FATHER MAGUIRE REPRESENTS STRIKE GROUP IN WASHINGTON CONFERENCE

Appears Before National Labor Board to Win Victory For Kroehler Co. Workers

Saturday evening, April 14, saw a decisive victory in the long struggle that the employes of the Kroehler Manufacturing Company have been waging to better their wages and the conditions under which they are working. On this occasion the representatives of the workers, headed by the Very Reverend J. W. R. Maguire, President of St. Viator College, presented to the assembled employes, for consideration, the agreement which they had negotiated with Mr. P. E. Kroehler before the National Labor Board in Washington, and urged its acceptance by the employes.

In his address, which opened the meeting, Father Maguire outlined briefly all that had taken place before the National Labor Board, enumerated the various proposals which were put forth by the contending parties and explained why the present form of the agreement was finally adopted. He showed, very clearly, that it represents a compromise between the employer and the employee, but that the concessions gained by the latter were the very best that could be obtained under the circumstances. He said further that the case might have been pushed to its final adjudication before the National Labor Board, a procedure which would probably have resulted in sending Mr. Kroehler to the Department of Justice, but this course would have prolonged the strike, already in its fifth week, and increased the privations of the workers. For this reason Father Maguire and the other representatives thought it best to accept the agreement reached before the Board without adjudication of the case.

"The other course (of adjudication)," said Father Maguire to the workers, "would have satisfied the emotions better, but in the meantime the satisfaction of emotions of that kind do not fill any stomachs. They do not clothe any bare backs and they do not put any shelter over your heads. This agreement is a compromise in many things. But it does recognize certain fundamental principles, most important of them the principle of collective bargaining. This is truly a great advantage".

In conclusion Father Maguire thanked the workers for the trust they had placed in him, and asked them to accept the agreement which he had just explained to them and thus put an end to the strike. "We would like to have secured more for you", he said, "but those of us who are experienced in matters of this kind and in the process of collective bargaining know that whenever you have two parties contending over vital issues of this kind there can be no bargain unless there is give and take on both sides. We have done the best we could—We submit the agreement to you and we ask you, if you feel we have been

DEBATERS CLOSE SEASON AGAINST LEMOYNE U. TEAM

Records Show Sixteen Wins And Ten Losses For Irish Wranglers During 1933-34 Season

The Bergin Debating Society ended its forensic season on Friday, April 13, against the LeMoyné University debaters from Memphis, Tenn. The 1933-34 schedule was the heaviest ever undertaken by the Viator debating teams. Beginning the season on December 6th in a dual debate with the University of Illinois and concluding on April 13 with LeMoyné University, the debate teams have engaged in some thirty-three intercollegiate debates. Included in this number are eight radio debates broadcast over station WCFL in Chicago.

Out of the thirty-three debates there were 16 wins, 10 losses, and 6 were non-decisions. Among the many opponents of the Viator men were such schools as Illinois University, Northwestern U., DeKalb Normal, Iowa State Teachers, Western State Teachers, and Illinois Wesleyan. When it is remembered that with the possible exception of two members of the society, the rest of the debaters were gaining their first experience in the field of Intercollegiate Debating, the record shows this season to have been highly successful and gratifying. The VIATORIAN in the name of the student body extends its congratulations to the members of the debating teams and to Father Maguire, the coach.

Radio Debate

The Viator team composed of Mr. Steve Gould and Mr. Edward O'Brein emerged victorious over their opponents from Wabash College on Saturday, March 24th. The votes received thus far give the Viator team 93 and Wabash 16. Both Mr. Gould and Mr. O'Brien are to be complimented upon the excellent manner in which they handled their first Intercollegiate Debate. The material presented as well as the convincing delivery of their speeches is indicative of what may be expected from these two debaters in the future.

WINS NOMINATION

Mr. Clarence J. Kennedy, professor of science here at the College was victor in the Primary election last Tuesday, and will be the Democratic candidate for County Superintendent of Public Schools in the elections next Fall.

MSGR. BERGAN, VIATOR GRAD, BISHOP-ELECT

Receives Word From Rome; To Head Diocese of De Moines; Consecration. At Peoria, June 13

The Right Reverend Monsignor Gerald T. Bergan, a graduate with the class of 1912, and vicar general of the Peoria diocese, recently received word of his elevation to the hierarchy. He has been appointed Bishop of Des Moines. His appointment came simultaneously with new appointments for the Most Reverend Joseph Ritter, Auxiliary Bishop of Indianapolis and the Most Reverend Maurice McAuliffe, Auxiliary of the Hartford diocese.

Monsignor Bergan is one of the most popular priests in Illinois, having been chancellor and vicar general of the Diocese of Peoria at the time of the death of Bishop Dunne. He was born and received his early education in the parochial schools and at Spalding Institute of that city.

