TO THE JUBILARIAN.

*Three score years at the Altar,
Thou snowy haired Shepherd of God,
Hast thou watched and waited and suffered
In paths where the Savior hath trod.*

*Jeweled mem'ries of years that have faded
Like angels come back to thee now,
Trooping in from the realm of fancy,
To weave a gemmed crown for thy brow.*

*Such crown with its brilliant fair jewels
Nor emperor nor king e'er can boast;
Naught compares with thy spiritual treasures,
Thou friend of the Sacred Host.*

*Thou didst leave home and country and kindred,
To fight the stern battles of Truth,
And heeding the call of the Master,
Didst sacrifice all in thy youth.*

*Gentle Grace from her heavenly mansions,
Looked down on thy sacrifice then;
And selected thee as God's anointed
To watch o'er the children of men.*

*And Humility loved thee in silence,
She knew thou wert her true slave;
Ardent Faith from her garden of roses
Her sweet-scented blossoms, thee gave.*

*Rarest flowers of Love, Hope and Patience
Were strewn o'er Life's wearisome way,
Yet their perfume so sweet, still remaineth
To gladden thy heart on this day.*

*All these years on dark Golgotha dwelling
Thou hast borne without murmur or frown,
All the heartaches and trials and sorrows,
With thy cross and its blood-stained crown.*

*But today, thou white-liveried servant,
Thou dwellest on Thabor's bright brow,
Thy cross and thorn-crown they are banished
For happiness fills thy heart now.*

*This thy feast, O true soldier of Jesus,
Could never more jubilant be,
For greeting from thousands of children
Are blown o'er the ocean to thee.*

*And our prayers like the sweetest of incense
Are borne by pure spirits on high;
They are winged through the arched dome of Heaven
Finding rest far beyond the blue sky.*

*For they fall at the portals of Heaven,
Are heard at the Savior's bright throne,
While He hearing doth silently bless thee,
And he whispers, "Good servant, well done."*

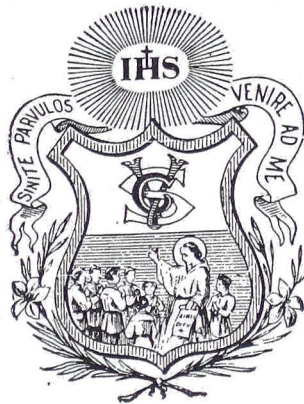

*Now thy true sons in reverence greet thee
From Freedom's bright shores far away,
And they pray that the Savior may bless thee
On this, thy fair festival day.*

*May your life e'er be peaceful and happy,
May pain never darken your sky,
May angels of Heaven protect thee
When twilight of life draweth nigh.*

*May St. Viator, Mary and Jesus,
Defend thee from anguish and strife;
May true peace and contentment and pleasure
Be ever thy portion in life.*

*Then all hail Jubilarian thrice blessed!
May thy life full of happiness be,
Is the prayer of the Sons of St. Viator,
From their home far across the blue sea.*

OUR JUBILARIAN

TO LIVE for sixty years in the sacred ministry of Christ, consecrated to the eminently blessed work of Christian Education in a religious community, is indeed the heritage of but few priests of the Catholic Church. This however has been the happy lot of the venerable Superior General of the Clerics of St. Viator, who recently celebrated the diamond anniversary of his ordination on September the twelfth at the General Motherhouse of the Order in Brussels, Belgium.

The entire life of the venerable Father Lajoie has been that of a "man of God," and since the day that he received his call to Orders, his life has been filled with prolific projects, all of which he has carried to a successful completion, even in the face of multitudinous difficulties and soul-harrassing trials.

Born in 1826, in the Province of Quebec, whose very atmosphere is permeated with religious inspiration, Father Lajoie received his early education in the Parochial Schools of his native city, St. Jean de Baptiste de Rouville. At an early age, he attended the Viatorian Schools, completing his studies with greatest possible success and honor. Even as a child he possessed such wonderful directing abilities and sterling qualities of leadership, that he was destined to be a leader of men.

In 1847, shortly after the erection of the Canadian Province he entered the Novitiate, and since taking his vows in 1848, his life has been one of various vicissitudes, filled with much hard labor in every important post of duty in the Community. Scarcely had he pronounced his vows, than he was assigned a professorship at Jolliete College, the main institution of the Congregation in Canada. After a few short months in this capacity, he was appointed Director of St. Elizabeth's School, after which he was re-appointed Director of Jolliette College, where he also pursued his Theological studies, being ordained on September the twelfth, 1852. Having successively been Director of Chambly and of Jolliette Colleges, his Superiors noting his special adaptation in moulding the character of the young, and also his zeal for the welfare of the Community, appointed him Master of Novices of the Mother-province at Vourles, France, where he remained in the fulfillment of his duties for six years, returning to his native land, once more to take charge of Jolliette College and Seminary.

The next six years of Father Lajoie's life were quietly spent in the direction of souls as Cure of Jolliette, and it was while exercising the functions of this office that he received his appointment as Provincial of the Canadian Obedience. Under his able guidance the Community grew phenomenally and became one of the most important teaching Congregations in Canada. A few years later, he was appointed foreign Vicar, and in 1881, he was summoned to the General Mother-house at Vourles to fill the office of Vicar-General of the Institute, an office requiring no little experience and tact, especially in France, where as early as the Eighties, much ill-will already existed between the Religious Orders and the infidel government.

On August the eighteenth, 1890, on the death of the late Superior General, he was unanimously chosen by the delegates from the various Provinces, as Superior General for life.

Truly, it would seem that one whose life had been so full of arduous toil, ought at last find relief from the multiplicity of his labors; not so however with our beloved General; great and heart-rending trials have been laid upon his willing shoulders, for during his period of Generalship many events have happened on account of the injustice of men and Governments that would have dismayed the heart of even a Napoleon.

Perhaps the greatest affliction endured by our beloved Father, was the expulsion of thousands of his children from the borders of France, the native land of the congregation, his country by adoption, within whose confines three of the most flourishing provinces of the order possessed hundreds of Classical Colleges, Commercial Academies and Paroachial Schools. Like the good shepherd who weeps in anguish when ravenous wolves disperse his flocks and whose heart is crushed with sorrow at seeing the objects of his solicitude thus in dire sufferings which he can in no way assuage, so our beloved General beheld the dispersion and exile of his faithful flock of Christian educators. But remembering the words of Holy Writ; "Whom the Lord loveth the Lord persecuteth," he was resigned, for he knew that this bitter trial came from Heaven, and meekly taking up his cross without a murmur he prayed in the sublime words of Christ, "Father, Thy will not mine be done." Offering up all his afflictions and sufferings to the loving Heart of Jesus as a sacrifice to appease the wrath of an offended God and thus turn his vengeance from an infidel people he left the land of his adoption calmly praying for his persecutors even as the God-man, on Calvary prayed for those who had crucified Him—"Father forgive them for they know not what they do."

After the expulsion of the religious from France, Father Lajoie marshalled the broken ranks of his little army in Belgium, where the community is at present flourishing under the protection of that eminently Catholic Monarchy. Other members of the Community were sent to Spain where at Vitoria is located the Motherhouse of the Spanish Province which now possesses two classical colleges and has control of several parochial schools; still other religious were sent to Canada, but sad to say many of these succumbed to the severe Canadian climate and but few of a large band remain. Father Lajoie's heart however is wrapped up in the welfare of France and he is leaving nothing undone to further the Kingdom of Christ in that unhappy country. Already he has re-established several of the Viatorian schools where members of the community are teaching as lay professors. Much of the confiscated property is being held in trust for the Viatorians by friends who purchased it at Government Auctions and who will give it to the Order when God sees fit to awaken once more the religious faith of the Eldest Daughter of the Church and break the power of Satan in the hearts of those who at present control the situation.

Truly it is a thing to be wondered at how it has been possible for the Superior General to bear all these burdens and afflictions, for it will be remembered that he is no longer filled with the ardor of youth, but is now in his 86th year and all these trials must weigh heavily on his heart. His life indeed has been a long and fruitful one and even in his advanced age he is ever solicitous for the welfare of the various provinces over which he has been given stewardship, but especially is he interested in the welfare of the lambs of his flock, the children of various nationalities and climes, attending the schools in charge of the Clerics of St. Viator.

The whole world which has felt the influence of the Clerics of St. Viator, rejoices with the Reverend P. D. Lajoie on the occasion of his diamond jubilee and in the various establishments of the congregation, special services were held in honor of this happy event, while the prayers of thousands arise daily from grateful hearts like incense to heaven imploring the bountiful Saviour to bless, guide and protect the Reverend Jubilarian for many years to come as the director of one of the most flourishing communities of religious teachers in the Catholic Church.

