MRS. J. LEGRIS, MOTHER OF MSGR. LEGRIS, IS DEAD

Long and Serviceable Life
Comes to a Peaceful Close.

Mrs. Joseph Legris, 88, died at the home of her son, T. A. Legris of Bourbonnais at 12:12 o'clock, Monday, November 19. Mrs. Legris had been in ill health for the past year and for the past two weeks she had been confined to her bed.

Born in Canada

Mrs. Legris was born in Canada at the Cape St. Ignace in 1840. At the age of twelve years she moved to Bourbonnais with her parents and has spent practically all of her long and useful life in this village. She was married to Joseph Legris in 1857. Three of her eight children are living. Rev. Msgr. G. M. Legris is a highly respected and renowned instructor at St. Viator College. Fred E. and Thomas A. Legris are president and vice-president respectively of the Legris Trust and Savings Bank of Kankakee. Alphonse Legris was a student at St. Viator and was pursuing an advanced law course at Washington when his death occurred at the age of twenty-one. One other son, Harvey, died five years ago in the Legris home on College Ave., Bourbonnais, now known as St. Bernard Hall.

Besides her three sons, Mrs. Legris is survived by many grandchildren and several great great grandchildren.

Mrs. Legris has long been known for generous contributions to the Church of which society she was such a devoted member.

Hobo Parade Thru Kankakee a Success

The student parade to the city of Kankakee on the evening before Homecoming was enjoyed by both participants and onlookers. The line of some two hundred hobos formed at the N. Y. Central tracks and advanced on the city proper.

Escorted by a city motor cop, the band of merry-makers wended their way through the business district, cheering, singing, and endeavoring to the utmost to make the eardrums of the audience ache with the discordant racket.

The parade came to a halt at the corner of Court St. and Schuyler Ave. and traffic was held up for fifteen minutes while the cheerleader led the students in a great number of loud and enthusiastic cheers. The "Kazzoo Band," riding in state upon an ancient hayrack accompanied the racketeers in the Viator loyalty song. The parade broke up at the instruction of the cheerleader and the students started the return trip. By "hooking" rides with the townspeople all were back to school on time for the bonfire and pep meeting.

Bombs Add Much To Homecoming Game

St. Viator copied the custom of other colleges of exploding bombs at crucial moments in their big games. It was extremely unfortunate that all the fireworks had to follow touchdowns made by the opposing team in the Homecoming battle.

Pep Meeting, Nov. 22 Drew Large Crowd

Gathered about the huge bonfire at the south end of the campus a crowd of three or four hundred listened to the speeches and assisted in the cheers that traditionally precede the Homecoming game at St. Viator.

Among the speakers of the evening were: Father J. W. R. Maguire, President of St. Viator College; Father T. J. Lynch, Dean of English; Rev. E. McLain, former star half-back and short-stop of St. Viator; Sam McAllister, Coach; John Herbert, captain of this year's football team and "Lefty" Leanhardt, Don McCarthy, Tom Hanahan, "Mike" Delaney, "Red" O'Malley, and Linus Meis; all seniors and members of the football squad.

As the embers faded and the heat of the fire lessened the students and "grads" drew closer together. As the fire died down the interest and enthusiasm of the gathering increased. Cheer after cheer disturbed the usual quiet of the old campus. Each speaker added something that his predecessor had overlooked, something that called for a renewed outburst from the throng.

As a fitting climax to the pep-meeting, a burning "V" appeared in the distance, suspended between two trees. By the light of the flaming "V" the crowd responded to a few more cheers and then disbanded to form into little groups for discussions of the morrow's prospects.

Former Viator Man Wedded to Kank. Girl

Announcement was made Homecoming Day of the marriage of Miss Marie Marcotte, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Narcisse Marcotte of Bourbonnais, to Mr. William Neville '27 of Bloomington, Illinois. The wedding was an event of last July 10 and was solemnized at Clinton, Ill., the very Rev. T. E. Shea, chancellor of the Peoria diocese officiating.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Neville are well known to the present student body. Mrs. Neville is a graduate of Notre Dame Academy, attended St. Viator one year, and spent one year in study at the University of Illinois. She is the daughter of one of our staunch alumni. "Bill" was a three sport man, and former president of the St. Viator College Club.

The faculty and student body join in wishing the newly married couple every conceivable blessing.

Bradley Wins Little "19" Cross Country

Peoria, Ill.—(Special)— Bradley College took first place in the first annual "Little 19" cross country run held at the Peoria College last Saturday by placing their six runners among the first 13 for 30 points. Illinois College finished second with 84 points while Monmouth College grabbed off third place with 93.

The first meet was awarded to Bradley because it was the first season for many of the colleges. Several failed to send teams to the meet but indicated that they would be represented next fall. Some thirteen different schools were represented in the run with over 880 runners facing the starter. The 1929 meet will be awarded at the annual meeting of the coaches in Chicago in December.

HOMECOMING PARTY TERMED SUCCESSFUL

Called One of the Finest in Recent Years.

The Homecoming Dance, sponsored by the College Club, was one of the most successful ever held at the College. The affair drew most of its large crowd from the alumni who had returned for the inaugural ceremonies in the morning and for the Millikin-Viator football game in the afternoon.

Music for the evening was furnished by Jack Higgins and his Royal Purple Orchestra of Chicago.

The decorations were beautiful and formed the main topic of conversation for those who had the habit of "passing the time of day" with their neighbors. Mr. Mathews and Mr. Leanhardt are to be commended for the very splendid results of their efforts in dressing the interior of the gym for the occasion.

Mr. Watson announced that the College Club has fortunately realized a neat sum after all expenses had been settled. This money will be added to the rather depleted treasury of the club to be used at a later date as the officers see fit.

