college boys winning 22-13. Unfortunately, the early history of the school did not record all the athletic contests. In fact, until 1902 the records are deficient, giving only a very brief picture of Viator baseball nines.

St. Viator College is often associated with its baseball teams. The college boys played any and all opponents and were second to none in collegiate baseball circles. The baseball teams of St. Viator enjoyed remarkable success and until this sport was discontinued 8 years ago baseball was the outstanding event in Viator athletics. An all time record of 300 victories and 100 losses is a splendid achievement for any college.

A Tribute to Senior "V" Men

THE passing of seniors by graduation never fails to strike a sad note on any campus, and especially is this true if the seniors happen to be athletes.

St. Viator loses four athletic seniors via the graduation route in June, and the same regret prevails over their passing that has been felt for years when "V" men receive their diplomas.

The four are Johnny Burke, Bill Walsh, Frank Straub, and Danny Blaze- vich. Burke distinguished himself in basketball, Walsh in football, Straub in basketball, and Blaze- vich in both.

BURKE

Burke, a handsome young man from Springfield, labored for several years in the shadows of Al Monahan and Frank Straub, but his chance finally came this season. Straub injured a knee during the Carbondale game which forced his retirement from the squad and Burke was dispatched into battle. He played brilliantly throughout the campaign and this in spite of the fact that his right knee was in a metal cast.

BILL WALSH

During his collegiate days Walsh proved that books and athletics do mix, and well too. An honor student, tiny Bill from Rantoul made his name un- forgettable on the football field, being captain of the sensational 1937 eleven which rode through its second unbeaten Illinois Intercollegiate conference season. Walsh skipped several games because of injuries, but closed his career in a blaze of glory against Columbia.

Straub, victim of injuries early in the 1937-38 cage campaign, probably would have been one of the outstanding small-college basketeers in the Middle- West. A guard of exceptional qualities, Straub possessed an uncanny eye for the basket as well, and was on his way to scoring honors in the I. I. C. when he fell beneath the basket at Carbondale with an injured leg. He nursed the injury along for several days, and then, upon the advice of his medico, decided to hang up his suit.

Straub is a Bloomington boy and sought a berth on the football team during his sophomore year. When he saw his basketball career imperiled by possible football injuries, he gave up the gridiron sport. Blaze- vich, proba- bly the finest athlete in modern history at St. Vi- ator, excelled in football and basketball, but espe- cially in the former where he landed on every first all-conference eleven in the state. His fire and spirit made him invalua- ble to either the football team or basketball squad when spirits lagged dur- ing a slump. St. Viator men, from under-gradu- ates to the oldest alumni, are convinced that Blaze- vich has earned a post on the nationally famous All-Star Team for 1938.

BLAZE- VICH TO BE VI- ATOR'S CANDIDATE FOR 1938 CHICAGO TRIBUNE ALL-STAR FOOTBALL TEAM!

BLAZE- VICH

Your votes will gain him the position he so well deserves.

With country-wide approval, Viatorians are preparing to pile up votes for Dan Blaze- vich this summer when the Chicago Tribune gathers the cream of the Nation's college footballers to face the world champion Washington Redskins in late Au- gust. That Dan deserves the reputation as "the greatest offensive end in state conference football" is only part of the story. We feel that his prowess matches that of any other end in the country. The only way this can be proved, the only way that St. Viator can reap the benefits of this signal honor, is for every Viatorian to "get in there and pitch" when votes are being cast. Get your friends, your friends' friends, and their friends to cast a vote for Danny Blaze- vich—do it for him as well as for St. Viator. Good luck, Danny, we'll be rootin' for you!

HISTORY OF ST. VIATOR COLLEGE

A LONG-FELT NEED IS FILLED

In the Bourbonnais of the 1860's, the problem of education was the cause of considerable anxiety. The need of a good Catholic education for the children of Bourbonnais was very imperative. This problem was partially solved on September 24, 1860 by the Sisters of the Congregation de Notre Dame, who came from Canada to establish a grade school and academy for the girls. However, the boys still had to attend the district school which was operated mainly by non-Catholic secular teachers.

Father James Cote, pastor in 1864, after discussing the matter with Bishop Duggan of Chicago, wrote for aid to Father Champagneur, Provincial of the Canadian Province of the Clerics of St. Viator. Upon encountering reluctance due to the scarcity of priests, he journeyed to Canada and pleaded his cause eloquently.