JUBILEE CELEBRATION

At the General Motherhouse, Brussels, Belgium

*"Let no man think that sudden in a minute
All is accomplished and the work is done,
Though with thine earliest dawn thou should'st begin it Scarce were it ended in thy setting sun."*

SUPPOSE some such sentiments must have surged in the breast of the Venerable Superior General as he sat in reception of the many addresses read to him on the eve of his great feast day. For, all the tributes told eloquently of how long and faithfully he wrought in that portion of the Lord's Vineyard allotted to his care. Sixty years ago his earliest dawn, full of life and vigor he resolutely set his face towards the field of toil and labored, today in the land of his setting sun he realizes that scarce is his work ended. This I take it, entwined with beautiful sentiments of filial affection and loyal devotion was the burden of the addresses read by Reverend Father Malatray, Vourles, France, Reverend Father C. Ducharme, Joliette, Canada, and Reverend Father Mercadier, Rodez, France, and Reverend Father J. A. Charlebois, Chicago, U. S. A. Reverend J. E. Lataur, read a poem, composed by J. A. Desjardins, Brother Poujal also read one of which he was the author, while Rev. F. E. Munsch read one in English composed by Rev. J. A. Williams of Bourbonnais, Ill. These exquisite poems sung in sweetest song the same sentiment as found expression in the prose tributes. This preparatory program took place at St. Viator's Institute, Molenbeek, Brussels Maritime, in the presence of a long concourse of Confreres assembled from the various provinces. Cardinal Vincenzo Vannutelli, Protector of the Congregation was announced to arrive at seven thirty, and at that hour the entire assembled community met in the parlors of the Motherhouse to be presented to His Eminence. After a few moments of anxious waiting, the Cardinal entered, accompanied by the Very Reverend Superior General, the Vicar, Reverend P. Robert and Visitor General Reverend T. Coutu. He bore with him the Rescript of Pius X. After a few words he read the precious document. Then as he had promised he handed it himself to the Superior General. It is needless to say, that this little ceremony filled all with emotion and it was a touching scene to see the tall and stately crimson robed Prince of the Church bend kindly over the aged Superior and extend to him the heartiest of hand clasps. The Cardinal graciously accepted the task of carrying back to the Pope the sincerest thanks of Father Lajoie. In faltering accents the Superior addressed a few words to His Eminence acknowledging with gratitude the signal favor conferred by the Pope on the Community and its benefactors; he also thanked the Cardinal for so generously coming to participate in his Diamond Jubilee. The Cardinal proposed a hearty "Vive le Pape!" and you may be sure the old walls resounded, and another cheering cry went up "Vive Le Cardinal Vanutelli!"

The following is the request made by the Community to the Pope with his answer.

Most Holy Father:

The 12th of September of the present year, 1912, will be a festive day in the institute of the Clerics of St. Viator, whose principal house is near the city of Brussels, Belgium, and moreover the Very Reverend Father Paschal D. Lajoie, the Superior General of the said institute will complete on that day the 60th year of his ordination to the Priesthood. The spiritual joy of all will be greater if your Holiness deigns to concede to this most deserving priest and to the institute, its members and benefactors some indulgence on this occasion and also bestow upon us the Apostolic Benediction, which may also be extended to all the schools for boys under the direction of the aforesaid Clerics, who will pray to God for your Holiness.

CARDINAL VANUTELLI

Protector of the Clerics of St. Viator, Who Officiated at the Jubilee Ceremonies.

(Response)

“To our dear son (Paschal D. Lajoie) for whom we ask of God still many years of happiness, to the members and benefactors and students of the Institute, who are all equally dear to us; we cordially grant the Apostolic Benediction, with a plenary indulgence to be gained on the 12th of September by all those who, having gone to confession, shall receive Holy Communion.

PIUS X. POPE.

August the 7th, 1912.

On the following morning at nine thirty, a long procession, formed at the Institute, some blocks from the church, wended its way towards St. Remi. First came a host of altar boys clad in red cassocks and neat white cottas, followed by a great number of the community in surplice and lastly the Cardinal who turned from side to side raising His hand in benediction over the crowds who gathered on either side. Arrived at the church, the procession was met by the Celebrant and officers of the mass when all filed into the deep chancel of St. Remi. Mass was duly begun by the Venerable Jubilarian. The officers of the mass were as follows: Assistant priest to the Cardinal, the Pastor of St. Remi, Reverend Fr. Vetsuypens, Assistant Deacons, Rev. J. A. Charlebois, Chicago, and Rev. Fr. Malatray, Vourles, France. Deacon of the Mass Rev. C. Ducharme, Canada, Sub-deacon, Rev. Fr. Mercadier, Rodez, France. Master of Ceremonies, Rev. Fr. Seguert, Brussels, Book-bearer, Rev. P. Moiroud, Brussels, Candle-bearer, Rev. F. El. Munsch, Chicago, Crozier, Brother Racamier, Mitre, Brother Ancour, Thurifers, Bros. Roux and Chevalier, Cross, Bro. Marcellin, Acolytes, Bros. Bertrand and Constance.

St. Remi was certainly a fit temple for such an occasion. It is a great 13th Century pure-Catholic structure, and is considered one of the finest churches built in Belgium in the last two hundred years. Its long drawn nave and aisles filled with worshippers, its broad deep chancel replete with clergy and surmounted by the Cardinal's throne presented indeed a glorious spectacle.

At the Gospel Reverend Joseph Latour, C. S. V. of Canada, pronounced the sermon. It must be said that he certainly caught the spirit of the occasion and made the pillars of St. Remi ring with eloquence, he laid a most graceful wreath on the brow of Father Lajoie. Despite his advanced age the Superior General carried through the ceremonies of the mass in a most accurate manner. Surely a big word of praise is due to the little Juvenists for the excellent music they furnished. After the Mass the Cardinal gave Solemn Benediction assisted by Rev. C. Ducharme, and Rev. Father Mercardier, Rev. Father Seguret, Master of Ceremonies. And now what is at least a happy coincidence occurred, for just as the Te Deum was intoned the sun appeared and flooded the sanctuary with its rays. This is worth mentioning since the sun had not shone for three successive hours during the last six weeks. The weather had been most miserable, it had rained steadily for two months and so the prophecy of the Cardinal was verified and caused universal joy for he said: "You will have fine weather for your feast day." May I add that at this writing it still continues fine and one is forcibly reminded of your beautiful Indian Summer, a thing unheard of in these parts. After the Benediction the long procession marched through the streets once more back to St. Viator's Institute.

At 2:30 P. M. all those "en fete" gathered again in the large hall, which in the meantime had been converted into a "Salle a manger." There wasn't anything like an organized program of toasts but at the end of hostilities each province was well represented, some doubly and not a few triply. As might be expected the Cardinal had to retire early from the festivities as several parties were waiting to see him. He returned however to the General Direction in the evening. It is well known that Father Lajoie has an ardent devotion to the Blessed Virgin and I am sure nothing pleased him more than when the Community assembled at the feet of Our Lady at her beautiful grotto erected in the park of the Motherhouse, and sang the Salve Regina. The statue was illuminated for the occasion and diverse colored fires were set off during the singing. The Cardinal, too, was visibly affected, he immediately indulgenced the statue granting 300 days for each Ave recited before the image. I need hardly mention that Father Lajoie was the recipient of many, many telegrams of congratulation. Among the many gifts presented to him might be mentioned a beautiful missal and handsome stole from His Eminence, Cardinal V. Vannutelli. A costly chalice inlaid with precious stones, from his native Canadian province, and a complete set of handsome vestments from the other provinces. It need only be added by way of conclusion that the feast was a great triumph in every department. It speaks much praise for those who were foremost in its organization and it must be a source of great satisfaction for them to realize that their work was so successfully crowned.

(REV.) F. E. MUNSCH.

FRAGMENT.

*As the trees in the splendor of Autumn may glow
While the sap of their being has long ceased to flow,
So the face may be handsome and kingly the head
Though the spirit of honor has long since been dead.*

ADDRESS PRESENTED by the AMERICAN PROVINCE

To the Very Reverend P. D. Lajoie, C. S. V., Superior General.

ALLOW me in behalf of the members of the smallest province of the community, to present you the homage of the largest and most generous country in the world, the affectionate tribute of that great far away land whose starry colors adorn this hall, the land of the brave and free, the United States of America.

Yes, in this blissful reunion of your great family, land vies with land and tongue with tongue in offering you each its meed of praise and congratulation, in laying at your feet its grateful thanks and its good wishes. All together we have entoned this morning in the solemn and universal language of the church that grand hymn of thanksgiving, the Te Deum. In singing it in unison we have expressed the sentiments of all and have wafted its solemn strophes heavenward, freighted with hearty messages of genuine gratitude for the benefits which Providence has accorded you and which through your long and consecrated life we have all been blessed withal. Thus too you have heard us all devoutly unite this morning as with one voice in the great, the supreme eucharistic prayer, the Holy Sacrifice of the Mass.

