Rumored Viator Will Establish Aviation School

Rumor has been waxing strong over the campus for the past three days that the College Administration has definitely decided to establish a school of aviation here next year. Mr. Raoul Cote, a former Viator student and at present an instructor in the aviation school in Kankakee, is mentioned as the possible head of the new department.

Answers Demand

It is understood that the establishing of such a school was first taken under consideration when a canvas revealed that over 125 Kankakee high school boys are planning aviation as a career.

It is learned that, if the aviation school is added to the College, instruction will be given in Navigation, Meteorology, Air Currents, Theory of Mechanics and Dynamics.

The establishing of a school of aviation will be a part of the Viator extension plan, which was inaugurated last fall. The rumored move has met with enthusiastic approval from the alumni and students. In order to learn the real extent of this student enthusiasm, the VIATORIAN has printed elsewhere a ballot and full instructions for its use.

Father Lynch Gains Renown

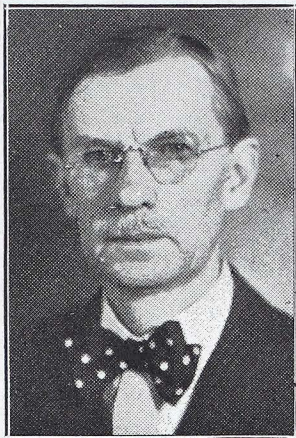

The Rev. T. J. Lynch, one time head of the English Department and Dean of Studies at St. Viator College, has written an interesting article on "The Aesthetic Theory of Benedetto Croce" for the April issue of the "New Scholasticism," a philosophical quarterly published by the Catholic University Press. Father Lynch is at present instructor in English at Mt. St. Joseph College, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania.

Anyone so fortunate to have had the opportunity to study under Father Lynch's direction can bear eloquent testimony to the beauty of expression of which he is capable. The almost Oriental luxuriance of phrasing of which this article abounds, is the work of a master well able to bear the torch of Croce's fashioning to greater and more brilliant triumphs.

DR. J. GARNER

Dr. J. Garner To Address I.R.C. May 23

It is with great pleasure that the VIATORIAN announces that Dr. James Wilford, Garner, head of the department of political science at the University of Illinois, will be the guest speaker at a meeting of the International Relations Club, on Thursday, May 23, at seven-thirty P. M. Dr. Garner will give an informal talk on American Foreign policy since the World War.

James Wilford Garner attended Mississippi College where he received a Bachelor of Science degree in 1892. Eight years later he was awarded a Master of Philosophy degree at the University of Chicago. In the same year, 1900, he was made a university fellow in political science and public law. In 1901 he was a George William Curtis fellow and soon after that completed his work for a Doctor of Philosophy degree.

Active Career

Dr. Garner went to Columbia to assume the duties of lecturer in the history department. The University of Pennsylvania claimed his services in 1903-04 when he instructed political science students there. In 1904, this talented instructor came to the University of Illinois and has remained there until the present time.

Dr. Garner achieved international fame as the American collaborator for the French Revue Politique et Parlementaire during the years 1903-1914.

Noted Writer

When the New International Encyclopedia was being assembled, Dr. Garner proved a great help in its organization with his many articles on political and legal subjects. He is also noted for his contributions on the same subjects to the Encyclopedia Americana and Encyclopedia of the American Government. In 1910-11, Dr. Garner acted as editor-in-chief of the American Journal of Criminal Law and Criminology. He has been associate editor of the American Journal of International Law since 1924.

The French government recognized Dr. Garner's work in 1925 and as a token of their esteem awarded

Fr. J. O'Brien To Address 1935 Graduating Class

College To Bestow Honorary Degree of Doctor of Laws on U. of I. Chaplain

The Rev. John O'Brien, Ph. D., will address the graduating class here on Commencement Day, it was announced today. Father O'Brien, who is chaplain of the Catholic students at the University of Illinois, is a Viator graduate. On the occasion of his address next month, the College will bestow upon him the Honorary Degree of Doctor of Laws, in recognition of his outstanding literary and ecclesiastical work.