After completing his work at Spalding, Monsignor Bergan entered St. Viator College in 1908. During the four years at the College he was recognized by both students and faculty as a leader and was accorded honors during those years. He was graduated with honors in 1912. Immediately after his graduation he was adopted by the Peoria Diocese and sent to the North American College at Rome for theology. On October 28, 1915, he was ordained to the priesthood at Rome. After his ordination, he remained there and pursued post-graduate courses in common law and sacred liturgy.

When he returned to Peoria in 1916, he fulfilled his priestly duties which such energy and dispatch that he was appointed curate at the Cathedral and in 1920 on September 10, he was named Chancellor of the Diocese of Peoria and a year later was appointed rector of St. Mary's Cathedral. He became vicar general of the Diocese in December, 1927. After the death of Bishop Dunne he was appointed administrator of the diocese, serving in this capacity until 1930.

In September 1931, the Holy Father honored him by naming him as a domestic prelate with the title of Monsignor.

The consecration of Msgr. Bergan to the Bishopric will take place in Peoria, on June 13, with Cardinal Mundelein officiating. The new Bishop is scheduled to arrive at Des Moines on June 20th. Installation services will be held on June 21, at St. Ambrose Cathedral, and will include a solemn entrance to the church, a reception by the Rt. Rev. Vitus Stoll, administrator for the Diocese, reading of the official documents of appointment and the celebration by the new Bishop of a Pontifical High Mass.

In connection with his arrival a number of events aside from the official reception and installation have been planned. A reception for visiting clergy and a banquet will take place on the twenty-first, while a public reception will be held on the twenty-second.

The VIATORIAN desires to congratulate Monsignor Bergan in the name of the student body and the faculty of St. Viator College.

SPRING PROVES A TRYING SEASON FOR THESE WORK

Nineteen Seniors Will Submit Bachelors' Manuscripts Due May 12th

"Spring, Spring, Beautiful Spring". The song of the lark, the fragrance of the bud, burst into bloom, and once more that drowsy, carefree spirit, King Spring Fever, reigns supreme on the campus. There's romance in the air. But not for some nineteen dignified Seniors, for with just seven more weeks before that Day of Days, they find themselves in a position where they can no longer just "think about the Thesis". The time for action has arrived. In fact, it's about six months overdue. And so the Seniors (at least, eighteen of them) are hard at work on the master-pieces—finally.

John "Doc" Meany, who left the fold some weeks ago, had the distinction of being the first to hand in a completed Thesis.

Following is a list of the candidates for the various degrees to be received in June (or at least, the degrees which they hope to receive) and the titles of their respective Theses:

Ruth Arrington, A. B., "The Appeal of Horace".

Charles Byron, A. B., "The Poetry of Walt Whitman".

John Burns, Ph. B., "Lady Gregory's Significance In The Irish Renaissance".

John Cronin, A. B., "Louis Veillot: His Life, His Work, And His Influence".

William Clancy, B. C. S., "A Man's Right To A Job".

James Dugan, Ph. B., "Foreign Relations of the Papacy with Germany Since 1870".

Francis DesLauriers, A. B., "The Ethical Principles of the N. R. A. in Light of The Encyclicals of Pius XI".

Joseph Degman, Ph. B., "The Tragedy of Max Beerbohm".

Gerald Holscher, Ph. B., "Labor and the N. R. A.".

Gendron Legris, B. S., "The Foucault Pendulum".

Paul Lyons, A. B., "The Philosophy of Christopher Dawson".

Joseph Meara, A. B., "Buffon's Evaluation of Pi, Based on Local Probability".

Robert Nolan, Ph. B., "Foreign Relations of the Papacy with Spain Since 1870".

Thomas Ryan, B. C. S., "A Critical Study of The Gold Standard And A Managed Currency".

Gerald Sullivan, B. C. S., "The N. R. A. And its Effect on Prices".

On Friday evening the Junior and Senior Classes will offer their long-awaited dance, which met with postponement on several previous occasions. Because this is the first social offering following the season of Lent, it is reasonable to believe that this affair will be one of the most successful of Class endeavors for the scholastic year.

The Monogram dance last January was a fine example of the fine results that may be attained by whole-hearted cooperation on the part of the entire student body. Therefore, the Junior and Senior classes are combining their efforts in an endeavor to make this affair as successful as was the Athletes' Dance.

Bruynell's Orchestra

Mr. George Fleming, chairman of the orchestra committee, has announced that the music for the evening will be furnished by Don Bruynell of Kankakee, who has proved to be very popular here at the College. Bruynell, who played for the Day Students Prom and the Monogram dances this year, will again feature several vocal soloists with his music-men Friday evening.

Mr. William Clancy, General Chairman of the affair, has announced that the beautiful Gold Room of the Hotel Kankakee has been obtained for the dance.