Catholic Convert Is Nobel Prize Winner

Mme. Sigrid Undset, a Catholic convert, has been awarded the Nobel prize in literature for 1928, the second woman ever to receive the honor and the third Norwegian author to be distinguished.

The monetary value of the prize this year is about $42,000. This represents a new record due, partly to the remission of some of the Swedish taxes and partly to improved business conditions, making the funded investments yield more.

Mme. Undset became known to the English-speaking world through her novel, "Kristin Lavransdatter," published in 1920. The book deals with conditions in the Fourteenth Century and is typical of her ability to portray the mind of the Middle Ages. Many of her outstanding works deal with the Thirteenth and Fourteenth Centuries.

Born in 1882, she has spent most of her life in Oslo, which is the scene of most of her novels. For ten years she was employed as a municipal clerk, resigning about two years after the appearance of her first novel.

Mme. Undset has published here "The Bridal Wreath," "The Mistress of Husaby," and "The Cross."

Thank You

We take this opportunity to express our sincere appreciation of the assistance given us on the occasion of our Homecoming, by the various individuals and organizations in the city of Kankakee, among whom we can name: The Kankakee Chamber of Commerce, Kankakee Hotel, Police Department, Daily Republican, Daily News, State Hospital Greenhouse, Kankakee Aviation School, Majestic Theater, numerous downtown stores that so generously contributed inflammable material for our bonfire of Nov. 22.

The College Club.

Freshmen Entertain At Game Between Halves

Led by one of the distinguished members of their organization, Mr. John Nolan, the freshman class staged a very entertaining feature between halves at the Homecoming football game. Although a large part of the crowd sought shelter from the chilly winds that swept the field during the intermission, a good portion of the onlookers remained in their seats to watch the Frosh maneuvers.

The "wearers of the green" formed a double line at the north end of the field, and six of their number acting as pallbearers, carried an ancient catafalque upon which was inscribed the word "Millikin", down the field and tossed their burden over the fence. Much weeping and discordant "nose blowing" on the part of the mourners proved to be extremely amusing to the audience.

On the trip back up the field the boys produced "Yayoos", the favorite musical instruments of the freshmen, and proceeded to demonstrate their united ability as concert artists.

In the center of the field the band halted, faced the Viator side and played the Viator Loyalty song. As the spectators cheered and clapped their approval, the entertainers wheeled to the right and marched off the field, continuing the strains of the Loyalty Song.

John "Ducky" O'Malley All-Conference Center

Saint Viator College is the proud possessor of an All Conference center in the person of J. O'Malley. John O'Malley, better known to his teammates as "Ducky" has played four years on Viator's football teams. In his freshman year he played an end position, but at the start of his sophomore year he was shifted to the center position which he has played ever since with the exception of two games in which he played tackle. It was during the past two years and the early part of the present season that he made the great record of playing nineteen consecutive games without missing a play or calling time out. "Ducky" put a fitting climax to his career with a stellar performance against Millikin last Saturday.

INSTALLATION OF NEW PRESIDENT IS CELEBRATED

Degrees Conferred On Several Noted Men.

Amid impressive ceremonies the Very Rev. J. W. R. Maguire, c.s.v. A. M. was formally installed as president of St. Viator College on Homecoming Day, November 23. The Honorable A. L. Granger, L. L. B. '88, representing the lay board of trustees, read the speech of introduction. The Invocation was offered by the Rt. Rev. Bernard, J. Sheil, D. D. '08, Auxiliary Bishop of Chicago.

In his inaugural address the new president outlined the aims, hopes and desires of St. Viator College and pledged himself to their fulfillment.

Rev. E. V. Cardinal, CSV. A. M., vice-president, presented the Rt. Rev. A. J. McGavick, D. D., Bishop of LaCrosse, Wisconsin, the Rt. Rev. B. J. Sheil, D. D., Auxiliary Bishop of Chicago, and the Rt. Rev. Monsignor E. A. Pace, S. T. D., Ph. D., vice-rector of the Catholic University of America, as candidates for the degree of Doctor of Laws, honoris causa. Following the citations the degrees were conferred by the Very Reverend President.

Bishop McGavick responded for the recipients of the degrees in a speech of gratitude to his former teachers, lauding their work in the field of Christian education.

At the conclusion of the ceremonies the Viator anthem was sung by the College Glee Club while the academic procession returned to the Alumni Hall.

Homecoming Banquet Held In Refectory

The annual Homecoming Alumni Banquet held in the college dining hall was attended by nearly four hundred members of the Alumni Association, the St. Viator College Extension Club, and friends of the College. Grace was offered by the Rt. Rev. Alexander J. McGavick, D. D. '88, Bishop of LaCrosse, Wisconsin.

There were no speeches at the banquet this Homecoming on account of the inauguration ceremonies. The Very Rev. President made a few announcements relative to the programme of the day. During the course of the banquet Father Maguire was presented with a huge bouquet of chrysanthemums by the Honorable Louis E. Beckman, Mayor of Kankakee, as a token of the esteem which the people of Kankakee hold for the newly appointed president.

Electric Scoreboard Makes Debut at Viator

Many members of the College Club and several of the faculty have expressed their appreciation of the efforts of Adrian Richard and Brother Roger Drolet in installing the large electric scoreboard at the south end of the football playing field. At the the Millikin-Viator game the spectators were kept informed play by play as to the progress of the game. The two ingenious inventors are indebted to Mr. A. L. Taylor of the Bell Telephone Company for the use of the wire, transmitters and receivers.

Announcement

The Viatorian Staff found it necessary to delay this issue of the paper until Friday, Nov. 30, in order to observe the holiday Thanksgiving Day.