This time he was successful, for on September 6, 1865 the Reverend Peter Beaudoin, C.S.V., with two Brothers, Jean Baptiste Bernard and Augustin Martel, set out for Bourbonnais to take command of Catholic education. For long hours on one eventful afternoon, the villagers awaited the coming of the Viatorians. The minutes ticked slowly into hours, and still the Brothers did not come. Were they to be disappointed? Finally, from far down the dusty road, came the cry "The Brothers are coming!" The ovation which these stalwart Viatorians received from the generous, simple-hearted French-Canadians did much to encourage them in their arduous task.

ST. VIATOR'S RAPID GROWTH

Within a few weeks the Brothers began teaching in the district school which stood on the site of the present college grounds. The exact location is commemorated by a stone marker near the entrance to the present campus. At the end of the first year the number of pupils had increased. Brother Larmarche had joined the staff and the school's success seemed assured. In 1867 a commercial course was inaugurated and a short time later, a boarding school was opened to augment the meager income.

In the spring of 1868 the Viatorians purchased the small two-story building from the town board at a cost of $3,000 payable in teaching. So successful were the Viatorians that by fall a three-story addition to the old building was ready for occupancy.

FATHER ROY

The fall session of 1868 opened under the direction of Father Thomas Roy, C.S.V., who had been sent from Canada to install the Classical College curriculum. Many courses were gradually added and in 1870 a Theological department was opened. On September 1, 1871 Brother Moses J. Marsile, C.S.V., later to become the much-esteemed second president of the college, arrived to take over the French Literature department. With this increase in faculty and curriculum the college began one of the most successful years in its history. Thus did a small grade school, humbly begun, enlarge in a brief span of years to a classical and commercial college.

ST. VIATOR COLLEGE 1875-1906

On February 2, 1874, Reverend Peter Beaudoin, C.S.V. and the Reverend John A. Fanning, members of the Board of Trustees, applied to the State of Illinois for a charter for the new College. As a result, in the fall of that year St. Viator's College (the French spelling of the name was then in use) was recognized by the State and was empowered to confer degrees upon its graduating classes.

In 1875 the campus was increased by the purchase of twenty-two acres of land from Noel Le Vasseur. It became a certainty that St. Viator College was destined to be a success.

The first graduating class of the Classical College in 1872 was composed of four members. Three of these: Joseph C. Lesage, Archille L. Bergeron and Gerasime M. Legris accepted positions on the faculty. They began their studies in preparation for the priesthood and Gerasime Legris afterward became Right Reverend Monsignor Legris, D.D., P.A. The fourth member, Fred L. Marcotte, left the college to pursue a course in medicine.

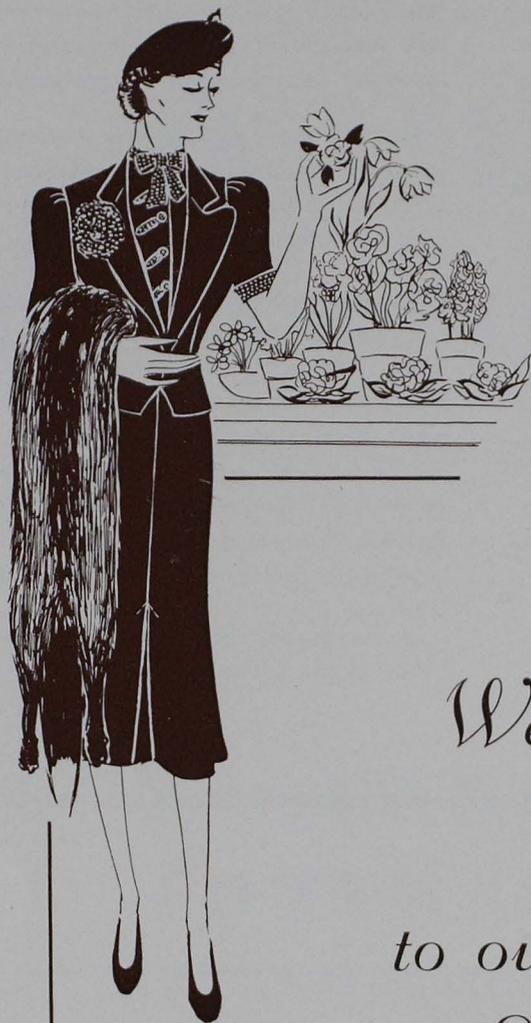

In November 1878 the Right Reverend Bishop Foley of the Chicago Diocese appointed Very Reverend Father Beaudoin, C.S.V., as Rural Dean of the Bourbonnais district. Not long after Bishop Foley again showed the esteem in which he held St. Viator College by presenting her first President, Father Roy, with a beautiful gold chalice in recognition of his merit and great work in Catholic Education. By special permission of the Bishop of Chicago this chalice was used on the occasion of the Passion Play given by the local branch of Cisca during Holy Week in 1936.