Doctor O'Brien is a figure of national renown as a frequent contributor to current literary organs, and as the author of several outstanding books.

After receiving an A. B. degree at St. Viator College, Doctor O'Brien took a Master degree at the Catholic University of America, and received a Ph. D. degree from the University of Illinois.

Since assuming his duties at the University, Doctor O'Brien has received the love and respect of the entire campus. He has been instrumental in securing large numbers of converts for the Church, and was the nucleus in the building of Newman Foundation at the University.

Alumnus Active As An Organizer

Reports of unusual activity among various groups—always an important factor in the progress of an educational institution—have been received with great satisfaction by officials and friends of St. Viator College.

In Chicago, particularly, is the "Viator" spirit among graduates and former students being revived in enthusiastic fashion by Sam McAllister, former head football, basketball and baseball coach.

McAllister matriculated at St. Viator in the fall of 1921. For three years he was an outstanding star on the College football, basketball and baseball teams attaining recognition on several Little Nineteen All-Star teams. Following his graduation in 1925 he was appointed head coach, a position which he held until 1930. In that year he left St. Viator to accept a position as basketball and baseball coach and assistant football coach at Alabama Polytechnical Institute. After three years of successful coaching at the southern institution, McAllister returned to Chicago to assist his family in the conduct of a transportation business.

Always an ardent "Viator" man, McAllister's attention was called to the need for a more closely-knit alumni body this spring when he unselfishly gave time and able assistance in the promotion of the benefit basketball game held in the 132nd Infantry Armory, Madison and Rockwell. Since that game he has thrown himself wholeheartedly into the work of inspiring existing alumni clubs and organizing new ones.

On behalf of the student body the Viatorian wishes to take this means of acknowledging the unselfish service of an outstanding alumnus.

College Club Clashes Over Nominations

Amidst a confusion of nominations, withdrawals, protests, political speeches, and the ignoring of all parliamentary rules, the College club held its nominations last Tuesday night. Thomas Kelly, '35, the retiring president, was forced continually to call the meeting to order, and to recognize the irregular demands of various political blocks in their attempts to railroad their candidates into office.

After the nominations for the presidency had been closed, the supporters of Ray Roche, '36, forced through a motion that the nominations be reopened, despite the concerted efforts of the Freshmen, who backed Edward O'Rourke, '37, to keep the nominations closed. Whereupon two of the nominees withdrew their names, and two other men were put forward. The final selections for president were: Ray Roche, '36; William Phelan, '37, Ed O'Rourke '37, and Robert Walsh, '37.

The position of vice-president was not contested, and Stephen Gould and Edward O'Brien were nominated. Immediately after the primaries had closed, Gould expressed his desire to withdraw, but it was too late to have his name stricken from the ballot.

Miss Mary Anthony was unanimously accepted as the candidate for the secretaryship. Several nominees were named, but all declined in favor of the coed.

Norbert Ellis and William Fleming were named to oppose each other in the race for treasurer. The meeting was surprised when these men accepted the nominations, as both had previously refused to run, Ellis declining to allow his name to stand for president, and Fleming for secretary.

The elections were to have been held Thursday noon, in the College Club room. William Gibbons and Chester Newberg were appointed judges of the elections while each class was ordered to have a checker at the polls.

Dean Names Essay Judges

The Rev. Leo Phillips, C. S. V., Dean of Studies, announced yesterday that the judges for the annual essay contest had been selected. The judges are: The Rev. J. W. R. Maguire, C. S. V., the Rev. John W. Stafford, C. S. V., and Prof. Norbert Bausch.

The first eliminations in the contest have been made already by the instructors in the Department of English, and the papers selected to compete in the finals will be sent to the judges this week. It is expected that the winners of the contest will be made known sometime before the final examinations.