The Tickets Committee after a heated session announced that the bids for the dance would sell for one dollar ($1.00). In setting the admission price so low, it naturally follows that a large attendance will be necessary for the sponsors to clear expenses. However, the committee set the price as low as they possibly could, feeling assured that boarders and day students alike, will lend their entire support in making this activity a financial as well as a social success. Students may obtain tickets from Mr. Nolan, Mr. Sullivan or Mr. Byron.

Committees Appointed

At a recent joint-meeting of the two classes, the following committees were named for the Prom:

General Chairman—William Clancy.

Reception Committee—John Bimmerle, Chairman; James Crowley, John Ripstra.

Orchestra Committee—George Fleming, Chairman; Thomas Ryan, Richard Doyle.

Ticket Committee—Robert Nolan, Chairman; Gerald Sullivan, Charles Byron.

Publicity Group—Joseph Degman, Mary Cruise, Agnes Stelter.

A final announcement by Mr. Clancy states that the hours of dancing will be from nine-thirty until twelve-thirty a. m.

The Hoya reports a political science professor to have recently asked a member of his class what the government was doing to preserve wild life in America. The student replied, "They repealed the 18th Amendment".

Letter Arithmetic—

The solution will be published in the next issue. Come on, you mathematicians!

Just before the Easter holidays Joe Saia deposited $50.00 in the bank. In order to treat his friends, Joe frequently drew on his account. He kept his record in the following way:

Joe withdrew	$20.00	leaving	$30.00
withdrew	15.00	leaving	15.00
withdrew	9.00	leaving	6.00
withdrew	6.00	leaving	0.00
	$50.00		$51.00

Joe presented the above figures to the bank and demanded his extra dollar. Ask Joe if the banker gave it to him.

Russian Multiplication—

The Russians have a system of multiplying which is all their own. For example multiply 53 by 67.

The Russian system—
53 x 67
26 x 134
13 x 268	Take one-half of the first factor and multiply the
6 x 536	second factor by 2 repeatedly until a number in
3 x 1072	the left-hand column is unity. Then cross out the
1 x 2144	lines in which the number in the left column is an even number. Add up the remaining numbers in the right-hand column to obtain the product of the two numbers.
53 x 67—	3551

AN OPEN LETTER

TO THE STUDENTS:

Friday evening we will witness the first major social event since Jan. At that time the Monogram club sponsored a dance which proved to be a real financial success—the only one of its kind since the school year began. We might attribute the success of that affair to the fact that there was cooperation on the part of all concerned. And as regards all college dances, the entire student body SHOULD BE CONCERNED.

The financial and social success of the Junior-Senior Prom will depend upon the aid received from the Freshman and Sophomore classes. Only when the four class groups of the campus unite in concerted effort and drive, will their individual purposes or ends will be attained. Cooperation of all the classes at this dance will guarantee that same cooperation at future Class Dances at the College.

This is a College Dance, sponsored by a college group, FOR THE STUDENT BODY. The sponsors look to the entire student body for its whole-hearted support on Friday Night.

ATTEND THE JUNIOR-SENIOR DANCE.

The High Adventure

—Mary Cruise

Once, long ago, there was a noble youth named Galahad who spent his virgin mind and his strong, tall body in the search for the Holy Grail. He had never seen it, nor had his father before him, but the story of the sacred vessel appealed to his great heart and set his imagination on fire with a mighty purpose. So imbued with the idea did he become that the image of the Grail seemed to float before him wherever he went. The angels of the Grail appeared to him amid the twilight mists of many a wandering river, and the light of the Grail illumined his steadfast way through the high mountains and on the shores of the lonely sea. His bright, armor-clad figure disappears from view in the sun-dappled forest of Arthurian legend, and the old books say that he reached his goal only to die. Somehow that seems a fitting end for the story, for had he been successful and lived he could hardly have become what he is today—the prince of the high adventurers, that dauntless aristocracy whose coat-of-arms is the feu-follet on a field dyed the red of their own heart's blood, reckless, foolish, glorious pursuers of the unattainable.

Now all men seek something, and what they seek they serve with their whole being. Most seek wealth or power or fame, and those who are fitted for the struggle emerge from it with the prize in their hands. For these things—wealth and power and the plaudits of other men—are smaller than man, and are accordingly intended to become his. But those who seek only these things do not set out on the High Adventure. The knights of the feu-follet pursue what is infinitely greater than themselves or the world, and more precious than their own lives. It is always just out of reach, beckoning glimmering, maddening them with its inaccessible beauty. Ideal or dream, the name it bears matters no more than the material object which symbolizes it. Is it important whether the divine inspiration be embodied in an ancient chalice, on the tomb of Christ at Jerusalem, for which prince and commoner fought in a frenzy of exaltation, or the golden lilies which the Maid of Domremy was called to plant again in the heart of France? In time the Cup or the Banner no longer has the power to set men's hearts aflame, but the great idea for which it stood is immortal, as the song lives on when the singer has been forgotten. The great idea, whether it is liberty, or justice for the oppressed or the preservation of peace transforms a man until he forgets he was fashioned from a handful of dust, and remembers only that the breath of God is in him.