The Staff also announces that there will be only two more issues of Viatorian printed this semester. One issue will be published according to the regular schedule on Thursday, Dec. 13, a week before the Christmas holidays. The second issue will appear on January 17, a short two weeks after the Christmas vacation.

Thanksgiving

Everyone has something to be thankful for at all times. Thanksgiving Day is merely a date on the annual calendar; a day set aside to remind people that there is Someone to Whom thanks are due. Whether or not the majority of us do offer thanks on that day is a question. The business man may be thankful that he has a business, no matter how great the strain occasioned by the constant exercise of his duties. The student, although he believes himself to be imposed upon and overworked, has his sunny moments to look forward to. If you attempt a private interview, Mr. "Everyman" will inform you most emphatically that his burdens are too great and his moments of pleasure scattered and short-lived. Yet, there is one great thing that we all overlook; something that we all invariably forget to be thankful for; namely, the fact of our existence; the fact that today we are all alive.

At The Majestic

Dec. 6, 7, 8, "Show People." Wm. Haines and Marion Davies and a string of other stars. This picture takes us behind the scenes of the Hollywood sets. 90%.

Young Thing: I have brought this book back; mother says it isn't fit for me to read.

Librarian: I think your mother must be mistaken.

Young Thing: Oh, no, she isn't. I've read it all through.

At The Luna

Dec. 2, "Danger Street," with Warner Baxter and Martha Sleeper. 90%. Don't miss this treat which is in store for you. A wonderful picture is all that can be said.

Dec. 3, 4, 5, "Oh Kay," with Colleen Moore, Lawrence Gray, Ford Sterling. 90%. Miss Moore slaps sticks a British peeress who becomes a stowaway on a rum runner's craft. Boy! What a picture.

Dec. 6, 7, 8, "Power," with William Boyd and Jocelyn Logan. 90%. Wm. Boyd's latest and his best. He's a whiz in this picture. Little Miss Logan supports him in this story.

Alumni Notes

News has come to us from Belgium that the Rev. Eugene L. Rivard, C. S. V., Assistant General of the Clerics of St. Viator, has suffered a stroke of paralysis. Father Rivard was for very many years a professor at the College, and before being called to Europe in 1923 was Provincial of the American Province of the Viatorians.

The Rev. John J. Farrell, C. S. V., assistant at St. Viator Church, Chicago, is also sick. He is in the hospital this week undergoing a minor operation.

The Rev. Timothy Rowan, Ph. D., who was graduated from St. Viator College with the Class of 1913, and who is now on the editorial staff of the New World, is preaching a series of sermons at St. Bernard's Church, Chicago, of which the Rt. Rev. Msgr. John F. Ryan is Pastor, in preparation for the feast of the Immaculate Conception.

At the last meeting of the Catholic Woman's League, Joliet, the Rev. Thomas J. Lynch, Dean of the Department of English at the College, opened a series of lectures on Modern Catholic Writers with a discussion of "The Life and Poetry of Francis Thompson."

The following visitors subscribed their names in the register in Marsile Hall, Homecoming day. We regret that a great number neglected to register and that we are thus forced to omit their names in this column.

INAUGURAL ADDRESS

Very Rev. J. W. R. Maguire, C. S. V., A. M.

Thoughtful and comprehending minds, capable of penetrating the tinsel-trappings of worldly circumstance, readily understand that the President of a college has in a very real sense weightier responsibilities than the rulers of empires, the presidents of republics and the captains of industry, for the destiny of a human soul, endowed with intelligence and free will, is of far greater importance than the destiny of nations. States exist only for the good of individuals that compose them, and mistakes in statecraft can generally be rectified, but the mistakes of educators, like those of surgeons, are invariably irreparable, though unrecognized by the world because hidden in the grave. As Ruskin has pointed out, the greatest tragedy in the world is a great mind gone wrong and a great will become perverse, so those who presume to educate the young may well be filled with humility and fear. Much more one who has been called to direct the policies and the work of a college. It is therefore with humility and fear, and with a disconcertingly vivid sense that "fools rush in where angels fear to tread," that I accept the office of President of St. Viator College, which religious obedience has imposed upon me, and into which Mr. Granger on behalf of the Lay Board of Trustees has so graciously inducted me.