Through this sacred and classic tongue, in the resonant accents of old Latium we have all spoken to God and to you our thanks and our prayerful wishes for yet further graces. For all these good gifts have we in one accord sung exultingly: Te aeternum Patrem omnis terra veneratur.

During this feast of hearts, which is also a pentecostal feast of tongues, you have heard in the sweet accents of France felicitations addressed to you by those truly loyal sons of the eldest daughter of the Church, by those brave veterans, those fearless sentinels who have remained at the post of peril and who seem to have come here to beg of you the further boon to be allowed to die for the cause of the youth of France. It is not only your distinction, it is your glory, to have sustained the courage and directed the energies of such men.

And with the love message of the Provincials of France you have heard strange tongues which had never before sounded in your ears. The children of Spain, the Catholic Sister of France, have sent you greetings couched in the vibrant words of Calderon and overspread with the devout colors of Murillo; and the Flemish children, whose Fatherland has so generously given hospitality to your exile, have lovingly assured you of the profound respect and love with which all true Christians greet those who, like St. Anthanasius, being persecuted in one city, flee to another.

Oh the sweet and noble gesture of hospitality! Every one may not understand the spoken words of a foreign tongue, but every one understands the open arms of Christian charity and friendship. Let us be permitted to say how grateful we are to Belgium for according to our aged Father and to our brethren a roof beneath which to abide, and opportunities to continue carrying out our vocational work. May you live long to see flourish and ripen in this friendly land the abundant fruits of the great schools with which you have repaid Belgium hospitality.

There has come a voice afar, a voice which has for you a peculiar charm both in the name of its gentle bearer Father Ducharme, and in the touching ring of its familiar tones it is the voice of your loved Canada, the Catholic daughter of Catholic France, the voice of Joliette, the daughter of Vourles, the voice of the majestic St. Lawrence, the voice of your native province of Quebec with its thousand spires and schools, the voice of tens of thousands of children, of parents and of teachers who in one accord acclaim and congratulate you and are proud to claim you as their own "Pere Lajoie."

Well indeed might we all say in hearing this voice relate the consoling successes which the Canadian Province has achieved during your administration: "Encore! Encore!" For, while religious solidarity makes us all sharers alike in each other's good or evil fortune, we of Chicago feel a very genuine interest and a filial love for our own mother province of Joliette which has given us our founder, the regretted Father Fournier and his devoted successors in the high office of Provincial, and a number of religious men whose pioneer achievements reflect luster upon the mother who cradled such heroic sons.

You, Very Reverend Father, have watched with paternal solicitude the growth of the sapling planted in Illinois by these sons of Canada; you have always shown a very tender care for the development and progress of our infant province. And I am come today to bear you, in the language of Shakespeare and Newman, tidings of grateful affection from those of your spiritual children who are safeguarding the sacred interests of Catholic youth in their educational fortresses, of the great American middle west and far west, I come to deposit at your feet the love tribute of those in charge of parish churches from the broad valley of the Mississippi to the Rocky Mountains.

First, then, let me deliver to you the love greetings of the young children of our schools and parishes, and the minims of our colleges, those amiable little ones whom you, as chief representative of Our Blessed Lord, love so dearly, whom you in the divine words of our devise so personally attract by your fatherly kindness, which ever seems appealingly to repeat: "Sinite parvulos venire ad me." Receive the rich greetings of those whose angels see the face of God, whose patrimony is nothing less than the kingdom of heaven. Bowing in gentle reverence before your white hair they approach you with all the naive joy and trust of children saluting a hoary grandparent on the most solemn and at the same time the most joyous anniversary of his life; these loving children desire to thank you for sending to them teachers and pastors who have been to them visible guardian angels, catechists who have taught them the fear and love of God, and who have led them early in their tender years to the banquet where they have tasted the bread of angels. If I could relate all the sweet things which God has put in the hearts of these gentle children you could well exclaim with the regal psalmist: "Ex ore infantium et lactantium perficisti laudem."

And still other messages have I for you, good Father, messages from the riper youths of our schools, from our dignified collegeans of St. Viator and of Columbus, words full of admiration for your wonderful age, whose youthfulness is renewed with the years as is the eagle's, words full of filial gratitude for the compelling leadership of the men whom you have set over them "Per aspera ad astra." From them they would tell you gratefully, they have learned the lesson so dear to your heart, namely, the practice of frequent communion. They have banded themselves in the league of the Holy Name, and in the pious association for the relief of the holy souls in purgatory. They are pledged to the practice of temperate habits, and to cultivate that learning which does not inebriate or puff one up, because it is imbibed in sober draughts and ever with the accompaniment of those moral virtues which the great Apostle of the Gentiles would have us keep in mind when he enjoins us "not to be more wise than it behooveth to be wise, but to be wise unto sobriety." They as well as their teachers have properly appreciated your careful underlining of the Holy Father's warning against Modernism and remember your words with those of St. Paul: "Oportet sapere ad sobrietatem."

The pupils of our schools and their teachers, the students of our colleges and their presidents and professors, the pastors of our parishes and their congregations all unite in sending you one great unanimous message of affectionate thanksgiving, in wishing you a still longer life of such blessed usefulness and in begging from your saintly hands the blessing of their venerable Father.

From the part of your subjects in my province, my own devoted subjects and associates, I also bear you very personal tidings of great joy and loyal gratitude.

From the contingent of the juniorate, from the novices, from the scholastics and from the professed members of the community comes the cheeriest, the most cordial, the most filial shout: "Vive le Pere Lajoie." Gathered in goodly numbers round about me in Bourbonnais at our last retreat they each in turn and all together bade me tell you how highly they value your tireless efforts to lend impulse to the development of our province, your generous approval of our methods of recruiting our membership, your careful supervision of our studies, your solicitous surveillance over our temporal affairs, and your stimulating exhortations to ever more faithful religious life.

Tell him, they said, that, in imitation of our good and gentle Master, he has made us taste and feel that the yoke of obedience is sweet and the burden of poverty is light. With our thanks and our congratulations we bid him on this great day a hearty "Macte virtute esto!"

It is needless for me add, my dear, good Father, how gladly I as provincial make myself the echo of these generous sentiments, and how cordially I subscribe to them all. Let me be allowed even to add one word to profess my personal and profound admiration of the tireless patience which you have displayed in always giving me timely aid and wise counsel, for which I thank you more than words can tell.

It will not be long now, before these gay and pious scenes of your jubilee have vanished and are but a memory. Still will it be a delight to recall these glad events: "Forsan et haec olim meminisse juvabit." The old Roman poet describes old age as fond of dwelling in the realms of pleasant memory. Among the many pleasant things that your memory will fondly cherish, let it delight you, good Father, to recall also the serene and filial joy with which those farthest removed from you came to greet you on this thrice blessed anniversary.

May all these blissful memories sweeten your declining years, and may they be a foretaste of the "Euge, serve bone et fidelis," well done, good and faithful servant, enter now into the joy of thy Lord.

VERY REV. J. A. CHARLEBOIS, C. S. V.

DEATH of FATHER DOYLE

WHEN the news of the sudden and unexpected death of Rev. Alexander P. Doyle was flashed throughout the world on August 9th, every Catholic felt that the Church had lost a champion whose place it will be difficult to fill. Father Doyle, as Superior of the Apostolic Mission House in Washington, D. C., Editor of the Catholic World and Founder of the Catholic Missionary Union had won a national reputation, as an aggressive priest, a staunch propagator of Catholic Doctrine, and an earnest defender of truth. Father Doyle was a living exemplification of Obedience to the commands, "Go and teach all nations," for his love for souls extended to those outside the church as well as to those inside Her pale, his one aim and endeavor being to bring about the conversion of America to the true Fold of Christ.

He was a man of such tireless energy that he had undermined his constitution, thus literally "spending himself in the service of the Lord."

Father Doyle is dead but the great work which he accomplished will live after him. A gallant soldier has answered the last summons of the Great Captain, and we may with loving confidence predict that now, that he has laid his arms aside his rest will be peaceful and his reward very great.

May his generous, brave, noble soul rest in peace, and not long be in banishment from the Face of the Crucified Master, whom he so faithfully served in the Vineyard of Souls.

REV. ALEXANDER P. DOYLE

NOTICE.

The disastrous conflagration, of October third, which destroyed a portion of the business section of the City of Kankakee in the immediate vicinity of the Kankakee Republican Publishing Company, partially incapacitated the plant of our publishers and as a result of the disorganized condition of affairs, which existed for some time, they were unable to execute their work with their accustomed speed. We are pleased to announce that normal conditions have again been resumed at the Republican offices and we hope that each succeeding issue of THE VIATORIAN will be published on scheduled time.