The chevaliers of the High Adventure are a select, though numerous, company. There is among them no distinction of age or race, or century, or even sex. Some of them are shining names in the gallery of the immortals, but many hundreds more are obscure and unknown. Yet all of them undergo the same initiation, and all wear the same badge. The great idea comes to them from heaven, and in the watches of the night they kneel before the altar of their own hearts to prepare themselves for their consecration. None of them has ever told the thoughts he had during those hours of prayer, but some hints have been given to one who stood outside the cathedral door and wished that he were brave enough to be a hero. It seems that during this time they see what will befall along the road they are to travel, dimly as in a darkened mirror. They see that the great goal will remain forever unrealized, and that for most of them the journey will be long and bitter, and full of sharp suffering. The world will call them fools, and the men who sit in the seats of the great will have no speech with them save the language of leaping steel. But they are fighters, every one, and as the gray dawn creeps down the long aisles of their hearts they rise, undismayed, don the armor of truth with its waving plume of pain, and stride to the open door. The glory of the early morning is about them as they swing into the saddle, and lay a firm hand upon the fiery steed that is to carry them safely and swiftly up the steep road. It is a beautiful animal, but only the bravest may ride him, for his name is Renunciation. His hoofs strike fire as he and his rider clatter away; up, up, past the staring commonfolk they sweep, into the heights—down through the valleys. The rider's eyes are ever ahead on the will-o'-the-wisp of his own individual vision, as he goes galloping on into the light of the coming day.

The downtrodden and the miserable find in these adventures their hope and their salvation, for their lances are ever afloat against the iniquities of the mighty and the hypocrisies of the anointed. They ride on, mowing down all that would stand between them and their vision, and their foes are countless. The fight is long and their wounds are many. Loneliness is a deep tide welling in their hearts. But at last, one day—it comes to them all, late or soon—the distance begins to lessen and the feu-follet draws closer. They reach out to grasp it, they feel the unutterable bliss that comes at the end of long searching, and they know that death, the last great chapter of the high adventure, has brought them the sleep that follows dreaming.

A toast to them, messieurs, the Knights of the Feu-Follet. May they thunder through our villages until we start from our smug sleep at the sound. May they ride as Galahad rode, as Jeanne D'Arc led her legions on the fields of France, undaunted, unafraid, daring to dream, daring to fight for the dream, daring to accept its fulfillment from the hands of death.

Well, the program's going to be different today, Graham. Jo sprained his arm the other day trying to lift a gallon jug, so he begs to be excused. But he did send in a little poem—

Baa, Baa, Black Sheep
Have you any wool?
"Yes sir, yes sir"
Three bags full.
How'm I doin'?"

I told the darn fool that he was no contortionist and that he oughta use a glass, but he just sez "You know, a fellow has to be a contortionist to get along these days. First he has to keep his back to the wall and his ear to the ground. Then he must put his shoulder to the wheel, his nose to the grindstone, keep a level head and have both feet on the ground". Oh well, that's jo for you.

And while we're on the subject of Jo, what's Ralph (Ph. B. '33) hanging around for lately. You all know him—the fellow that so closely resembles a Loving Cup. There must have been quite a bit to that poem he wrote last year. If you haven't read it, here it is. If you have, you're a sucker too.

It's a convenient thing to say
"I didn't love her
Anyway.
Or if I did, a bit at first
The silly bubble chose to burst
Into that sane soap lotion,
That cleanses hands of all emotion."

Convenient?
And nother she nor you
Shall ever know if it be true.

Mr. Wren of West Arkansas had just finished describing the glorious opportunities of that part of the country. "All West Arkansas needs to become the garden spot of the world", he said, "is good people and water". "Huh", sez jo, "That's all hell needs".

Little Miss Muffet
Sat on a tuffet
Selling near beer and pop.
Along came a revenue officer
And said "Where's your License?"

Nolan: "Where did you get the black eye, Jerry?"
Prince Charming: "I went to a wedding".
Nolan: "What's that got to do with it?"
Prince: "Well, I kissed the bride".
Nolan: "Ah, but that's an old custom".
Prince: "Ah, but I'm an old customer".

Attention of Messrs. Degnan, Kendigan, Welsh, Wiser, Roche, etc.

You sing a little song or two
And you have a little chat;
You make a little candy fudge
And then you take your hat.