The long-awaited college catalogue made its appearance during the week of May 12. For some time the need for a new catalogue has been felt, and a great deal of time and labor have been expended in making the present publication as efficient as possible. A number of changes have been made, not only in the catalogue itself, but in the organization of the College as well, these changes to go into effect during the coming scholastic year.

Two Colleges

The most important of these changes is the organization of the College into two divisions, the Junior College and the Senior College. "In the former, major emphasis is devoted to the completion and rounding out of the fundamental work begun in high school, to the basic preparation for work on the higher level, and to preliminary views of fields of learning. In the latter, although several subjects of general educational value are pursued, considerable emphasis is placed on specialization. Such concentration should acquaint the student not only with the fundamental facts and principles of a field of knowledge, but also with the technique of research employed in making new contributions to it. The aim is to develop rigorous and accurate thinking and to awaken and stimulate intellectual interests of permanent value".

Departments Changed

In addition, the former three separate departments of political science, economics and sociology have been grouped into one department for more efficiency, and likewise the departments of physics, mathematics and mechanical drawing have been combined. The department of religion has been enlarged, to include a wider variety of courses. The classical languages have been combined into the department of classics, and the departments of French and German grouped under the heading, the department of Modern Languages.

These changes, combined with the new format, make the new catalogue not only more pleasing to the eye, but greatly increases its efficiency as the official prospectus of St. Viator College. It should prove an influential factor in securing new students.

Classes Make Unique Study

The classes of Economic and Social Adjustment and of Sociology attended a hearing before the Chicago Regional Labor Board Wednesday afternoon in Chicago. The attendance was made possible through the Rev. J. W. R. Maguire, C. S. V., who is a member of the board.

The hearing was held in the offices of the National Labor Relations Board in the Civic Opera Building. Father Maguire was a member of the panel which heard the case.

ABILITY VS. POPULARITY

Within the past few days the various student organizations of the campus have begun to hold their annual elections. While it is the policy of the VIATORIAN to refrain from involving itself in campus politics, we feel that the occasion calls for editorial comment since the outcome of these elections will effect the future welfare of both the College and the student body.

In the past students have elected fellow students to important offices without serious consideration of their fitness for the positions at stake. In fact many students have voted blindly, following the whims of certain campus party factions; others have voted for a candidate because he was an outstanding athlete or because he was personally popular. The VIATORIAN believes that it is high time that the student body evince its ability to use the ballot intelligently.

As a result of this indiscriminate method of electing students to key offices in the past, the body has suffered immensely. It is not the purpose of the VIATORIAN to point out which officers have been lacking in ability during the past year. You students know who have failed and why.

Would it not be much better for all concerned if all political factions were discontinued? Don't you think that your class and organization leaders should be men with a certain standard? In other words, do you not believe that the candidates for office this year should be men well qualified to lead; who should show their capacity for leadership by announcing a well planned platform?

The VIATORIAN believes that before a man be permitted to run for an important office he should meet certain requirement that will prove him capable of representing the College. First of all he should be a Christian gentleman worthy of the name of our Alma Mater; 2nd, he should have a certain scholastic rating, at least a C average; 3rd, it is suggested that only Seniors and Juniors be permitted to hold offices in the major societies that exist on the campus.

It is not because of a wish to monopolize the offices for the upper-classmen that the last suggestion is made; rather it is because the VIATORIAN feels that the freshmen and sophomores need experience before they are allowed to take over the reins.

This matter of the annual elections is a serious one. The VIATORIAN cannot urge too strongly upon the student body the obligation to vote sanely and intelligently, regardless of the stampeding tactics of political "combines".