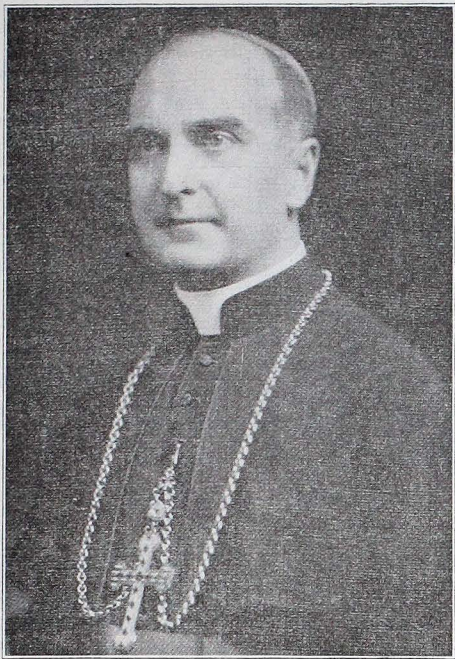

May I trespass upon your patience for a few minutes this morning to set before you in brief outline what St. Viator College is and what she hopes to be. In the first place St. Viator College is a Catholic college of liberal arts. She has sprung from the prolific womb of Mother church and shares the same traditions which centuries ago made Oxford and Cambridge, Lerins and Arles, Paris and Salamanca, Tubigen and Louvain, great in the field of learning. In the halls and classrooms of St. Viator College as in those of every other Catholic college in the world, can still be heard the eloquent voices and the irrefutable doctrines of St. Basil, St. John Chrysostom, of St. Augustine, of St. Anselm, of Albertus Magnus, of Bonaventure and of St. Thomas Aquinas. Her primary mission is therefore to teach the eternal truths of religion to the young, to inspire them with a love of virtue, to train their wills to excel in conduct. Centuries ago Christ summarized the purpose of his mission in the words, "I have come that they may have life and may have it more abundantly," and St. Viator College has identically the same mission, to give the young life in its fullness and abundance. She teaches, therefore, that the receipts of the natural and moral law are not just a collection of prohibitions of a great many things that perfectly normal human beings often have impulses to do but that they are necessary conditions for the possession of life in its fullness and abundance. She desires to inspire young men with a love of temperance through a clear understanding that intemperance is destructive of life. She would fill their hearts with love of the white virtue of purity by teaching them that lust and cardinal indulgence are the foe of true and noble love, the divinest act that man can perform. She would send them forth into the world preferring honor to success, truth to wealth and virtue to social prominence. She would give young men the penetrating vision that only faith can give, the vision that sees through material superficialities to the underlying spiritual realities. She would teach them a faint realization of the glory of God in the radiant beauty of the dawn and the splendor of the sunset; that the power of the humblest flower to stir thoughts and emotions that lie too deep for tears is due to the hand of the Divine Artist; that a tree is not just a tree but something tragically beautiful because the gentle Christ died upon its wood. She would teach them that the endless curiosity of the human mind can be satisfied only by Infinite Truth, and the restless longings of the human heart can be satisfied only by the Infinite Good; that man therefore is created to know love and serve God and as his happiness consists only in attaining the end of his being, life in its fullness and abundance can be found on this side of the grave and beyond it only in the knowledge, the love and the service of God.

The primary purpose of St. Viator College is therefore the development of character and the training of the will through the great force of religion. In doing this, St. Viator College is, only carrying on the great tradition of Catholic education throughout the centuries and incidentally is in record with the convictions of most of the great educators and statesmen of the world who are now emphasizing the need of character formation and religious training in education.

St. Viator College is a small college of liberal arts which means that she is primarily concerned with imparting a love for true intellectual culture and development rather than technical or professional knowledge and efficiency through close contact of professor and student. Of late years the college of liberal arts has suffered much from the technical requirements of universities in preparatory courses for the various professions. With Pre-medical, Pre-legal, Pre-engineering, Pre-commerce and Pre-what-not courses the college of liberal arts of recent years had little opportunity to steer true to its course towards a broad, liberal and cultural preparation for life. As a President of a distinguished college of liberal arts who recently was the object of bitter public controversy once said, "The function of the liberal college is to save boys from stupidity, to give them an appetite for the pleasures of thinking to make them sensitive to the joys of appreciation and understanding, to show them how sweet and captivating and wholesome are the games of the mind." St. Viator College desires to impart to the student a knowledge and understanding of the real meaning of life. She therefore teaches him Philosophy, the history and the development of human thought, and in particular that most unified closely coordinated and rigidly logical system of philosophy known as Scholasticism. It is far more important to teach the developing mind to think than it is to teach it an accumulation of facts, and it is an error of much modern education to believe that pouring facts into callow minds as one throws grain into a hopper is the way to develop a cultured mind. Teach a man to think clearly and correctly and that man can be trusted to educate himself. Facts as facts are useless and mere knowledge of facts without a unified comprehension of their meaning is not culture or a valuable preparation for life. The essence of culture is to appreciate things at their real value, and therefore in the courses of philosophy, social sciences, religion, history and science, St. Viator College aims to establish a soundly critical attitude of mind, a critical attitude of mind not readily swayed and carried away by the superficial smartness of a bright and crackling phrase destructive.

Bishop Dunne of Peoria Dedicates New Chapel At State University

An elaborate program unique in the educational history of the university city marked the dedication of the new St. John church at the University of Illinois on Wednesday, November 21. The day's exercises were prepared to fittingly commemorate the completion of the church which has been erected under the direction of the Rev. John A. O'Brien, '13 Ph. D., Catholic Chaplain at the University of Illinois.

The festivities began on Thursday evening, when a committee headed by Rev. Father O'Brien, held a reception for the members of the hierarchy as they arrived at 8 a. m. Wednesday morning the Right Rev. Henry Althoff, D. D., Bishop Belleville consecrated the main altar of St. John's church. The dedication ceremony of the new church proper began at 10:30 a. m. at the dedication the Right Rev. D. D., Bishop of Pontifical High Mass which followed Peoria, officiated. He also sang the dedication ceremony.

RAPHAEL'S "MADONNA WITH A SHAWL" IN MOSCOW MUSEUM

Raphael's almost priceless painting "Madonna with a shawl," found three years ago in a heap of rubbish out in the Ural Mountain district, has been completely restored and hung in the Museum of Fine Arts in Moscow, according to a dispatch from the Soviet capitol. The restoration proves beyond doubt the authenticity of the painting. It is signed by the great artist and dated 1509.

The discovery of the picture created a sensation in European art circles in 1925. It had been missing for more than a century, and its history reads like a novel. Popes, Cardinals, Kings and Emperors bargained and fought for the treasure, it passed through a score of hands in a dozen countries. Early in the last century it mysteriously disappeared.

BISHOP McGAVICK'S ADDRESS

In behalf of the recipients of the honorary degrees just conferred, I would say that the honors are accepted with a deep sense of appreciation and gratitude. They bespeak a large measure of good will and cordiality towards us on the part of the President of the College and those associated with him and we are by no means insensible to that. Rather are we deeply moved by it.