You hold her hand and say, "good-night",
As sweetly as you can;
Ain't that a h—of an evening
For a great, big, healthy man.

And, by the bye, Mr. Bimmerle, you might tell that co-ed that the Pied Piper is not a drunken plumber.

But oh well, let 'em wear their masculine clothes and their boyish hair cuts and smoke their cigarettes and cuss—they just naturally gotta wait for a long while before any of 'em can be called the father of her country.

POEM

Life is replete with troubles
Yet we can but relax,
Our beer is mostly bubbles
And the price is mostly tax.

Asphalt

A perfect protective coating for brushing, spraying or trowelling, being a high grade Mexican asphalt dispersed as minute particles in water for convenient handling. It is applied cold. As the moisture evaporates, a black, flexible rubberlike film remains which is water-proof, acid, alkaline and fire resistant, and shuts out infiltrations of air.

Mortex 5 does not crack or peel in coldest weather, nor blister, sag nor run on hottest days and always remains elastic. It is odorless, tasteless and nonflammable and can be safely used in confined places. It readily bonds to all clean surfaces, and also to damp surfaces, but should never be applied over dusty, dirty greasy or oily surfaces or an imperfect bond will result. Use only on clean surfaces to obtain perfect satisfaction.

Used for DAMPPROOFING WALLS and FLOORS, PAINTING GALVANIZED IRON, PROTECTING CLEAN IRON AND STEEL, ROOF REPAIRING and as an ADHESIVE. It can be mixed with Portland Cement and dries out a soft gray color for patching deteriorating concrete.

NEWS FROM THE FRONT! Our boxing squad has at last rounded into shape and three of the 'phew-gilists' will be seeing action and plenty of it on May 1st at the K. C. Hall. The fighters who will uphold the honor of St. Viator are Noonan, Kalkowski ("Kelly" to you), and Pelgen. Noonan will fight in the 147 pound class and is to meet a gent named Dionne; Kelly, 138 pounds, vs. Kamp; Pelgen, 160 pounds vs. Giusto. Keep the date open and be sure to attend.

Tennis Fans Attention! As soon as the courts are in A No. 1 condition the Tournament will start. All who wish to compete are requested to place their entries with the Rev. Fr. Cardinal. Pairings for singles and doubles will be announced as soon as there are a sufficient number of entries.

Good News CO-EDS! The Director of Intra-mural Sports informs me that you will have a separate tournament if there are enough of you that wish to compete. No, the boys aren't afraid, M. First Annual Swimming Meet probably will be held in May. Preparation for the Swim Festive are pending due to the repairs being made in the pool. It is reported that the pool will soon be ready for use.

Newberg has been missing since the Easter vacation. Wonder if some track coach from the Big Ten has kidnapped him? They sure would like to have a Champion shot-putter on their teams no doubt, but they had better not take Newberg from St. Viator or we'll lick them in revenge.

Turner and Krauklis, two of our football and basketball stars are also among the missing. Has anyone seen our wandering boys?

Softball is started once more and believe me the gang is all pepped up about it. Each and every captain declares that his team is sure to cop the 'pennant'. Your 'humble scribe' is tempted to make a forecast as to who will win but doesn't think that he will do so until the next issue. Have to see the teams in action first you know. Can't take a chance on spolling that 100 per cent forecast that we made on the Handball Tournament.

The League is composed of only seven teams this season. Four from Roy Hall and two from the Day Student ranks. The Day-Doggers decided that they couldn't keep more than two teams going. To date the Gibbons, Dexter's and Saia's have ten players on their roster; Spreitzer's and Quinn's, eleven, while the Day-Student teams of Hall and Crowley have sixteen players.

Gibbons calls his team the "Panolians". Saia, of course, has named his the "Mississippi Mudcaps". It's

INDOOR LEAGUE PLAY IS BEGUN

Dexter's "Champs" Win Season Opener 8-0

Monday, April 10th, saw the forming of the Softball League for this season. The students voted for captains and these men were elected: Emmerson Dexter, Thos. Gibbons, Jos. Saia, Robt. Spreitzer, John Quinn, J. Hall, and James Crowley. In the afternoon the newly elected captains met and a good deal of trading took place. When the deals were all closed it was discovered that Captain Dexter had traded all but two of last year's "Champs", retaining only Gembala his left fielder, besides himself.

Tuesday saw Dexter's team take up the defense of their championship which they won last season under the leadership of "Red" Harding. The first game was played before a capacity crowd with a goodly number of the coeds in attendance. Dexter's team played flawless ball beating Gibbons' Panolians. The defending "Champs" proved that they will be a hard team to beat when they shut out the "Panolians", 8-0. Dexter pitched and was in good form striking out a number of the opposing batters. The "Panolians" used two pitchers, starting Westray and using Capt. Gibbons to finish, when Westray was nicked for five runs in the fifth. The individual star play was turned in by Jim Ryan of the "Champs" when he stopped a rally single handed in the seventh inning by catching a line drive and then doubling a man off second base.