With the opening of the present scholastic year St. Viator College entered on its forty-fifth year as one of the foremost

*The Progress
of
St. Viator
College*

institutions of higher learning in the Middle West. This year St. Viator College has reached the highest point in her development. The record of attendance of any previous year has been surpassed by the enrollment to date and numbers of new and old students are arriving daily. One important change that marks the progress of St. Viator is the elimination of the preparatory department, hitherto one of the features of the college. Under the new system there are but three departments; the Seminary, Collegiate and Academic and each of these departments is numerically larger than at any other period in the history of the college. From these facts it requires no great amount of reasoning to deduce the conclusion that St. Viator College is making strides toward the first place among the Catholic Colleges in the Middle West. From a struggling college of a quarter of a century ago, St. Viator today stands a model of emulation and an object of admiration for all her sister colleges. The rapid progress and good fortune can be attributed only to the assiduity, diligence and zeal of the Clerics of St. Viator.

THE VIATORIAN rejoices in the success of his Alma Mater and in the name of that Alma Mater extends a hearty welcome to the students of nineteen hundred and twelve.

"When the play is over the fool is first forgotten" is a sentence on which we would have each and every student, new and old, seriously meditate. We do not wish to indicate by this that we are confirmed pessimists wholly adverse to cheerfulness and mirth among the students. Wholesome comedy, pleasing humor and ready wit are ever welcome in college as in all other walks of life. But the first end of college life is to attain knowledge and to do this requires a judicious employment of time and a fixed purpose. Unfortunately some students loose sight of these objects and through too great an inclination to enjoyment and too great an aversion to study, make poor use of those precious hours which appear so numerous but are yet so few. Time is like a fertile field; left uncultivated it yields nothing, but properly cultivated it produces amazing results. Now to cultivate or properly employ time, it is not at all necessary to live a life of drudgery; for time spent in innocent amusements and healthy recreations is time as well utilized as that which is employed in the cultivation of our mental faculties, provided we spend only a proper portion of our hours in such pursuits. Here at college ample time is set aside at various periods during the day for the proper recreation of body and mind in order that the student may better apply himself to his studies. For the student who sees the true end of college life and who has chosen a fixed goal to strive for, the regular order of college life presents a safe and a sure means of attainment and the student who resolves to employ his time and to do the right thing at the right time insures for himself a pleasant and a happy year.

Sixty years of labor in the vineyard of the Lord has been completed by the Very Reverend P. D. Lajoie, Superior General of the Clerics of St. Viator. Sixty years of faithful service has been rewarded by a plenteous shower of benediction and love. For over a half a century Father Lajoie has been a potent factor in the religious world, yet he has ever been the humble servant of Christ. During his tenure of office, as head of the followers of St. Viator, the world over, the community has faced many serious problems, but Father Lajoie has ever been found equal to the emergency and has successfully guided the bark entrusted to his care over the turbulent seas. To serve Christ, in any way, is sweet; to serve Him in search of perfection; to leave all and follow His footsteps is indeed an inheritance which falls not to the lot of every man. Christ's call to Father Lajoie was a call to perfection, to the higher life, to the Christ-like life; and Father Lajoie heard and followed. Sixty years have now rolled by. Sixty years of faithful labor, sixty years of vows unbroken, sixty years of Christ-like labor are the bright jewels of his heavenly crown.

Before the next issue of THE VIATORIAN the people of the United States will have chosen a leader for the next four years. Never perhaps has a more bitter campaign been waged over the country. Each of the three candidates is making extravagant promises of what good his election will bring about, yet the people need not be misled by any vain promises which these men make in their fervor, for the merits of the candidates can be learned from facts. Two of the candidates have held the office to which they hope to be re-elected. The third candidate although never having held the highest office within the gift of the people of the United States is nevertheless a man of public life. He has been elected governor of his state and held other positions of honor and public trust. Thus the voter may, if he chooses, know the merits and demerits of these men; he can learn how they have acted in the past under various circumstances, and what their position has been on different public questions, and from these facts he can form a fair estimate of how each of the aspirants will conduct himself if chosen president. The day of party politics has passed. The question, is he Democrat or Republican, should sink into disuse and instead it should be asked, is he honest? And, is he capable?

∴ OBITUARY NOTICES ∴

"Blessed are they who die in the Lord."

On August the 30th, the Rev. Donat L. Crowe, pastor of the church of the Visitation, Kewanee, Ill., died in Calvary Hospital, Rome, Italy. News of the death of this esteemed priest was received by his many friends throughout the entire state with feelings of deep regret, for he was well known and greatly loved by those with whom he came in contact.

Father Crowe was born in West Troy, New York, June 2nd, 1862, and received his early education in the schools of Oswego, N. Y., De La Salle Institute, Toronto, Canada, St. Joseph College, Teutopolis, Ill. He made his seminary studies at St. Meinrad's Abbey, Indiana and the Grand Seminary in Montreal, being ordained in 1885. During his long and useful life, he successively was pastor at Brimfield, Streator, Chatsworth, Piper City, Cullom, Utica and Kewanee, having been pastor of the last place for the past fifteen years.

Last spring Father Crowe, accompanied by his sister, departed for a prolonged visit in Europe, and it was while in the Eternal City, that he was stricken with a severe attack of heart disease superinduced by rheumatism from which he had been suffering since childhood. He was removed to Calvary Hospital, and after lingering for several weeks was unable in his weakened condition to combat the inroads of his ailment and having peacefully received the blessing of Our Holy Father, the Pope, at the hands of his representative, Bishop O'Hanlan of Uganda, slept in the Lord on the 30th day of August, the feast of St. Rose of Lima, the first American Saint.

Having the knowledge that the end was near at hand, Father Crowe sent his last message to his congregation on the 20th of August, conveying his dying blessing to them with the assurance of his gratitude for their devotion in remembering him in their affectionate prayers, beseeching them not to be unmindful of his soul in death.

Father Crowe was a friend of this Institute and was a generous benefactor of the Clerics of St. Viator, having been instrumental in sending to the Community, Rev. J. P. O'Mahoney, C. S. V., president of St. Viators College, Rev. J. D. Kirley, C. S. V., and Bro. A. Renilla.

Father Crowe leaves to mourn his loss, his aged mother, two brothers, Very Dean Crowe M. R., Jacksonville, Ill., President of Routt College and Rev. Joseph B. Crowe, assistant pastor of St. John Berchman's Church, Chicago, also two sisters, Sr. M. Camilla, St. Louis, Mo., and Miss Loretta Crowe of Chicago; a younger sister, who was a Carmelite Nun having preceeded him in death a few years ago; and countless other friends throughout the state, who pray that the soul of the deceased may rest in peace. Father Crowe was buried in Rome, according to his dying request to be buried in the Eternal City.

Brother Charles Saulin, C. S. V.

Word has been received from the Viatorian Institute at Lyons, France, of the death of Brother Charles Saulin, Major Catechist of the Congregation, on August 28th. By the death of Brother Saulin, the Clerics lose another member of the Order, who was one of the first to take vows after the Venerable Founder, Rev. Father Querbes had received the approval of the Constitutions from His Holiness Pope Gregory XVI. The deceased Brother was one of the oldest members of the Community as he was 92 years of age at the time of his death, and had spent 73 years in religion. It had been the happiness of the deceased to see the Viatorian Tree spring from the soil of his native city, to see it grow strong and flourish and finally to see it full grown, spreading its many branches over the face of the earth, and bearing the choicest fruits of Christian Education. We earnestly pray that the Merciful Saviour in whose service Brother Saulin so faithfully labored for 73 years will speedily hear our prayers and cause his soul to rest in peace.

Master Clarence Bewersdorf.

During the summer the Angel of Death summoned the pure soul of Master Clarence Bewersdorf, son of Alderman and Mrs. Bewersdorf of Chicago, to his final reward. Clarence was a child of sunny disposition and of endearing qualities and his smiling countenance will be greatly missed by his many friends and classmates at St. Viators. Death came as a blessed release from intense sufferings and was due to a complication of diseases; for while confined with a severe case of pneumonia he contracted spinal meningitis which caused his death during the latter part of August. The sympathy of the many friends of the deceased is extended to the sorrowing parents and it is the earnest prayer of all that the compassionate Saviour will comfort them in their loss, for we know that their child is now happy in Heaven, free from all pain and suffering.

The prayerful sympathy of the Faculty and of his many friends at St. Viators, is extended to Mr. Ciro Boeta of Tampico, Mexico, and to the family who mourn the loss of a loving son and brother. All unite in praying for the soul of Master Boeta and also that God will comfort those who mourn his loss.

EXCHANGES

At the commencement of the journalistic year of 1912-13, when the new exchange editor tremblingly moistens his quill, to assume for the first time, the onerous duties of the critic, a few words outlining the policy of the ex-man might not be out of place. THE VIATORIAN, at all times invites criticism from her correspondents in exchangedom. She is grateful for any criticism pointing out something of special merit in her pages, and she is not less appreciative of that criticism, which in a friendly manner, calls attention to her faults.