The rising young college suffered a severe blow on July 10, 1879 when the beloved first President, the Reverend Thomas Roy, passed away to his eternal reward. Worn-out by his zealous labors he had returned to Canada hoping that the change of climate would renew his strength. However, his arduous work in his eleven years of exile in a strange land had sapped his vitality and he was laid to rest in his native soil. He had participated greatly in the growth of a flourishing Catholic College and had been the friend of his students and the inspiration of his faculty. Those he left behind mourned him greatly.

FATHER MARSILE

The torch which fell from his hands was caught and carried to new heights by the brilliant Reverend Moses J. Marsile, C.S.V. This worthy President was greatly instrumental in adding to the group of buildings, and in securing needed additional equipment for many of the departments.

OUR EARLY EDITORS

By 1883 St. Viator College had traveled far from its humble origin and was increasing and growing to a gratifying extent. With Father Marsile's hand at the helm, the middle period of St. Viator's history began.

On March 2, 1883, the first edition of St. Viator's College Journal was published with Mr. J. Murphy as the editor. The Journal was devoted to recording the events of the school year and also gave expression to the literary talents of the students. It did not list a staff until October 25, 1884 when Alexander McGavick, '85, the present Bishop of LaCrosse, Wisconsin, was named as the first editor-in-chief, and H. McPhilipps, '86, P. Sullivan, '86, and Ambrose Granger, '87, were listed as assistants.

The morning of June 23, 1885 ushered in St. Viator's Thirteenth Annual Commencement exercises, which were presided over by Right Reverend J. L. Spaulding, D.D. At this commencement Alexander McGavick, the future Bishop, received the Degree of Bachelor of Arts and delivered an oration on "The Influence of the Councils of the Church upon Civilization." Ambrose Granger '87 made an address of greeting to the Bishop and praised him for his great work in Catholic Education.

At the Nineteenth Commencement of the College it was decided to construct a building as a memorial to Father Roy. This building was erected in 1889, and named Roy Memorial Hall. Four stories in height, it was a beautiful edifice in which the first three floors were utilized for educational purposes. The college chapel on the fourth floor was of Byzantine design with a triple coronet of domes. The Stations of the Cross were imported from Paris.

SILVER JUBILEE CELEBRATION

On May 24 and 25, 1893 St. Viator celebrated its Silver Jubilee. At a banquet in honor of the occasion, the Honorable J. Maher, City Attorney of Chicago, presided and attending as guests of honor were: Very Reverend Peter Beaudoin, C.S.V., Reverend Brother Martel, C.S.V., the Very Reverend Superior General P. Lajoie, C.S.V., and the Very Reverend Canon Bruchesi. A solemn High Mass, at which the then Father McGavick gave the sermon, was celebrated on the morning of the 25th. Among the speakers at the concluding banquet were Father Shannon, the Honorable F. Quinn of Peoria, Father Marsile, Father Beaudoin, and Brother Martel.

The college paper name was changed in September 1893 from "St. Viateur's College Journal" to "The Viatorian" because of the length of the former name.

HONORS FOR ST. VIATOR'S CLERICS

In 1893 at the World's Fair in Chicago an exhibition of class work won for St. Viator an award for advanced work. Two volumes of French poems by Father Marsile were also exhibited.

The Alumni of St. Viator tendered a banquet in May 1899 to Right Reverend Bishop McGavick on the occasion of his consecration as Auxiliary Bishop of Chicago. The following day Bishop McGavick journeyed to Bourbonnais where he announced he was commissioned by Laval University to bestow the degree of Doctor of Divinity on Reverend G. M. Legris.

On May 1, 1901 Father Legris was invested Prothonotary Apostolic Monsignor by Bishop O'Reilly of Peoria in recognition of his work for Catholic education. Until his death in 1934 he had zealously dedicated all his efforts to this cause.