Naturally we are somewhat embarrassed by the encomiums which have accompanied the presentation but we take that as a necessary adjunct of such a ceremony. If, however, we go behind the encomiums and consider the spirit which prompts them, we find there a genuine affection which is not of today or yesterday but has endured for years and will endure we hope in time to come, and in the presence of that fine human feeling welling up from the heart of this great institution, I assure you we are stirred with emotion and there is a responsive thrill in our own hearts like the echo of a voice coming back from the hills.

Indeed the current of compliment might easily be made to flow the other way. If praise is to be spoken, let it also be spoken of you, the President and Faculty of this institution and your Confreres in religion, those still active in their labors and those who have gone to rest. If credit is to be given for service and sacrifice in the cause of religion and the Church, let it also be given to you for what you have done and are now doing for the diffusion of truth and righteousness and the spread of God's Kingdom on earth.

St. Viator College is part of the general system of Catholic education in this country. The foundation of that system is laid deep in our history, its schools being the first within the present confines of the United States. It is spread all over the land and is constantly growing and expanding not only in the territory covered by it and in its student body but in the breadth and scope of its work. Practically no department of study is outside the sphere of its interest and activity.

A recent estimate of the schools included in that immense system places the number at more than 10,000, the teachers or instructors at about 83,000 and the attendance at two and one-half millions. It is a system therefore of no mean proportions. It looms large as a purely private and voluntary effort to place the opportunity for a Christian education within the reach of our Catholic youth. It is the outstanding achievement of the Catholic Church in this country and has justly challenged the admiration of our brethren the world over.

Any attempt to estimate the good accomplished by it must of necessity fall far short of the reality. It is sufficient to say that it has contributed immensely to the spread of the faith and the progress of the Church. The measure of our advance in the number, the thoroughness and effectiveness of our schools is to a very large extent the measure of our progress as a religious body. Close our schools and we would soon find it necessary to close our Churches. As Cardinal Manning once declared, if you deprive a single generation of Christian education, the next generation will be tearing down the churches. And that is as true here and now as it was in his day and place.

But the good resulting from our Catholic school system is not wholly religious. It reaches out to the civil and social order by its diffusion of Christian principles of government and of social relations. Our liberties were born of Christian truth and they will perish without it. This fact so patent in history is seemingly little appreciated by those outside the Church. Also, those two twin principles that should control all human relations, justice and charity, both draw their life from religion. They are the fruit of the tree of the Cross. They grow nowhere else.

Many and precious are the blessings that have come from our schools and during more than half a century St. Viator College with steady purpose and unwearied labor, has helped to dispense these blessings to the throngs of youth who have sought instruction and training at her hand. She has been truly in that respect as a fountain from which during all these years the living waters of truth and virtue flowed unceasingly.

And our admiration for her is intensified when it is recalled that few of our Catholic schools could possibly exist, were it not for the endowment of service which they enjoy from the numerous religious communities engaged in educational work. That is well known and understood by others but we of the household often fail to give it the recognition it deserves. The material support from our Catholic people is admirable, but even more admirable are the personal sacrifices of the great body of religious teachers. The one gives material means, the other gives time and energy, health and strength, spirit and soul and life. We can measure the former, we cannot measure the latter, being too great for the application of any human standards.

I would say therefore to all those who have labored to make this institution what it is, who have been and are its very soul, that we who have received these honorary degrees are not without gratitude for them, but that a deeper gratitude goes out to you for the great work you have accomplished in the cause of Christian education. From a very small beginning you have struggled on through many difficulties, hardships and discouragements, never weary and never without hope, trusting always to the providence of Him who suffers not a sparrow to fall without his knowledge. Onward you have moved like soldiers in battle, some falling while others take their places, until today your college, our college, stands high among our great educational institutions, a monument to faith as it is also a monument to the zeal and energy of those who have given all that life holds dear that it might live and grow. For that I say, our gratitude is greatest, so great, that it is beyond expression by any words of mine.

May the good Lord continue to bless this college and those devoted to its care. May the worn out lives of those who are sleeping now in their graves, after their day of toil in behalf of this institution continue to win the divine favor that the work to which they set their hands so bravely in time past may go on in the years to come triumphantly as now.

Viator Alumnus Rises In Political World

Has Been Recipient of Many Offices.

Thirty years ago the campus of St. Viators college was lighted by kerosene lamps. Each night as darkness crept over the little village of Bourbonnais, a student, working his way through college, lit the lamps. This was the most pleasant occupation the lad had. The hard part of the task was filling the lamps and keeping them clean. But he didn't mind. This was the means toward an end, and "Coal Oil Bill", as he was called by his fellow students, was just lucky enough to get through college and to secure an education.

His pluck ambition never faltered. He left St. Viator back in the '90s and went to St. Louis Medical School. Today "Coal Oil Bill" is listed in the Michigan Red Book as follows: "William A. Lemire."

Of Escanaba, senator from the thirtieth district, was born in Nicolet, Canada, April 23, 1877, and came to Michigan with his parents when he was three months old. He was educated in the Houghton county public schools, St. Viator College at Kankakee, Ill., and the College of Physicians and Surgeons at St. Louis, Mo. After receiving his degree of M. D. he located at Garden, Delta county, Michigan, to practice medicine and surgery, but removed to Escanaba three years later, where he has since resided. He was county physician for seven years, and is at present surgeon at St. Francis Hospital at Escanaba. He has served three years as secretary, and two years as president of the board of education. He was elected mayor in 1912 and served one term but refused the nomination for a second term. Mr. Lemire is married and has three sons and five daughters. He is a Republican and was elected to the legislature in 1916, and elected to the senate November 5, 1918, and re-elected November 2, 1920 without opposition.

Mr. Lemire is at present one of the ten members on the Michigan State Board of Registration in Medicine. He is but one of the many sons of Viator who has risen to fame in the last fifteen years.