On her part, THE VIATORIAN shall criticise freely and frankly. She shall be glad to encourage a high literary standard among her contemporaries by bestowing a word of praise on any production of especial literary merit, or by suggesting some improvement wherever such appears to us, to be needed. We shall bear in mind, however, the admonition of Boileau "La critique est aise'e, l'art est difficile."

The ex-man extends to all his friends in ex-dom, hearty greetings and sincere wishes for a pleasant and successful year.

The first journal on the table to catch our eye is the Ignatian. It presents an attractive appearance and the arrangement of the material is an evidence of good taste. The ment of the question "Capital and Labor." But the jewel of the paper, to our eye, is the poem "Vivum e Vivo" by Francis J. D'Andreis. In this poem, the author portrays the position of materialistic evolutionists, who attribute the origin and development of life solely to inanimate matter. Their doctrine is shown to be utterly unbearable, aye, even ridiculous and thus by a "reductio ad absurdum" the writer proves the truth of the old Scholasttic saying "Vivum e vivo" (Life springs only from a living organism.)

The July number of The Manhattan Quarterly contains an abundance of sober reading matter. "The Pearl of Great Price" a Baccalaureate address by Rt. Rev. Mgr. Kean, is well worth reading. The other articles of the Quarterly are of similar high grade.

The Fordham Monthly, while it contains some excellent articles, especially the poem, "A Degraded Muse" certainly cannot boast of a very attractive cover. At first sight we thought it was decorated with an advertisement, but on closer view we perceived it to be the list of contents. We are not sure but what this might, without any serious damage to the artistic beauty of the initial page, be relegated to a less conspicuous place, while a photograph of the university or something of a similar nature might more effectively enhance the beauty of the page that first greets the eye. For whether justly or unjustly, the outward appearance goes a long way in influencing a critic's judgment of a production, and is a quality that cannot well be neglected.

The Dial, from St. Mary's, Kansas, is among the most welcome of our visitors. The essay "Reverence for the Law" clearly demonstrates that liberty consists in obedience to just laws and is not, as some would have us believe, a license to commit every sort of deed, no matter how criminal, and then claim for its justification under the sacred and much abused name of liberty.

We welcome The Champion from Prairie Du Chien, Wis., and wish it success on its entrance into college journalism. Though but of recent origin, The Champion contains a pleasing variety of matter and displays the literary skill of a veteran.

Villa De Chantel of Rock Island, Illinois, has just cause to be proud of its crowning literary effort, "Days and Deeds," the year book of the class of 1912. Containing over a hundred pages of well-diversified contents, it appears to us to be a souvenir which every graduate will highly prize. Let us here from you regularly "Days and Deeds," and accept our sincere wishes that your Days will be ever pleasant and your deeds be always brave!

For variety of matter, ranging from a treatise on Sociology to a poem "On an Old Oak Tree" or from a Story of Travel to an article on sculpture, for a comprehensive record of current events, and for stories that instruct as well as entertain, we cannot help but declare the Rosary Magazine to be one of the best Catholic magazines of today. In the August number, the article, "From Vera Cruz to the City of Mexico," illustrated by more than a dozen photographs, is especially interesting and timely because it gives us an insight into the true conditions of Mexico, which on account of its continued revolutions, is at present the cynosure of all civilized countries. May you continue to maintain your high standard of excellence, Rosary, for the ex-man is always ready to extend to you a hearty welcome.

We take especial pleasure in welcoming to our sanctum, Mount St. Charles College, Scholastic, published by Mount St. Charles College, Helena, Montana. We notice that the new President of St. Charles College is Rev. J. L. McMullen, M. A., is an alumnus of St. Viator's and we extend to him our hearty congratulations upon his elevation. We feel confident that the journal of which Fr. McMullen is Editor-in-Chief will be among the most interesting and delightful of our exchanges. Success to you, Mt. St. Charles Scholastic, upon your entrance into ex-land.

We are glad to acknowledge the receipt of the following: The Exponent, Mount St. Joseph Collegian, The Notre Dame Scholastic, The Nazareth Chimes, The Young Eagle, The Morning Star, The Schoolman, St. Vincent College Journal, McMaster University Monthly, The Collegian, St. John University of Ottawa Review, Villa Sancto Scholastica, The Pacific Star, Echoes, Duquesne Monthly, St. Ursula's Quarterly, Georgetown College Journal, The Nazarine, etc.

SOCIETIES

How to associate with our fellow-men, is a more serious problem than many imagine. Careful and earnest thought is required in its solution. We notice many men travelling life's path serenely and without an apparent mishap, cleverly avoiding the numerous pitfalls, bravely meeting, and dexterously overcoming all obstacles. Such men as these are the ones who make life a success. Tact and good nature are generally their predominant characteristics. These precious qualities they acquire, as a general rule, by careful study of characters with whom they come in contact. They realize that man by his very nature must associate with his fellow men, and hence he must determine how to associate. We, as students, should also realize this fact and make it a special study. No place could be more prolific with advantages for the tyro in this study than a college such as ours. [For here the student comes into daily and intimate contact with his fellow students, not only on the campus, and in the classrooms, but especially in societies. Hence one of the best results derived from societies is that they teach us how to act towards our fellow students. Societies have various ends it is true, and always must have an end and pursue it at all times or it will soon cease to be a society. But association is also essential. Thus the society is one of the most potent factors in college life for developing the thorough man. Numerous other advantages are reaped by membership in a society, but this one great advantage alone should induce the thorough student to enter society life. We have a number of well organized societies of which we justly feel proud. Membership in one or more of these will certainly produce lasting results for the better in every student.

Class Organization.

For the past seven years class organization has thrived under the untiring and preserving labor of the collegiates. Like all incipient societies it has encountered numerous obstacles, only to surmount them and grow in strength. The octet of '12 battled hard and faithfully to make class organization a success. Considering their various and unusual handicaps their success was admirable. They bequeathed '13 a splendid example, and hence deserved no mean account of credit. So with such an example before them '13, powerful in number and quality ought, without a doubt, to make this a banner year for class organizations. Their success ought to exceed that of '12, and this we will expect. Under such competent leaders as Mr. Thomas Harrison, President; and Mr. Gilbert Flynn, Vice-President; Mr. Timothy Rowan, Secretary; and Mr. Francis Brady, Treasurer, this class can be depended upon to make this year a "hummer." However, they expect, and surely will receive, the hardy co-operation of the Juniors, Sophomore and Freshman classes.

Glee Club.

Competition among the many singers, reputable and otherwise, is waxing strong. Numbers of candidates have received much encouragement from Father Sheridan, and are very emulous to win one of the coveted places on the monster glee club now being organized. With such competition we ought to expect and do expect to be entertained this year by one of the largest and best glee clubs in years. One hundred and twenty-five candidates are in the field, consisting of many voices that would make Caruso "sit up and take notice." Rev. F. A. Sheridan, C. S. V., is being assisted in this trying work by Prof. Chas. P. Jochem. With two such men as leaders we can expect much. So we wish them and all the candidates success.

Thespians.

St. Viator's day, October 21st, will witness the first appearance of the Thespians for this Scholastic Year. They are now practicing hard and patiently under the competent direction of versatile Father Sheridan. "College Startegy" rich in original and fresh humor and overflowing with real college life will be staged. There are twenty-two characters and it will take about three hours to enact the play. Considering the enviable reputation of many of our Thespians of last year, who are again with us, there are promising candidates for Foot-light Honors, and the experience of the Reverend Director, this play ought to be a great success. The characters have been selected and the new material combined with the old reliable seems to point to a band of Thespians without a precedent. Success, Father, and may this be the red letter year for the Thespian Club.

Acolythical Society.

Determined to serve Our Lord in the sanctuary even better than last year this society is the first to reorgnize. Brother Marzano's ability as a director was duly recognized by his reappointment as Moderator. This society is one of the most active we possess. Its admirable work is probably not so apparent because it is so connected with the ordinary routine. But a glance into the chapel any morning of the year will reveal part of its noble work. Students as members of this society should realize that they possess no mean honor. On Sunday, September 15th, an election resulted in the following coterie of willing and active officers: President, Walter Steidle; Vice-President, Leo Phillips; Secretary, Arthur Landroche; Serg.-at-Arms, Daniel Duchene.

The Band and the Orchestra.

The band has reorganized with sixteen competent members, and the orchestra with twelve accomplished musicians. So, with music galore, winter ought to lose much of its bleakness, and many a "new one" much of the blues. The service and enjoyment received from these two sources can never receive too much credit. Probably no other society in the college works so perseveringly and consistently as do the band and orchestra. The effect of its arduous work is imparted apparently unnoticed. But only apparently. For the sweet charm of music often soothes our hearts in sorrow, and rejoices them in gladness. In chapel on Festive days the harmonious strains of orchestra and choir, with the silent prayer of the student flow together, like a crystal stream of many beautiful inlets, into the limitless ocean of love. So we sincerely wish the band and the orchestra every success under the experienced direction of Father Sheridan. Have no fear of entertaining too frequently.