On October 21, 1901 the Feast of St. Viator, the dedication of the $40,000.00 gymnasium took place. The plans had been drawn-up by Brother Simeon Boisvert, C.S.V. who superintended the construction.

In 1902 the Chicago Tribune contained a sketch of Father Marsile under the caption "Priest Who Writes Plays." The article said of him, "As the only priest of the Roman Catholic Church in this country with a highly developed and practical knowledge of stagecraft, his position is unique." Father Marsile wrote much verse and drama and received a great deal of praise for several of his operettas, which were enacted on the stage.

In April 1903, a doughty young student named Sheil made his debut as a baseball pitcher against Onarga. According to the Viatorian of 1903 Sheil threw "a steady game and showed masterful control and headwork in the face of poor support and unmerciful guying." The versatile Sheil also commanded Company A of the student military organization in 1903 and was quarterback on the varsity football team. That redoubtable young warrior is none other than our present Right Reverend Bernard J. Sheil, D.D., Auxiliary Bishop of Chicago.

Father Marsile celebrated his Silver Jubilee as President of St. Viator College on June 19, 1905. The Jubilee celebration was presided over by Most Reverend James E. Quigley, D.D., Archbishop of Chicago and Right Reverend John P. Carroll, D.D., Bishop of Helena, Montana. A cablegram from His Holiness Pope Pius X signed by his secretary of state, Cardinal Merry Del Val, was read by the toastmaster. For the purpose of erecting a building to be known as Marsile Alumni Hall, Right Reverend Monsigneur Legris, D.D., P.A. presented Father Marsile with $25,000 of which Monsigneur Legris had contributed $10,000 from his personal funds. Archbishop Quigley, Bishop Carroll and Monsigneur Legris presided at the laying of the cornerstone in July 1905.

TRAGEDY AND RECONSTRUCTION

On February 21, 1906 St. Viator suffered a great misfortune by fire. The flames broke out in one building, quickly spread to others, and soon the only buildings left standing were Bernard Gymnasium and the incompletd Marsile Alumni Hall. Luckily, none of the faculty or students were harmed, but the College suffered a loss of $150,000 of which only part was covered by insurance.

The generous people of the surrounding towns threw open their doors to the homeless college students for the night. In the morning Father Marsile exhorted the students to preserve their loyalty and faith in St. Viator. He expressed the hope that while they must of necessity return to their respective homes, he hoped they would return at the re-opening of St. Viator College.

A wealthy banker, Mr. Busey, of Urbana, Illinois offered the St. Viator Trustees money and land if they would re-open the Classical College near the Industrial College of the University of Illinois at Urbana. However, the proposition was so restricted by various conditions that it was refused.

The work of reconstructing St. Viator College started on its way. A new building, Roy Memorial Hall, was begun. Through the generosity of the Alumni and people of Bourbonnais, Bradley and Kankakee, the college collected $32,000 for reconstruction. This was matched by a donation of another $32,000 by Mr. Andrew Carnegie through the good offices of Congressman ("Uncle Joe") Cannon.

THE END OF A LONG CAREER WELL SPENT

After twenty-seven years as President of St. Viator College Father Marsile was forced by ill health to resign in 1907. Under his guidance the college had grown with great strides and he had remained undaunted even during the fire of 1906. His greatest joy was the appointment by Rome of four of his favorite students to high ecclesiastical honors. Those who were appointed to the Catholic Hierarchy in America were Right Reverend Alexander McGavick, D.D., then Auxiliary Bishop of Chicago, Right Reverend Bernard J. Sheil, D.D., Auxiliary Bishop of Chicago, and Right Reverend J. P. Lynch, D.D., Bishop of Dallas.

No story of St. Viator's athletes or athletics could be complete without mention of Father Harbauer, our capable Athletic Director, who has been the driving force behind Viatorians in the fields of sport for the past five years. More of a friend than a mentor to all his proteges, his boundless energy and sparkling enthusiasm have never failed to be effective in putting St. Viator on the map of the sporting world.

ST. VIATOR IN ATHLETICS

Football at the college commenced in 1895 when St. Ignatius of Chicago defeated St. Viator 24-0. In 1908 Walter Eckersall, former All-American quarterback, became the first professional coach. A shortage of reserve material and a lack of uniform system over a long period of time have been the reasons responsible for mediocre football teams at the college. In spite of this handicap the Viator teams have been able to win approximately 120 games while losing about 85 contests and tying 16. The 1936 team won the championship of the Little 19 Conference.