An Unsophisticated Village Maiden

Views The College Club Elections from a Front Seat (Tres Rickety)

Mr. President called the meeting to order and after some preliminary business, nominations were opened. The Danville Wonder rose on his No. 10's and announced "Mr. President, there is in this college a man who, during the three years he has been among us, has proved himself the possessor of all the qualities necessary for the office you now hold—namely, intelligence, personality (plus), a sense of humor, a—er—in short, all the qualities necessary for the office you now hold. In consideration of these obvious facts, I nominate Mr. Michael Rafael Roche". (Loud applause) (Also some booing).

Unused to such dazzling eloquence, the unso. vil. md'n was gathering her scattered wits when, brilliant with the fire of enthusiastic youth, uprose Mr. Weeger Krauser, and with that simplicity, brevity, yet happy choice of the right word in the right place which ever has distinguished him, he said: "I nominate Mr. Edward O'Rourke". (Loud applause) Certain men of brawn emit a dignified hiss).

But all this, soul-stirring as it undoubtedly was, is as sounding brass and tinkling cymbal to what followed, for hardly had the last dignified hiss died away when Mr. Cronin, bowed down with the weight of profound thought, got ponderously to his feet, and said—and the unso. vil. md'n hung upon his words—"In view of Mr. Phelan's undeniable propinquity, ubiquity, and velocity he is to my mind the only possible candidate for the aforesaid position of presiding officer of the College Club of St. Viator College".

This was too much for the unso. vil. md'n's unlearned ears—bombarded by this falling shower of polysyllables, she retired for a moment from the fray, and recovered only after Mr. Waldron, with impressive earnestness (she learned later) had nominated Mr. Robert Walsh.

When nominations were opened for the other offices, as though by agreement this is of course only a figure of speech) there was a staccato fire of "I decline", a squabble over Parliamentary terms, a general air of that noble confusion which occasionally attends the activities even of college men. Several minor skirmishes were reported, led by Captain Krauser and Lieutenant Tures, against Corporal George Fleming (who took the whole army on, single-handed) but both combatants retired in good order and no casualties occurred.

A general discussion followed which was much too complicated for one of the simpler sex to comprehend, about ballot boxes and polls, and other matters suited only to the subtle minds of masculinity. But when the meeting adjourned, the unvil. md'n went out into the night, and in her eyes there was the light of a triple vision—the beaming face of Mr. Morris, with the sacred name of Roche upon his lips; the exalted countenance of Mr. Krauser, ready to do and die for the honor of O'Rourke, and that visage, enhaled with felicity, domesticity, and complicity, whose golden tongue had trumpeted forth the everlasting worth of William Phelan.

Library Echoes

By Bro. Leo Nolan, C. S. V.

Several new wall cases will soon be installed in the library. These cases are designed to fill the need created by a considerable increase of volumes which have been added to the various departments in the past year. They will be finished in light oak to harmonize with the rest of the Library furniture.

The Reverend T. J. Lynch has an interesting article in the New Scholasticism on the "Aesthetic Theory of Benedetto Croce". Father Lynch was formerly Head of the English Department and Dean of Studies at the College. He has always been a generous benefactor of the Library.

Mr. Charles Murphy, Debate Coach at Chebanse high school, brought his debating team to the Library for research work. The Library encourages visits of this kind and places its shelves at the disposal of any of the surrounding schools.

The Library also received a visit from Mr. J. J. McCarthy of the Library Book Shop in Chicago. Mr. McCarthy of the Library and pledges his support in the future.

The Library is indebted to Rev. Father Friel and Rev. Father Fitzgerald of Chicago Heights, Illinois, for several volumes. Among which is a very valuable set of the works of Cornelius Lapide printed in 1717.

A complete set of the "Illinois Catholic Historical Review" and twenty-three volumes of the Illinois Centennial Historical Collection have been added to the Library.

As the end of the semester will soon be at hand, the Librarian requests that the students will be so kind as to cooperate with him in returning books belonging to the Library.

him with a membership in the Chevalier Legion of Honor. Previous to this, in 1921, Dr. Garner was a Hyde lecturer in French universities and a Tagore lecturer at the University of Calcutta in 1922.