INTER-ALIA

On Tuesday, September 10, St. Viator began the forty-fifth scholastic year with the largest attendance in the history of the institution. The influx of students began several days before and by Monday night the campus literally swarmed with students. The formal opening was at 8:30 A. M., when with all the pomp of religious ceremony the entire student body attended the Mass in honor of the Holy Ghost, for the purpose of obtaining God's blessing upon the coming year's efforts. The Very Rev. President J. P. O'Mahoney celebrated and preached an eloquent sermon on the true end of education. He spoke of education that was the up-builder of character and the former of the manly man, the man with all the power of his rational nature trained in accordance with the laws of God and man. He exhorted the students to co-operate with their professors, explained to them what was expected in their relations to each other. In the afternoon the regulations governing the student body were read to the boys in their various study halls, after which the day was spent in various games. Classes began on Wednesday, Sept. 11th.

*Jubilee
Celebration at the College*

The Sacerdotal Diamond Jubilee of the Very Rev. P. D. Lajoie, Superior General of the Clerics of St. Viator was observed in a befitting manner by the Faculty and student body of the College on September 12th. Manifestations of joy were exhibited by all the residents of the institution over the celebration of this feast in honor of this saintly priest who has been so blessed that he has reached the ripe old age of eighty-six, with his faculties unimpaired. To the celebration of the jubilee at the General Motherhouse in Belgium, His Eminence Cardinal Vincenzo Vannutelli, the special Legate of Our Holy Father on this occasion, brought together with the well wishes of His Holiness, Pope Pius X, the precious spiritual gift of a plenary indulgence for all the members of the Community, benefactors and students who would, on that day confess and receive Holy Communion. On the morning of the Feast the Very Rev. J. P. O'Mahoney, President, celebrated Mass and preached in honor of the occasion. During the Mass the students took advantage of the rescript of the Holy Father and received Communion in a body for the intention of the Jubilarian. During the eulogistic discourse of the President, he said that owing to the unsettled conditions resulting from the opening of school, the free day in honor of the celebration would be granted at a later date. Special music was rendered by the choir and in the evening Solemn Benediction of the Most Blessed Sacrament was given at the close of which the soul-stirring "Te Deum" was chanted by the congregation.

Solemn funeral services for the late Rev. D. L. Crowe, who died in Rome, were held in the Church of the Visitation at Kewanee, Ill., on September 5th, where Solemn hundreds of parishoners, past and present,
Funeral countless friends and a large concourse of Mass. clergymen assembled to pay their last respects to the departed priest. The solemn requiem mass was sung by Very Rev. Dean Crowe of Jacksonville, Illinois, assisted by Father Joseph Crowe of Chicago as Deacon, Father Murtaugh of Sheffield, as Sub-deacon, Father Gillea of Peoria Master of Ceremonies, and Father Lyons of Galesburg and Father Conrad of Atkinson, Acolytes. Bishop O'Reilly of Peoria, who was chosen to preach the funeral oration, was unable to attend on account of the fact that the train on which he was traveling was wrecked, thus making it impossible for him to arrive in time to take part in the ceremonies. In consequence Rev. J. P. O'Mahoney, C. S. V., President of the College preached the sermon. In the sermon Father O'Mahoney dwelt upon the many qualities of the deceased priest and said, that "twenty years ago he met Father Crowe for the first time on which occasion he himself had high aspirations for the Priesthood and that by the help of the departed priest that which was only a dream, became a reality." The substance of his sermon was taken from the last message of Father Crowe to his congregation. Father O'Mahoney stated, that the lips that spoke the last message have been closed, and the voice hushed, but that the silent voice will live in the hearts of the people forever and make life more cherished, more pleasant, and more blessed. Let the last message of Father Crowe serve as a motto to the children of the Visitation parish. He enjoined the people of the parish ever to remember especially these words of the message "as ye have loved me in life, be ye not forgetful of me in death," and dwelt upon their significance, stating that although the mortal remains are dead, the spirit still lives and it is that which the beloved friends should love and cherish.

The teaching staff of the Seminary Department has been augmented in the person of Rev. Joseph P. Munday, D. D., who will occupy the chair of Dogmatic Theology

Dr. Munday and be Professor of Canon Law, Ecclesiastical History and Patrology, for the present appointed scholastic year. Dr. Munday is one of the Professor. most distinguished of the Viatorian Alumni.

He finished his Classical and Theological courses at St. Viator and during his college career won several distinctions, among them the Philosophy medal in 1905, and had the honor of being chosen Baccalaureate orator of his class. After he graduated from S. V. C., he attended the Catholic University of America where he made a post graduate course in Theology obtaining the Licentiate in 1910 with highest honors. He also did special work in Exegesis, Apologetics and Canon Law and won several fellowships. Later he was a member of the University professorial staff as a member of the faculty of the School of Divinity in the capacity of Associate-Professor of Theology. During the past year he was in Rome furthering his Theological studies and a few months ago received the Doctorate of Theology at the Roman University after brilliantly defending one hundred eighty dogmatic thesis before the Board of Examiners. The Faculty and friends of the institution feel highly elated over the appointment of Dr. Munday and his acquisition speaks well for the great strides being made by the Faculty to place the Viatorian Seminary among the leading ecclesiastical institutions of the middle west.

REV. JOSEPH MUNDAY, D. D.

With the advent of the new scholastic year, a change has been made in the various departments at St. Viator's.

Department No more will be hear of the Minims, Juniors
Changes. and Seniors, but will attune our ears to the classical names of Acedemics and Collegiates.

The Minim and Junior Departments have been consolidated and the sixth grade will be eliminated, and the year following, the eighth grade will be discontinued. St. Viator's then will have no grades lower than the High School. It is with regret that we bade goodbye to the wonderful Minims, the doughty little warriors of many athletic contest, the sturdy youngsters, whose ability we never doubted. But now they are no more and our expectations and affections will be lavished on the New Academics. As for the Collegiates, we feel sure they will live up to the reputation of the old Seniors. Rev. T. J. Rice is again Prefect of Discipline, assisted by Bros. St. Aubin and Farrell in charge of the Acedemics and Bros. Lowney and Brady in charge of the Collegiates.

The new church of St. Catherine of Genoa, Genoa, Ill., was solemnly dedicated on Sunday, September 1st, by the Rt.

Rev. P. J. Muldoon, Bishop of Rockford. St.

Dedication of Catherine's Church is in charge of Rev. Thom-
St. Catherine's as O'Brien, a loyal alumnus of St. Viator

Church. College, who in the few short years of his ministerial life has done much for the furtherance of the Kingdom of Christ on earth. Father O'Brien while at college gave every evidence of being a capable and energetic priest, for whether it was in the class room or on the athletic field, he always devoted his energies toward doing his work well. A few short months ago Father O'Brien was delegated by his Bishop to organize this new parish. After some difficulty, a suitable site for a church was purchased, and that he has made every effort to justify the choice of his superiors in sending him to Genoa, is amply testified to by the fact that the new church edifice was practically paid for on the day of dedication. Bishop Muldoon was assisted at the dedicatory services by Rev. A. Hurth of Hampshire as assistant; Rev. T. Burke of Rochelle as deacon, Father Considine of Dixon as sub-deacon, Father Joyce of Belvidere, and Father O'Hara of Sycamore, deacons of honor, and Father Flanagan of Rockford, master of ceremonies. Very Rev. J. P. O'Mahoney, president of St. Viator's preached the dedication sermon.

The staff of the VIATORIAN extend heartiest wishes for success to Father O'Brien in his new charge.

On September 20th St. Viator's had the pleasure of entertaining Mr. F. T. O'Hair, Democratic Candidate for Congress, 18th District of Illinois. Mr. O'Hair,

Visit of
F. T. O'Hair. accompanied by Attorney Smith of Kankakee and Mr. Jas. Mullaney, an alumnus of St. Viator's, was received by the Rev. Pres. J. P. O'Mahoney. The guests were afterwards received by the entire student body in the college theatre, where after a brief, but witty introduction by Mr. Smith, Mr. O'Hair addressed the students in an entertaining manner. He spoke of the need of the learned man in politics, showing how the political situation was one that needed brainy men for its correct solution. He said the college was the only place where principles of integrity, industry and honesty were and could be instilled into the young and that if any ever decide to enter the political field, they would find these manly qualities, the greatest assets in doing their duty toward the people whom they will represent. Mr. O'Hair also related in an amusing manner some of his own college experiences, and called to the mind of all, the fact that the three presidential candidates were all college men. After his address Mr. O'Hair held an informal reception and promised to return at some future time. The distinguished guest departed amid the lusty cheers of the student body.