Two of the "Champs" that Dexter traded against him. They were Turner and Geo. Fleming. The other remaining members of the last season's "Champs" are playing on these teams this year; Corcoran and Doyle with the Spreitzer's, and Bimmerle is to be seen with the Quinn outfit.

The Hunter Bulletin quotes an order issued in Eastham, Mass., in 1865: "Every unmarried man in the township shall kill six blackbirds or three crows while he remains single; as a penalty for not doing so, he shall remain single until he obeys this order".

a wonder he didn't call them the Huey P. Long Boosters. Guess the rest of the boys fought shy of that and you really can't blame them. As yet we haven't heard the names of the other outfits. Will give them to you as soon as possible.

One game has been played so far and it surely was a pippin. Dexter's team trounced the "Panolians" by a score of 8 to 0. Dexter pitched the full route while Westray had to be relieved in the fifth inning by Gibbons. Only one double play was turned in and that was a solo by Jimmie Ryan, second baseman for the Dexter's. Betourne also performed well at first base for the winners. Captain Gibbons did some fine slugging but always when no one was on base. The rest of his team just couldn't hit Dexter's delivery.

Of the two Day-Student teams it would appear that Captain Crowley has the best material. But then as Mgr. Terry of the Giants says, you don't win ball games on paper but on the diamond. So we wouldn't dare predict.

DAY-HOPPING

From now on the noon hour will be filled with base-hits. Hall and Crowley will captain the two Day-Hop teams.

"Maxie" Goldberg seems to be the victim of too much necking during the vacation.

Francis Smith was at an Easter Party but the poor fellow was only seen for about fifteen minutes.

Noonay Noonay must have found Schmidt's lost waltzer. Instead of Joe doing the struggling it was La-Rocque at the Fireman's annual ball.

Jim, why didn't you tell me that you just called her Shorty when you were out of her presence?

Divy sure was a funny creature at the Easter Party. I thought that would be the last thing he would do.

Baron is about to return south. Too many holding the same ace in the same game.

Paul Maisonneuve is getting into Momenca territory. No room in Manteno with Gorman, Smith and La-Rocque around.

It's the rumor that Crowley had to wait three hours for Smitty 'One Night'.

Can't find any dope on Wulffe. He's been sick.

Alessandri has been declared guilty of falling asleep in the co-eds room.

DID YOU KNOW THAT:
It is hard for a fellow to get dope when nothing radical is happening . . . Mackin is going deeper into that four lettered word, and it doesn't seem to be the strangest thing . . . Schosser can't refuse a co-ed . . . Alessandri is getting in shape to replace J. C. C. after this year—he's heard one roll call . . . Schneider is burning up the cinders . . . Drassler doesn't want sandwiches but wants a ride to town . . . "Strongheart" Smith had a sore arm and a sore lip one day . . . What a coincidence . . . La-Rocque is now matriculating at Ford Hopkins . . . Clancy wishes he was a Freshman again . . . Quite an ambition for a Senior . . . Bill O'Connor is the College Mailman . . . Enough's enough . . .

CAMPUS-BRIEFS

If preadventure, reader, you find this issue of the briefs lacking in tasty morsels of tattle, you may assign your discovery to any or all of a variety of causes. First among these is the retreat. This great spiritual revival has brought a great number of Viator students to a realization of their wicked ways, and reform floats on the spring air. Dugan, for example, meditates nightly upon the futility of the playboy's life, and is at this moment laying plans for a pilgrimage to the Holy Land. Kendregan, too, has felt the pangs of conscience, and is seriously considering the cloister. We could cite many more such cases, but these, we feel, are typical. A second cause might be the vacation. It is hard enough to record the rampant mischief when the boys are on the campus, but when vacation comes and students depart for their several homes, our difficulties are multiplied. We might employ paid sleuths in the various cities, but such a plan is economically unsound. Our travels in Patagonia might be a third cause. While we were thus away from our desk, making a study of primitive methods of diffusing scandal, many items of interest to you necessarily escaped our vigilant eye, which would otherwise have been gleefully noted and speedily recorded.