Question Box

Who was the most outstanding college football player in the country during the past year?

I think that Dazzling "Mike" Strong of New York University was the most outstanding college football player in the country during the past year. He captained his team to victory over the formidable Carnegie Tech machine last week. Carnegie Tech is noted as one of the strongest teams in the country, and any man that can run rough shod through them, as did Strong, is deserving of much credit. He is making a powerful bid for All-American honors.

Rosensteel—"32. Harpster of Carnegie Tech is, in my estimation, one of the outstanding college football players in the country. His ability to run and pass, together with his excellent judgment as quarterback, has made him the choice of many sport critics for the mythical All-American team. His work in the N. D. game was especially noticeable.

"Marty" Toohill—"32. I think that Harpster of Carnegie Tech was one of the most outstanding college football players during the past season, because of his all around ability to punt, pass and run. He is also a "brainy" field general, as proved in the Notre Dame-Carnegie Tech game a couple of weeks ago.

"Bill" Hamilton—"32. I think that Strong of New York University is one of the most outstanding college players in the country, because of his scoring ability and because he led his team to victory over the powerful Carnegie Tech. He truly lived up to his name, and I predict that he will be picked as an All-American half-back.

"Bill" Todd—"31. I think that Holmer of Northwestern was an outstanding player during the past season. He is a good passer, punter and open-field runner, also, he is an excellent captain and leader on the field. During his last year of football he has proven that he is All-American material. His performance in the Dartmouth game showed him to be the back-bone of the Northwestern team.

"Al" Furlong—"31. I think that Ken Strong of New York University was one of the most outstanding players during the past season. He was the main "cog" in the New York University's machine which has arisen from practical obscurity to near National Championship.

"Kenny" Clothier—"31. "If your store completely modernized?" asked the efficiency expert. "Yes," replied hardware man Sprinke. "Now that my school girl cashier has taken up smoking and my old maid bookkeeper has had her hair bobbed—it is!"

tive of existing institutions, on the other hand, not accepting unquestioningly existing institutions and beliefs merely because they happen to be. All things should be subjected to the cool, calm light of reason, the evidence examined and conclusions based upon proven facts and sound logical processes.

St. Viator College having taught the student to think would especially fire him with such a love and devotion to Truth that it would encourage him to seek Truth wherever it may be found, in lazy meadows, or crowded streets, in the gutters or in the stars, in test tubes or retorts, in ancient dog-eared folios or in the latest volume off the press and would give him courage to follow Truth, even though it should lead him into deserted loneliness.

The student of today who is properly equipped for life in a democracy must have a clear knowledge and understanding of the institutions which express and shape our lives, and therefore must study property, government, the family, industry, labor and capital, the farm and the mill. Therefore history, political science, economics, and sociology must form an important part of the curriculum. With considerable justice Lucien Price wrote three or four years ago, "It is no reproach to the average citizen that he does not know how to handle a surgeon's scalpel. It is a matter of grave concern that the average citizen does not know how to handle an industrial dispute." All democratic institutions of government are founded upon the belief and supposition that the majority of citizens will vote honestly and intelligently, and while it may be granted even by cynics that the great majority vote honestly, it may well be questioned whether they vote intelligently. At least college graduates may be expected to do this. It shall be our aim to send forth citizens from this college imbued with courageous and enlightened patriotism, not the blatant, ignorant, chauvinistic patriotism that shouts nonsensical slogans such as "My Country, right or wrong," but with the patriotism that makes them love their country so much that they shall always desire her to be right, and endows them with the courage, ability, and self sacrifice to do their share to ensure that she shall always be right.

A knowledge of this universe in which we live is also necessary, so geology, physics, chemistry, biology, and astronomy must be studied, and the conclusions of these sciences made the basis of philosophy.

Then lest the student should become just a logic chopping machine and a depository of scientific facts his emotions must be developed through an understanding and appreciation of the burgeoning of the artistic mind in poetry, literature, music and the arts. He shall listen to Homer and Virgil as they sing the epic of Troy, and his soul shall be thrilled by Dantes divine voice weaving in mystic numbers the mysteries of Hell, Purgatory, and Heaven. All the great classics shall be opened to the student and given to him as his possession, and thereby he will learn that there are few joys in life greater than the mighty joy that is to be found between the covers of a great book. In this way he will learn now to attain life in its fullness and abundance. Finally, St. Viator College aims to inspire a few choice souls that may come under her influence, with a fiery and insatiable love for the things of the mind and the soul so that they will them above all price and will sacrifice all other things to attain them. Today, as Bishop Spaulding pointed out some years ago, "have a thousand poets and no poetry, a thousand orators and no eloquence, a thousand philosophers and no philosophy because there are so few who really love the highest excellence." The poet must write verses that will sell, not the beauty that his soul conceives. The orator must mouth the glittering phrases and generalities that accord with the prejudices of the masses, not the justice he knows. The philosopher must support popular beliefs and not the truth his soul has seen. Surely though it is not too much to hope that occasionally from a college such as this, may go forth some rare souls who, careless of this world's rewards, shall speak of the wonders their souls conceived and of the truths their minds have grasped, fearless and unafraid, because they love the excellence of truth and the beauty of goodness.

St. Viator College is not forgetful that man is more than intellect and will, that he also possesses a body that needs to be trained and developed by proper athletic exercises and therefore she encourages athletic contests of all kinds, firm in the belief that lessons of character and moral fortitude can be learned upon the football field, basketball floor or baseball diamond as well as in the class room.

A man of clear and well informed mind, enlightened by both faith and reason, of sterling and unswerving virtue, with a strong, healthy, vigorous body is the result of the educational process which St. Viator College desires to produce. In other words, a Christian gentleman, his brow star crowned, but his feet firm upon this earth.