Shortly after Eckersall came to St. Viator College organized competitive basketball was introduced. The first season 1909-10 the "Purple and Gold," now the "Green and White," won three games and lost one. In 1911 a victory over James Millikin University crowned the Viatorians champions of the midwestern small college teams of the state. Along with baseball the Irish fives produced many championship teams. All in all, the basketball teams of the Bourbonnais institution have won approximately 270 games and lost 170.

Mr. Arch Ward
Chicago Tribune
Chicago, Illinois

Dear Mr. Ward:

The Kankakee Chamber of Commerce takes this opportunity of wholeheartedly endorsing and supporting representatives in the all-star contest being sponsored by the Chicago Tribune.

The Kankakee community is following with intense interest the entry of these two men, and this entire area is backing the boys to the limit and doing everything possible to have them elected. We gladly state that these two young men as representing the Kankakee community, would be a credit to the community and to the Chicago Tribune and the State Conference.

We congratulate you and the Chicago Tribune in this great and fine undertaking and sincerely hope that Joseph Saia and Tom Gibbons will be elected in the all-star contest. St. Viator College is a wonderful institution and a great credit to the Middle West, and having representation in your program from this college would be giving recognition to a college that is deserving of anything good and surely of this great honor.

Cordially yours

ST. VIATOR COLLEGE 1907-1938

FATHER O'MAHONEY

On the broad shoulders of St. Viator's third president, Very Reverend John Patrick O'Mahoney, C.S.V., fell the responsibility of directing the course of St. Viator College. At this period, the modern era begins.

BOWING TO MODERN INFLUENCE

Previous to Father O'Mahoney's regime, the European system of education was in vogue. Father O'Mahoney inaugurated the American College curriculum abolishing the lower primary grades. The wisdom of this course was soon perceived in the increase of enrollment and further development of the college department.

Father O'Mahoney was appointed by Governor Dunne of Illinois to represent the State at the Fourth American Peace Conference held in St. Louis, Missouri, May 1, 1913. The College has always been favored by recognition of the State as its presidents and faculty members had rendered great assistance in many State matters.

May 1, 1913 witnessed the death of the Very Reverend Peter Beaudoin, C.S.V., retired pastor of Maternity Church in Bourbonnais and one of the founders of St. Viator College. He had opened the primary school, which was destined to be the forerunner of St. Viator College and had been President of the Board of Trustees for many years. In 1878, Bishop Foley had appointed him as Rural Dean of Kankakee County. He retired from active parish work about 1903, but remained at the parish until his death.

ST. VIATOR GOES "OVER THERE"

St. Viator has also many soldier clerics of whom to be proud as four members of the college faculty enlisted as chaplains during the World War. Reverend J. F. Moisant, C.S.V. was stationed at Camp Presidio, San Francisco; Reverend W. J. Stephenson, C.S.V., a Spanish War veteran, at Camp Greene, Charlotte, North Carolina; and Reverend J. W. R. Maguire, C.S.V., who was chaplain of the Fourth Division of the Army of Occupation.

THE GOLDEN JUBILEE

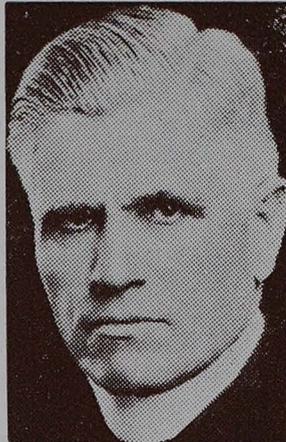

St. Viator College celebrated her Golden Jubilee on June 11, 12 and 13, 1918. Many church dignitaries were present at the ceremonies during which the Class of 1918 presented the beautifully illuminated Celtic cross on the roof of Marsile Hall.

The college year of 1918 closed with the retirement of Very Reverend J. P. O'Mahoney, C.S.V., as Third President of St. Viator College. He had assumed his duties at the most crucial point in the college history and had been faced with reconstruction of the college after the fire, and reorganization of the college curriculum. That he was entirely successful is plainly evident today, and his genial Gaelic character and personality have endeared him forever in the hearts of St. Viator Alumni.