Literary Fame

As an author Dr. Garner has gained considerable renown in literary circles and is recognized as competent authority on political and legal subjects. He is author of "Reconstruction in Mississippi", 1901; "History of the United States" (co-author with Senator Henry Cabot Lodge) four volumes, 1905; "Introduction to Political Science", 1910; "American Government", 1911; "Civil Government for Indian Students", 1920; "Indees et Institutions Politiques Americaines", 1921; "International Law and the World War", 1920; "Recent Developments in International Law", 1925; and "Political Science and Government", 1927.

Dr. Garner edited an edition of "Essays on Southern History and Politics", 1914. One of his outstanding works is his translations (from the French) of Brissaud's "History of French Public Law".

The Very Reverend Doctor E. V. Cardinal, president of St. Viator College, will introduce Dr. Garner to the International Relations Club members. Father Cardinal was a student under Dr. Garner and considered him as one of the greatest authorities on problems on political science and international law in the world. It is expected that a capacity crowd will attend the lecture which promises to be the outstanding event of the International Relations Club's programs for this year.

"Flash Lights"

By A. Bulb

Well, here I am back again you lucky people. This time with more dirt (?) and stuff. Between the trip to Joliet, the Varieties of 1935, and the Sophomore Cotillion there is plenty of new material for those ears fond of gossip.

Frank Straub and Jim O'Brien have been seen in the company of Miss Mitchel quite a bit since the Varieties . . . Basil Nicholson, the Connecticut aquatic star, has been seen with Mary Anthony more than ever . . . Bill and Larry Walsh seem to have taken a fondness to children. They were seen walking from Kankakee bouncing rubber balls as they accompanied two very small girls (about eleven years old) and seemed to be having the time of their life . . . rock a bye baby etc . . . Corcoran agrees with news title "Baby Blue Eyes". Eighty Kankakee girls can't be wrong, opines Kenny.

Seen at the Dance:

Straub and Helen having a great time trying to find poor, poor Jim. The Legris family seemed well represented. Evangeline was escorted by Paul Winterhalter. Louise seemed to have the situation well in hand as far as Bill Crannel was concerned while Claire and Krauser also seemed able to take care of themselves. Pat Legris enjoyed himself by waving the baton for the orchestra leader . . . Clark Dilger has really earned the name 'Nimble-fee'. He gave the boys and girls a treat by doing his specialty at the dance. He also did this in Chicago at the Stevens . . . Robben and Hazel Dionne got along very nicely although poor Bob seemed to be having trouble with the back of his coat . . . McNamara and a petite black-haired gal were waltzing along right well . . . Who was the Kankakee beauty with Gazior? . . . And another thing. Who was the gal Joe Kalkowski liked to sit and talk to while the orchestra was playing . . .

Noonan had the Irish situation well in hand with a pretty Miss who was a student last year. Can it be the Spring? . . . Dilger and O'Leary had dates from Chi.

Dick Doyle, after a two month's war, has signed a treaty with Betty Lou. He seemed to have forgotten there ever was a war at the dance. Oh well such is life . . . Here is a choice bit of news. Steve Gould took a charming girl named Lorraine to the dance for his first date in two years (at least around here) . . . Poor Bill Schumacher. He says he likes to eat his meal with the rest of his party when he goes out. It seems that he had to wait a while at the D-X Diner after the Dance . . . Marge Senesac was at the dance but we couldn't find out who the lucky fellow was.

Doc Meany always manages to take Mary Anthony to a dance or two. From the looks of things a good time was had by all concerned . . . Johnny Hargrove dropped in from Chicago to escort the lovely Peg Cotter to the dance. Jim Flynn seemed to be pretty much in evidence all evening and appeared to be having a gorgeous time. More power to you Jim.

Ken Corcoran is offering a reward for information as to the whereabouts of his room-mate. They see each other about once a week.