Such are the aims, hopes, and desires of St. Viator College. Towards their fulfillment I pledge all the strength of my body, the thought of my mind, the love of my heart, toil filled days, and if necessary sleepless nights. I can do no more. Considering it is all for God and human souls I dare not do less.

MILLIKIN TRIMS VIATOR ELEVEN SCORE 19 TO 0

State Champions too Much for
"Green" Eleven

The St. Viator homecoming did not pan out so well from a football standpoint. Viator could not stop the on-rushing Millikin backs who ran over the former to win 19-0 and also enthrone themselves as Little Nineteen champions.

Despite the cold about 1,500 loyal alumni shivered and shook through two hours of bitter winter weather. Viator's line was like a sieve and the Millikin backs, behind perfect interference sifted through for big gains. The open field work of the visiting backs was always a threat. They started wide end runs and then cut back through the tackle or guard for substantial gains. The Irish fought stubbornly all the while but were outweighed and outgained all the way.

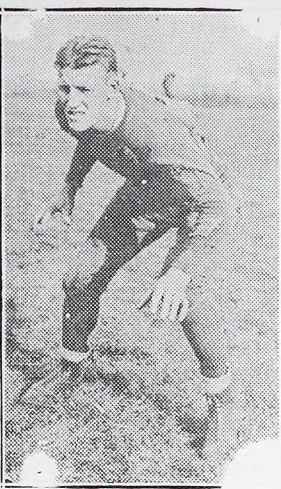

Millikin threatened the Viator goal line early in the first quarter when on a series of plunges through the center of the line, interspersed with off tackle smashes and end runs they carried the ball to the home team's six-yard line where the locals braced and took the ball on downs. Toward the close of the first quarter Millikin broke through and blocked Delaney's punt on about the Viator 23-yard line. Plunges then took it to the Viator five-yard line where the Emerald held for two downs. On the third down Vise took the ball over by inches. The try for point, a place kick, was wide.

There was no scoring in the second quarter and the game saw-sawed between both teams' 30-yard lines. Millikin blocked another Viator punt, but no damage resulted. Millikin scored almost as soon as the third quarter opened. They received the kickoff and began a march down the field, varying their usual running game with a pass. Viator again put up a stubborn defense on their goal line, but finally Corbett who had starred all afternoon, plunged across for the second touchdown. The try for point was a completed pass, Corbett to Blank.

Their third and final touchdown came in the closing minutes of play when after Millikin had carried the ball to the Viator 10-yard line on a series of line plays, and Van Dyke went wide around end for the third and final touchdown.

The Irish fought hard, but poor tackling was one of the reasons for their defeat. The Viator linesmen and backs allowed the Millikin backs to twist themselves loose from the tacklers' arms time and again.

The locals had their best chance to score in the third quarter when Hanahan broke through the recovered a Millikin fumble on the latter's 37-yard line. A first down gave Viator a wonderful chance to score but Millikin braced and the Viator passes were incomplete. In fact the Irish showed nothing of their stellar passing attack which was one of their main weapons of offense. Had this department of their game been working at the proper pitch they would undoubtedly have given Millikin a run for their money.

JOHN A. O'MALLEY
Viator's All-Conference Center.

Corbett, Millikin's left half, was their individual star. His twisting and dodging on off tackle smashes and his footwork on wide end runs caught Viator flat footed several times. He is a clever back and it was his work that defeated Bradley Poly and beat them out of the Little Nineteen championship. A Decatur sports writer said he was not going at his best in the Viator game due to an injured hip. However, he was doing things up in the approved style and getting away with it.

Delaney's running and line plunging featured for Viator. His punts were high and had plenty of distance. This is the last game for seven St. Viator men and their absence will be missed greatly next year.

ACADEMY HOLDS ST. BEDE'S TO TIE SCORE

Mud Retards Playing of Both Teams.

Playing their last game of the season Coach Barrett's Academy men fought St. Bede's football outfit to a scoreless tie in a mudslinging contest. Both teams were considerably hampered by the muddy condition of the playing field, and the good old-fashioned line bucking was voted the order of the day.

St. Bede's with a slightly heavier team, and an impressive list of victories behind them, showed to advantage in their line plunges but seemed to lack the aggressiveness necessary for long and continued gains. Time after time the Peru grid-men punctured the Viator line for three, four, and five yard gains only to fall down in their final try for first down.

The Viator men, staging their last show of the season before a home crowd held highly touted opponents at every turn, out-smarting them, at times out-playing them.

The game was clean (if we overlook the muddy part) hardfought, and interesting. St. Bede's managed six first downs to Viator's three but they also excelled in the number of fumbles, losing the ball via the slippery route three times while Barrett's men clung tenaciously to the pigskin every time it was within their grasp. Bede's were penalized for offside twice; Viator once.

For the visitors, Fehr, Neill and Snyder gave very creditable accounts of themselves; Fehr, at one time, breaking away for an end run of 27 yards. Kells and Bosquette played the leading roll in the Academy offensive work. Doyle's excellent generalship and Hodge's passing deserve commendation. Cinquina and Gallagher in the line lead the forwards in their defensive play.

First Quarter

Viator kicked off to Bede's 30 yard line. By successive line plunges in which Fehr, Neill and Snyder figured, the Peru-men carried the ball to the Viator 30 yard line where they were halted and forced to kick. Punt blocked. Bosquette caught it and ran 4 yards. Kells through right guard for 5 more. Forced to punt. Kells kick was good for 30 yards. Fehr returned ball 25 yards. Peru took time out with the ball on her own 42 yard line. Three plunges through right guard netted another first down.