Father Durkin, an alumnus of St. Viator, and for the past twelve years pastor of St. Malachy's Church, Rantoul, has been appointed to the pastorate of Visitation Church, Kewanee, Ill., to succeed the Appointment of Father Durkin. Rev. D. L. Crowe, who died recently at Rome, Italy. This promotion is proof of the zeal and executive ability of Father Durkin, for since his pastorate at Rantoul, he has built St. Malachy's Church at that place, and St. Mary's Church, Paxton; the latter in the face of much opposition. Although it was with feelings of keenest regret that the people of Rantoul bade goodbye to their zealous and beloved pastor, the tidings of Father Durkin's promotion was yet pleasing to them, for they felt he was well deserving of such a reward. The news of Father Durkin's promotion was received with gladness at St. Viator's where he has held the chair of Scripture for the past five years. His promotion is considered a fitting recognition of the many excellent qualities which Father Durkin possesses.

That the same measure of success will crown Fr. Durkin's efforts at Kewanee, as crowned his labors during the past years, is the earnest wish of the Viatorians. Rev. Henry Hahn, also a former student of St. Viator's, is the assistant of Fr. Durkin.

With this issue of THE VIATORIAN, the new board of editors makes its bow to the public. It is the intention of the new staff to make this a banner year for the college paper. The Board is one of the most able that has graced the editorial staff of THE VIATORIAN in years, and we hope that all patrons will be pleased with their efforts and do all in their power to assist them in their labors. To do this it is not only necessary to give the staff moral support, but also financial assistance, for it is utterly impossible to conduct a paper on imaginary funds. Hence we would earnestly admonish those who have not as yet sent in their subscription for the coming year to do so at once.

We earnestly request our readers, friends, patrons, and well-wishers to consider our long list of advertisers, as we owe much to these men and take particular pleasure in recommending the various firms to our patrons, for those who advertise with us deserve the patronage of every friend of this institution. Our list comprises firms whose reputation for reliability, integrity, and promptitude are unquestionable. Please patronize our advertisers for "One Good Turn Deserves Another."

Frequently on account of the increased growth of THE Viatorian Colleges in America, it becomes necessary to make changes in the various departments of the institutions in order to place each member of the community where he can render the most valuable service. Although the faculty of St. Viator remains practically the same as that of last year, nevertheless several changes are worthy of note. Rev. P. E. Brown and Brothers Drain and Kelly have been assigned to duty at Columbus College, Chamberlain, S. D.; Rev. J. D. Laplante is at present at the Normal Institute, Chicago, Ill., and Rev. Father O'Leary, formerly of Columbus College, has been appointed at St. Viator's. Bro. Boisvert is also stationed at the Mother-house. Prof. Jochem, besides teaching music, will also teach the advanced classes in German. Rev. Dr. Munday has accepted the Chair of Dogmatic Theology and will also teach Canon Law, Ecclesiastical History and Patrology. Rev. Father O'Mahoney will teach Ascetic Theology and give weekly lectures on Pastoral Theology. The Professorships of Liturgy and Scripture have as yet not been appointed, as these branches do not begin until the first of November. Arrangements are also being made to procure the services of a professor who will take exclusive charge of the Departments of Biology and Chemistry.

∴ ALUMNI NOTES ∴

THE VIATORIAN wishes to make a supreme effort this year towards reaching more loyal members of the Alumni Association than it has in years past. Each and every member of the Alumni Association should feel the necessity of keeping in touch with his Alma Mater, and what is more important, that his real friends should keep in touch with him. The old students though widely scattered and in various walks of life, will render great assistance to the editors of THE VIATORIAN by keeping them informed as to their movements from time to time. An occasional note from you will be appreciated by us, and it may be of some assistance to you.

Messrs. A. O'Connell, A. B. '09, and James Dougherty, A. B. '08, spent a few pleasant days at the college before the opening of the scholastic year.

The graduating class of '12 is widely scattered, and its noteworthy members are greatly missed from our midst. Mr. Joseph Gordon has enrolled at St. Paul's Seminary, St. Paul, Minn., as a student for the diocese of Peoria. Mr. Joseph Lareau is attending the Grand Seminary at Montreal, Canada, as an ecclesiastical student. Mr. Wm. A. Sammon is battling with the mysteries of Blackstone, at Wesleyan University, Bloomington, Ill., Mr. Richard O'Loughlin has not as yet chosen a school in which to finish his education. He is at present employed in the electrical business in Chicago and intends to remain in this line for the remainder of the present scholastic year. Mr. Gerald Bergan will complete his Theological Course in the North American College at Rome.

Rev. Joseph Kangley, '07, who until recently was assistant pastor at St. Mary's Church, Pontiac, Ill., is at present in New York where he will take the examinations for a chaplaincy in the U. S. Navy. Our best wishes go with Father Kangley and we sincerely hope that he will be successful in his present undertaking.

Dr. Wm. McGuire, B. S. '10, who is at present an interne at Mercy Hospital, Chicago, spent a few days on the old stamping ground during the past month.

Mr. Walter J. Nourie A. M., '12, spent a few days at the college on his way to Michigan University where he will complete his law course next June.

Mr. Elder Souligne A. B. '11, has returned to Grand Seminary in Canada to enter upon his second year of Theology.

Rev. J. L. O'Donnell, Assistant Pastor of Maternity Church, Chicago, is at present at Long Island, N. Y., taking a well earned rest.

Wm. Sammon A. B. '12, James M. Fitzgerald and a party of friends, motored over from Peoria and spent a delightful day at the college on the 4th of September.

Rev. G. P. Mulvaney, C. S. V., former professor at the college, but for the past two years Chaplain of the Academy of the Incarnate Word, San Antonio, Texas, visited the college during the summer and spent several pleasant days amid the scenes of his former labors. After spending a short time visiting relatives in his native city, Oconto, Wis., the Reverend Father returned to his southern home where he is forced to remain an exile, as his health does not permit him to live in the north on account of the severity of the climate.

Mr. Ed. Harvey, '12 H. S., is now studying law at Northwestern University, Evanston, Ills. He is also completing his studies in Art at the Art Institute, Chicago, Ills.

Mr. Fred Shippy, A. B. '09 A. M. '11, has returned to the Seminary of the Holy Angels, at Niagara, New York and will be ordained for the Diocese of Chicago during the Christmas holidays.

Rev. F. J. Moisant, C. S. V., who is doing missionary work in McMinnville, Oregon, in the Archdiocese of Oregon

City recently succeeded in utterly routing a local minister in a controversy concerning the "Guardians of Bigotry." It is needless to say that the Reverend Father was successful, as his fighting qualities, especially in matters of truth and religion are well known. Nice work, Father, we are with you and hope that the same success shall always crown your efforts.

On Sept. 25th, at the Motherhouse of the Clerics of St. Viator, Mr. John Bradoc, H. S. '12, received the holy habit of the Order. Fr. Rivard preached the sermon which preceded the solemn ceremonies of the vestiture. After his novitiate, Brother Bradoc will enter the Scholasticate of the Order at Bourbonnais, Ill., to complete his studies for the priesthood. The many friends of Brother Bradoc wish him every success in life and sincerely hope that his career as a Christian Educator will be full of success and happiness.

Mr. Wm. Carroll, A. B. '09, has re-entered Yale University, where he has been pursuing a course in Law during the past year. Since his departure from the college, Mr. Carroll, was for several years press reporter for the daily paper at Waterbury, Conn.

The Chicago Daily Journal, the oldest daily newspaper in Illinois, has secured the services of Mr. Jeremiah P. O'Mahoney A. B. '11 as an editorial feature writer. Mr. O'Mahoney is official correspondent for St. Viator College. Mr. O'Mahoney's articles in the Daily Journal are copyrighted by the Press Publishing Company.

Mr. Philip McCaffrey, H. S. '12 spent a few hours at the college as the guest of his many friends, recently. "Phil" will not return this year but intends to take a course in medicine at the College of Physicians and Surgeons, Chicago, Ill.

On the programme of the November term of Court of Kankakee Co., we notice on the roster of lawyers, the names of several distinguished Alumni of St. Viator College, who have gained prominence in our neighboring city. Among others we may mention, Mr. Alexis Granger, A. B. '87, graduate of Northwestern Law School, class of '90, and who has practiced law in Kankakee ever since; Mr. Wm. A. Savary, although not a graduate of St. Viators, he is nevertheless a good friend of the institution, and spent several years at the college, after which he attended Laval University in Canada, where he completed his course in law; Mr. Henry [F. Ruel, A. B. '96, one of the successful commercial lawyers in the state; Mr. E. A. Marcotte, A. B. '00, graduated from Illinois College of Law '04. Burns, also an old student, in the legal profession, and lastly, James L. Dougherty, A. B. '08, who studied law at the Catholic Univ., at Washington, D. C., and completed his course at Loyola University, Chicago, Ill., 1911.