Well, as the saying goes, let's look at the record . . . 'Tis said that when John "Honeyboy" Meany left these hallowed halls he carried a palpitating heart along with him . . . No, she isn't a student . . . We don't believe he did, but maybe you will believe it, so there you are . . . We've heard of students getting perfumed letters, but only lately have we heard of one receiving perfumed packages . . . Maybe it wasn't perfumed but it certainly smelled fragrant . . . Kendregan got such a parcel from a girl whose last name is Esther . . . Her first name, we believe, is Lady . . . Why don't you rent a box, Richard? . . . Now look at what you've done, Joe . . . Now Lucille can't have her car . . . Joy . . . Wiser is reunited with Julia . . . Sorrow . . . Buttgen and Marjorie are pft . . . Claire is still trying to Landroche . . . Well, at least it's better than yours, Dugan . . . So she can't tell the difference between a tenderloin and a pork chop, Ed? . . . Well, what do you want your girl to be, a Buttger? . . . Ripstra has concocted a new one . . . Two glasses and you do the carioea . . . It's a Ripping good mixture . . . Max is still suffering from insomnia . . . try reading Sports Shorts, Max, maybe that will put you to sleep . . . Marik, Gibbons, Welsh and the rest of the belle-boys of the third corridor have been active, as usual.

Are you listening? . . . A certain well-known one-time (or is he a two-time?) writer of this column is in our midst . . . we tried to persuade him to write the briefs as guest artist, but he declined . . . Oh, well, where he spent the last few months, no scandal cometh to his ears, or anyone else's ears . . . "It's all fixed up!", exclaimed Roche excitedly to Rogers, so attiring themselves in their Sunday best, they both tripped arm in arm chez Legris, on Bourbonnais' near north side . . . What titled Senator declared "I'd walk out if she were there?"
In spite of myself, my thoughts turn irresistibly to graduation . . . O happy day! O happy, happy day! For on that day, envious reader, my tireless labors will be crowned with triumph, and I shall be sent forth from these sacred walls in a flood of extravagant oratory, sheep-skin in hand, a full fledged college man with hopes, ambitions, ideals, and aspirations, with a paternal, reassuring pat on the back by my professors, fully qualified to become a policeman, fireman, football coach or insurance salesman. I may not know how to make a living, but I will know how to live, and that's encouraging. But am I being too presumptuous? Better get that thesis done.

But let us return to our sheep . . . or are they wolves? . . . If you don't like our puns, send yours in to this column . . . Spreitzer guarantees to pay one dollar for each one printed . . . Did I say the wrong thing, Bobbie? . . . There's a fellow here claiming to be Marik . . . Grow the mustache again, Tony, and prove it . . . Nolan, when all dolled up, represents a composite picture of the denizens of the second corridor . . . Dugan graduated from high school once . . . The sendoff in his Annual tells of his journalistic ambitions, and mentions that he is lost to the world in a book . . . They even accuse him of intelligence . . . Ah! shallow, callow, fallow youth! If you still have those journalistic ambitions, better sign up with Dugan and Orren Allen . . . Then you'll lose them . . . We'd mention something of Dugan's election day revels, but we're afraid we'd have to bring our own name in . . . Dugan dated upon his first night back . . . And have you heard of Quinn's new girl? . . . Her name is Cecilia . . . For further details see Picus . . . If he doesn't tell you all about her, I miss my guess . . . Georgie Fleming is displaying the new spring fashions for men . . . For news of the Chicago night clubs, see "Punchinello" Noonan . . . Dugan's puns are funny in that they are not funny . . . But his latest paradox is a prize: "A student is not a student" . . . Will someone give Roche a stamp? . . . No, Miss —, I'm not a sophisticate, but I can act like one . . . will that do? . . .

Another Briefs is written . . . We hope that we have hurt no feelings . . . Be assured that such is not our intention . . . Just good, clean fun for all, and bring the kiddies . . . We say naughty things at times, but we can say nice things, too . . . And if we're not at the bottom of the sea by next time, we'll be back with the best of the worst . . . Cheerip!

"Sprint and Dash" Men Prepare For I-M Meet

Professor Maloney has a hobby that is going to prove beneficial to the student body. Just recently "Prof" broke down and confessed that he had been a track star while a student at Notre Dame and that he still took an active interest in the sport. The Rev. Fr. Harbauer Director of Intra-mural Sports asked him to give the boys a few tips on track form and he gladly consented to do so.

When interviewed by the VIATORIAN reporter, Professor Maloney had very little to say but we did manage to learn that he had been a member of the Notre Dame Varsity Track squad of 1925 and 1926. Even though Professor Maloney wouldn't say so, (he is a modest fellow, you know) we have learned from reliable sources that he was one of Notre Dame's cross country stars and distance runners.

Those students who are interested in track and are planning on competing in the Intra-mural Track Meet should report at three thirty in the gymnasium.

With the Alumni

J. Allen Nolan, '29, was a visitor on the campus for several days preceding the Retreat. Al will receive his Doctor's degree from the Catholic U. at Washington in August this year.

Dr. John T. Ellis, '28 former head of the History Department of the college spent several days here last week visiting his numerous friends at the college. At the present time he is instructor in History at St. Teresa's College in Winona, Minn.