Second Quarter

Fehr started off the period with a 27 yard run around left end. Failed to make first down. Ball over to Viator. Kells punted to Bede's 36 yard line. Bede's fumbled. Viator's ball. Bosquette made 6 yards around right end. Boyle made it first down. Three attempts no gain. Kells kicked Bede's 4 yard line. Again Peru fumbled. Ball on Peru's 8 yard line. Viator failed to make goal. Ball over to Bede's. Neill kicked to Viator's 43 yard marker. Bosquette attempted a pass that was intercepted. Half ended with the ball on Viator's 43 yard line.

Score 0-0.

Third Quarter

St. Bede's kicked off to Viator to her 45 yard line. Three line plunges little gain. Kells punted to Bede's 3 yard line. A punt returned to Bede's 46 yard mark. Bosquette gained 4 yards. Kells added 3 more. Failed to make first down. Kells kicked to Bede's 14 yard line. Fehr made 6 yards through center. Snyder, went off tackle for 4. First down for Bede's. After two unsuccessful attempts to gain, Bede's kicked to Viator's 47 yard line. End of quarter.

Fourth Quarter

Bad pass from Viator's center, They lost 14 yards. Kells kicked to Bede's 31 yard marker. Bede's penalized 5 yards for offside. Three line smashes. Little gained. Punt to Bede's 44 yard line. Bosquette gained 6 yards. Kells punt was good for 23 yards. Hodge intercepted a Bede pass. Kells made a first down with an eleven yard run. Hodge passed to Kells who reeled off 27 yards before he was brought down on Bede's 14 yard line. Viator attempted two passes. Incomplete. Viator offside on third down. Kells attempted to drop kick from the 19 yard line but the ball dropped in the mud. Bede's ball. Snyder made a 5 yard gain through right tackle as the game ended.

Score 0-0.

VIATOR SUCCUMBS TO JOHN CARROLL RUSH

Touchdown on First Play Pre-faces the Rout

The St. Viator football crew journeyed to Cleveland where they met the conquerors of Davis Elkins and submitted to a severe lacing to the tune of 42 to 0.

In an effort to break up the scoreless jinx with St. Viator last year, Coach Ralph Vince started his "Blue Streaks" that put up such a great battle the week before with Lombard. Ideal football weather brought out a large crowd to cheer for the husky Carroll men.

Jack Mulligan made the first touchdown on a sprint around right end from the ten yard line. Archie Lewis added one more a few minutes later from the 30 yard line.

First Quarter
Meyers kicked off to Viator's 30-yard line. Delaney returning to Carroll's 40. On the first play Lewis skirted left end for 50 yards to Viator's 10. Mulligan went around right end for a touchdown. Lewis' drop-kick was wide. Trading punts gave Carroll the ball on Viator's 45. Gaul made a first down. Lewis then skirted Viator's left end for a second touchdown. His try for extra point again going wide.

Score: Carroll 18, St. Viator 0.

Second Quarter
Swapping punts gave St. Viator the ball on their 35. Hunter replaced Gaul. Delaney made first down. St. Viator punted to Carroll's 25. Blaha replaced Quilty. Carroll drew 15 yards. Hunter punted to his 45 yard line. Delaney returned behind Carroll's goal. Ball out on the 20.

Dillon skirted right end 25 yards. Carroll penalized to their 5 for holding. Erdics made 20 yards around left end, but a 15-yard penalty forced Hunter to kick. Delaney returned punt to Carroll's 20. Black replaced Blaha. Erdics made first down. Carroll penalized 15 yards. Hunter kicked to his own 25-yard line. Delaney made a first down. Eward added 7 and Delaney made a first down on Carroll's 2. Eward rushing center for touchdown. Delaney's kick was blocked. St. Viator kicked off to Carroll's 30-yard line as the half ended.

Third Quarter
St. Viator kicked off to Gaul, who ran down to his 35. Gaul and Mulligan rushed tackle to St. Viator's 35. Romary was caught holding and it was Carroll's ball on St. Viator's 15. Lewis, Gaul and Mulligan carried to the 1-yard line. Lewis skirted left end for his third touchdown.

Carroll kicked off to St. Viator to 31. Delaney punted to Carroll's 22. Gaul, Mulligan and Lewis put the ball in midfield. St. Viator got the ball on downs. Gaul intercepted Delaney's pass. Carroll's ball on their 47. Mulligan, Gaul and Lewis slashed thru St. Viator's line to the 1-yard line. Gaul knifing left tackle for a touchdown. Lewis' kick was wide. Trading punts gave Carroll the ball on their 20-yard line as the quarter ended.

The trio, Dillon, Lewis and Gaul, seemed unstoppable. Straight football carried the ball from their own 20 to St. Viator's 4-yard line, Gaul rushing left tackle for his second touchdown. Lewis failed to convert.

The line-up:

Carroll	Position	St. Viator
Quilty	l e	Meis
Lang	l t	J. O'Malley
Myers	l g	Logan
Yassanye	c	P. O'Malley
Mieyal	r g	McCarthy

Referee—Caldwell, Florida. Umpire—Meyer, Ohio Wesleyan. Head linesman—Collins, Wooster.

We hear that Louis Spinelli, who left St. Viators in 1920, is now employed by the Fred F. French Investment Company, New York City.

Aeroplane Drops Ball To Open Millikin Game

A somewhat unique manner of starting a football game was attempted at the Viator-Millikin Homecoming game. The Kankakee Chamber of Commerce was instrumental in securing the services of Mr. Sims, head of the Kankakee Aviation School, who agreed to hover over the field shortly before time for the game to start and to drop streamers confetti, etc., on the field. At a given signal the plane shot down close to the field and released the shiny new football that was to be used in the contest.