Mr. Gerald Bergan, '12, was appointed by Rt. Rev. E. M. Dunne, Bishop of Peoria, shortly after commencement, to pursue his theological studies at the North American College in Rome, Italy. Thus another name is added to the long list of our Alumni who have studied in the Eternal city. Among others who have studied abroad we may mention, Rt. Rev. Mgr. Legris, D. D., professor of moral theology and Rev. Jos. Munday, D. D., professor of Dogmatic theology and Canon Law at St. Viator Seminary; Rev. John Flannigan, secretary of Bishop Muldoon of Rockford, Ill.; Rev. Wm. Keefe, Indianapolis, Ind.; Rev. F. Walsh, Peoria, Ill., and Rev. Martin Hayden, Rev. [Fr. Gaffney, D. D., and Rev. Fr. Rivard, C. S. V., D. D., of Chicago, Ill.

The Rev. W. J. Clifford, C S. V., of the Provincial House of the Clerics of St. Viator, Chicago, will assist Rev. Felix A. Byrne, Diocesan Missioner of the LaCross Apostolate in missionary labors during the coming year. Fathers Byrnes and Clifford have just closed a series of success missions in Chariton, Leon, Oseola and Woodburn, Iowa. These are the only cities in the counties of Lucas, Clark and Decatur that are Mission centers. There are only about one hundred faithful Catholic families in the three counties and these are attended by only one priest. The Reverend Fathers announce that their dates are filled until December 1, 1912.

ATHLETICS

Mr. Albert M. Kelly, alumnus of St. Viator and former athletic star of Notre Dame University, has been engaged by our capable Manager Harrison, to coach the foot ball squad. Mr. Kelly hardly needs an introduction as he is one of the well known athletes of the middle west. After graduating from St. Viator in '07, he entered the University of Notre Dame where he became very prominent in football and baseball circles. He was the star halfback of the N. D. U. football team of '09 which won the Western Championship and which according to many critics is the best eleven that has ever defended the gold and blue. St. Viator and Manager Harrison ought well be congratulated on securing the services of Mr. Kelly. He is an experienced coach and very well acquainted with football. He is agreeable and popular with his players and above all has the earmark of a true athlete, "a little pepper gang." In his work with the candidates he is doing splendidly and with each workout prospects for a successful season grow brighter. THE VIATORIAN in the name of the faculty and student body warmly extends welcome to Mr. Kelly.

Gridiron "stock" at St. Viator is unusually good this season, although there is a minus quantity of veteran candidates. Thirty candidate complete the roster. Captain Harrison will in all probability be quarterback again. The other veterans who are reporting daily for practice are Shea, Sherman, Fisher, Schaefer, Dunn, Mugan, Welch. The appearance of these players in uniform has given rise to great prospects. They were the nucleus of last year's eleven and with the abundant new material on hand we predict a fast football team. "Doc" Primeau, halfback, and McGee at end are showing surprising ability and their work has been causing much comment. A heavy line is assured by the arrival of a crowd of big and broad recruits and Coach Kelly's trouble will consist mainly in forming the backfield and ends. The new candidates are Clarence Fischer, O'Brien, Kitson, Houle, Brennan, McGee, Hogan, Lonergan, Rebedeau, Primeau, A. Shea, Maguire, Boisvert, Cawley, Clifford, Donnelly, Murray, Hicks, Harrington, Griffin, Sullivan and Kalt. Preliminary conditioning is practically over and training consists in road workouts and scrimmage practice. Manager Harrison announces the following schedule:

Sept. 28—Grand Prairie Seminary vs. St. Viator at Onarga.

Oct. 5—Notre Dame University vs. St. Viator at Notre Dame.

Oct. 12—Open.

Oct. 19—St. Viator vs. Chicago College of Veterinary Surgeons at St. Viator.

Oct. 26—Christian Brothers College vs. St. Viator at St. Louis, Mo.

Nov. 2—St. Viator vs. Dixon at St. Viator.

Nov. 9—Loyola University vs. St. Viator at Loyola.

Nov. 16—Open.

Nov. 23—Open.

Nov. 28—DePaul University vs. St. Viator at DePaul.

Athletic Association.

The St. Viator Athletic Association held its regular meeting during the first week of school and the following officers were elected:

President—C. G. Fischer.

Vice President—T. L. Welsh.

Secretary—E. A. Kekich.

Treasurer—T. C. Harrison.

Each newly elected officer gave a stirring address to the students, laying special stress on the idea "to get out and root."

The Academics.

It is hardly probable that the Academics will turn out the sensational championship team of last year. However, Coach Cleary hopes for a fast team. A large number of candidates have reported but not a veteran has returned. A good schedule is being prepared and fast games are expected. The most promising candidates are Cyrier, Bowden, Rabb, Schlicher, Baker, Kissane, Fitzpatrick, Dillon, Flynn, Senesac, Shields, Ryan, Sampe, Vicory, D. Boyle, P. Boyle, J. Kane, Pepin and Joslyn.

Other Sports.

The bowling alleys are being prepared by an expert and lovers of that sport are eagerly awaiting the opening of the season. The billiard rooms are being constantly in use, although the cold weather has hardly yet set in. We have every reason to say that athletics at St. Viator will be unusually good this year. Leo Dougherty is in charge of the billiard room and will make a worthy successor to the famous Dick O'Loughlin.

St. Viator, 19; Onarga, 0.

The opening game of the season was played at Onarga where our squad administered the usual yearly defeat to Grand Prairie Seminary by a score of 19 to 0. Onarga played a desperate game but at no time was St. Viator in danger. Coach Kelly used fourteen of the squad numbering twenty-six. St. Viator worked with terrible persistency in the first two quarters, after which the game was practically over. The backfielders, especially the recruit Primeau did consistent work. Our line was heavily outweighed, but nevertheless played a splendid game. Of the new material, McGee at right end made a surprisingly splendid showing. His interference was the big factor in the result of the game. Tackles Schaefer and Fischer and end Sherman made the touchdowns. Harrison kicked the solitary goal.

Notre Dame, 116; St. Viator, 7.

On October 5th Notre Dame overwhelmed St. Viator by a score of 116 to 7 at Notre Dame. The Notre Dame men outweighed us by probably forty pounds to the man and that fact alone speaks for the terrible defeat. St. Viator against such great odds played a plucky game, fighting until the end. Notre Dame's mainstay consisted in interference which was almost impregnable. McGee, St. Viator's right end, was the only man that could break up their interference with effect which he did time and time again. His work alone was so wonderful that the Notre Dame supporters soon got tired cheering his plays and could simply gap in their astonishment. We have also every reason to believe that Eichenlaub and a few other star defenders of the "Gold and Blue" were much surprised at the work of our little right end. Welch, our right halfback, put up the battle of his life. At all moments of the game he was in the thick of the fray. Notre Dame's back field is easily one of the best in the country, with Eichenlaub and Dorais, stars. The work of these two players was a feature. Not as the score would seem to indicate the game was under the circumstances a brilliant one and better work could not possibly be expected of St. Viator. Notre Dame started the first quarter with a rush and a bang taking the advantage right from the start. Before the close of the period, Berger had made three touchdowns. Dorais had kicked goal three times. In the beginning of the second quarter Sherman, St. Viator's left end, picked up the ball on a fumble on Notre Dame sixty yard line and scored our first touch down. McGee's interference aided greatly in the scoring of this touchdown. The coaches of both squads replaced fresh men at short intervals. Coach Marks used his first squad in the first and third period and the second squad in the second and fourth periods. We feel instinctively sure that St. Viator will win the remaining games of their schedule. So keep up the spirit boys and go to it.

VIATORIANA

We're here!

Because—

Back to the simple life!

Are you homesick?

What class am I in?

Where can I find the key to the batting cage?

Teacher—"Remember that opportunity knocks at your door but once."

Wise Student—"I'll bet I was visiting when she came around my way."

The Philosophy class is the only class
I have no doubt at all
But the third Greek class
Is the banner class
For its got it on them all!

Hard luck for new football candidates! A bunch of (w)ringers have established their quarters in the old pool hall.

Duke—"Oh Muggins, oh Muggins
Why dost thou look so sad
Thy step is growing heavy
And thy face is looking bad."

Muggins—"Wouldst thou like to know the reason
Why I'm looking fit to kill
Its because I am separated
From my bow-legged little Bill."

Schaefer—"I saw a number of elephants leave a circus the other day."

New Guy—"Did they have their trunks checked when they left?"

Joe—"I got a weak back."

Eddie—"When did you get it?"

Joe—"Oh, about a week back."

The Rexall king is again among us.