"Tommy" Ahearn, '32, who starred on Varsity baseball teams here for several seasons is getting a try-out in the Nebraska State League. If Tom can show them how he "caught 'em in the Little Nineteen loop", he will be assured of making the grade there.

"Pete" Laffey, '33, is getting a try-out at second base with Tulsa in the Western League. Pete was a member of the Duffy Florals, popular Chicago semi-Professional team, for several seasons.

William R. McCabe, a former student of the college, was a recent candidate for State Central Committeeman in the 11th District. At the present time, he is State's Attorney of Will County, and resides at Joliet, Illinois.

John Meany, who left us at the semester, was a candidate for precinct committeeman in the Primary Election last Tuesday.

John "Dizz" Clancy, we learn, is now playing first base for Buffalo in the International League. "Dizz" is now battling in third position for the Buffalo "Sluggers", and shows promise of crashing the "big time" once more. Buffalo won the League pennant in 1933.

In the presence of a noble gathering of clerics from all parts of Illinois, the new Holy Trinity Church of Bloomington was consecrated by Bishop Joseph Schlarman of the Peoria diocese on Easter Monday. Rev. Fr. S. N. Moore, pastor of Holy Trinity is a Viator alumnus, as is also Rev. Fr. J. P. Farrell, assistant pastor. Rt. Rev. Monsignor G. M. Legris, Rev. J. W.R. Maguire, c. s. v., and Rev. J. P. O'Mahoney, c. s. v., represented St. Viator College on the occasion, the latter two priests serving as honorary escort to the Rt. Rev. Gerald Bergan, formerly Vicar-general of the Peoria diocese, who has recently been named Bishop of DesMoines. Bishop-elect Bergan is a member of the class of '12 of St. Viator.

The VIATORIAN extends its sympathy to Father S. N. Moore, '98, pastor of Holy Trinity Church in Bloomington, on the recent death of his brother, Thomas C. Moore, in that city.

J. Burke Monahan, '32, was the first to answer our request for Alumni News. Burke informs us that he is hard at work "reveling among the conquistadores, creoles, mestizos, etc., of Hispanic-American History", which is his Thesis assignment at Catholic U. in Washington. At present, he is also secretary to Father Robert White, the National Chaplain of the American Legion. Burke also informs us that Al Nolan, former teacher in Speech at St. Viator, and Edward Gallahue, former Treasurer of the College, are getting along fine. Let's hear from you again, Burke.

In addition to Father Maguire, Mrs. Macy, business agent of Local 112 in Chicago, and Mr. Rota of Upholsterers' Union Local 18 of Chicago, addressed the meeting briefly. Sorority Holds Card Party and Radio Dance

On Thursday evening, April 12, the Social Sorority of St. Viator College entertained at a radio dance and card party in the College Refectory hall. Prizes for bridge were awarded to Miss Mary E. Smith and Mr. —ohn Ripstra for high score, and to Miss Mary P. Cruise and Mr. Francis Smith the consolation prizes.

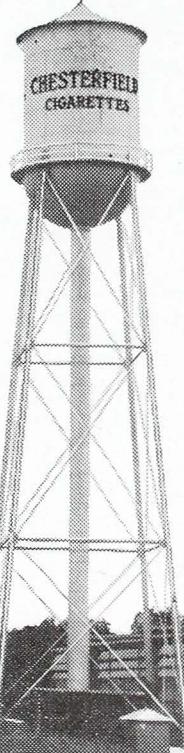

After the games, refreshments were served by the Sorority. Dancing to several popular radio orchestras followed, and was enjoyed by all those present. The dancing continued until 12 o'clock.

The committee for the party consisted of the Sophomore co-eds, Misses Regina Reilly, Claire Legris, and Marie Reynolds.

It was recently announced at a meeting of the College Clug that the Sorority in collaboration with other campus groups will sponsor another such party in the near future, the proceeds of which will be used to purchase Varsity sweaters for the Basketball squad of 1933-34.

The John Hopkins News Letters tells the story of a pre-med student at Boston College who dropped biology because of incompatibility. The first day the professor cut up an apple, and when finished, told the class to eat the apple; the second day he cut up a watermelon and they ate that; the third day the professor brought in a cat.

70 million dollars worth of tobacco

— 4½ miles of warehouses

Everything that Science knows about is used in making Chesterfields.

One thing we do is to buy mild, ripe tobaccos and then lock up these tobaccos in modern storage warehouses to age and mellow like rare wines.

It takes about 3 years to age the tobaccos for your Chesterfield, for Time does something to tobacco that neither man nor machine can do.

It means something to keep 70 million dollars worth of tobacco in storage. It means just this:

We do everything possible to make Chesterfield the cigarette that's milder, the cigarette that tastes better.

the cigarette that's MILDER

the cigarette that TASTES BETTER