FATHER RYAN

Under Father Ryan's administration as Fourth President St. Viator College continued to develop along the lines laid down by Father O'Mahoney. Father Ryan dealt courageously with the problem of controlling hot-blooded young students greatly stimulated by war-time propaganda.

FATHER BERGIN

In the fall of 1919 Very Reverend William J. Bergin, C.S.V. became the Fifth President of St. Viator College. Since his coming to St. Viator in 1896 Father Bergin had labored assiduously to promote the greater welfare of the College and consequently, during his regime it continued to prosper.

FATHER KIRLEY

The Sixth President was the Very Reverend J. D. Kirley, C.S.V. who immediately proceeded with the task of raising an extension fund for a greater Viator. During his administration Kelly Pool was constructed and the Kelly Athletic Field was improved.

These athletic centers were both named in honor of Reverend E. M. Kelly, C.S.V., who was for over twenty-five years Director of Athletics, and was famed throughout athletic circles as "the grand old man of Viator's." The most glowing tribute ever devised by man would fall far short of paying proper honor to this grand character. He has a host of Alumni who pay him homage and respectfully say, "He's a great old scout."

FATHER RICE

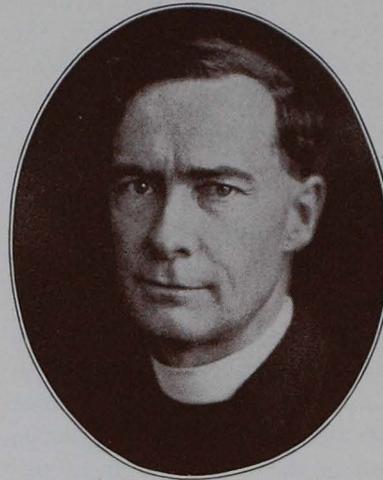

Father Kirley was succeeded by the Very Reverend Terence J. Rice, C.S.V., the Seventh President, who had been previously Dean of Discipline, and Vice-President.

THE OLD IS GONE—LONG LIVE THE NEW!

On January 6, 1926, St. Viator College again suffered a severe loss by fire. The historic old Bernard Gymnasium, which contained the kitchen, dining hall, auditorium, bowling alleys, pool-rooms and music rooms, was completely destroyed. On this occasion the College was greatly indebted to the Sisters of the Congregation de Notre Dame who placed their dining hall and kitchen at their disposal.

Out of the ashes of Bernard Gymnasium rose two new buildings, a dining hall and a gymnasium which were completed in November 1926. Both are highly modern in every respect and are complete with all athletic and refectory necessities.

FATHER RHEAMS

In 1927 Father Rice was succeeded by the Very Rev. James V. Rheams, formerly Dean of Studies, who had originally been Master of Novices at the Viatorian Novitiate in So. Dakota. In 1928 his superiors felt the loss of his services as Master of Novices and recalled him to South Dakota.

FATHER MAGUIRE

The Very Reverend J. W. R. Maguire, C.S.V. succeeded Father Rheams as the Ninth President of the College. Father Maguire abolished the high school, previously a part of the college, and thus for the first time in its history St. Viator became solely a college institution.

At Father Cardinal's inauguration the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws was conferred upon the Honorable Henry L. Horner, Governor of the State of Illinois. His Excellency Bernard J. Sheil, D.D., Senior Auxiliary Bishop of Chicago, presided at the ceremonies.

Due to Father Cardinal's unstinting efforts the Accrediting Bureau of the University of Illinois has recognized the full four-year course. In addition, under Father Cardinal's guiding influence, the St. Viator College Historical and Scientific Museum was founded.

OUR PRESENT LEADER

FATHER CARDINAL

The Very Reverend Edward V. Cardinal, C. S. V., Ph. D. succeeded Father Maguire in 1934. Father Cardinal, the Tenth President of the College, is the author of a life of Cardinal Campeggio, Papal Legate to the Divorce Trial of Henry VIII.

ST. VIATOR TODAY

Possessing a highly energetic and modern disposition, Father Cardinal is setting out to make St. Viator one of the outstanding Catholic Colleges of the country. Father Roy relinquished it to Father Marsile while it was still in swaddling clothes; Father Marsile directed its childish footsteps; Fathers O'Mahoney, Ryan, Bergin, Kirley, Rice, and Rheams brought it towards its full maturity; Father Maguire gave it further independence and dignity as a college proper; and Father Cardinal is sending it toward new heights hitherto unattainable.