Very Late News Flashes:

Tuesday evening there were nominations for officers in the College Club . . . George Fleming gave a discourse about tradition here at the College. The discourse was very interesting but was rather lengthy . . . Clark Dilger and Ed O'Rourke bantered a few words. From the amount of applause it appeared that O'Rourke got the better of the bargain as far as words went.

Mary Anthony was escorted home by —? Better get after him Nick.

"Back With a Flash"

Danny Barrett isn't doing as well as formerly in the village, but he is building up his popularity with the village lads and gals . . . Would you like to look into the interior of a certain house in Chicago, if you had the magic to accomplish such a thing you would have seen "Bouncing Ball" Cavanaugh crooning to the little gal of his heart in his best possible manner . . . everything was swell until the neighbors objected—but don't worry Ray, she's a kinda nicea gala . . . Sellers ate strawberries and cream somewhere the other evening—he wouldn't say where but he brought back some strawberries and cream on his vest to prove that he had been taking a twirl in the social world. . . The persons with the extra worried faces on the campus are the seniors—they are wondering, just wondering . . . We wonder if Gould and Roche will take their trip west this summer—On their return they will write a book entitled: "To The West And Back On Thirty Cents" . . . Bigfoot, popular dog about the campus was not nominated to any of the offices open—did the Freshmen forget their silent friend?

Well as it is very late and the prefect is due to come down here any minute I think it would be for the good of everyone if I were to sign off until I can find more news and stuff for youse guys and youse gals. Au revoir Pleasant Dreams.

Debaters Hold Annual Banquet

The Oberlin Hostess House in Kankakee will be the scene of the annual Bergin Society Banquet Wednesday evening, May 22. It is expected that about thirty members of the Society will be present to officially bring the debating season to a close.

Edward Buttegen, President of the Bergin Debating Society, will act as toast-master for the occasion. The guests of honor include; Rev. E. V. Cardinal, C. S. V., President of St. Viator College, and Rev. J. Lowney, C. S. V., as former coaches of this organization, and Rev. B. Mulcaney, C. S. V., a former forensic star, who, at one time, was an outstanding member of this noted debating society.

Election of new officers will be held after the banquet, it was announced by Rev. J. W. Stafford, talented coach of debating, and it is believed that there will be considerable rivalry for the honor positions open. Nominations will be made for President, Secretary, and Manager of Debate.

The Bergin Debating Society is one of the oldest active organizations on the campus and it continues to grow year after year. The teams have had a successful season and are eagerly looking forward to their work of next year in an endeavor to produce an undefeated team. We compliment the society on its remarkable record and sincerely hope that future teams representing the College will be as successful as the one of this year. Debating is one of the most important activities of the institution and it is truly an honor to pay a well-earned compliment to the director and coach, the Rev. J. W. Stafford, who devoted much of his time and energy to this organization and is responsible for its success.

Viator In The Orient

Here I am again to let you know just a little more about your two lonely missionaries in the Orient. Since my last letter, to which I received no answer, due perhaps to it being lost in the long voyage, things have happened here that may interest you so I write on.

Brother Ryan spent some time at Pa Mein Cheng where he had the experience of being awakened in the dead of night by the rifle shots of bandit raiders. Two persons were carried away for ransom and, fortunate to say, the mission was spared. For the last three months Brother has been at Liao Yuan, a mission town one hundred miles north of Ssuningkai.

Just a week ago Father Crevier called him back to teach in the English Middle School. After leaving Tung Liao, the place of floods and plagues, I wandered to Pa Mien Cheng making that my home for a number of months. At that little mission station, I helped Father Forcier (of the Foreign Mission Society of Montreal) by saying Mass, hearing Confessions in Chinese and baptizing.

Three weeks ago a letter from our superior that told me to pack up and go to Pa Ku Men, a little Chinese village approximately one hundred miles south-west of headquarters, Ssuningkai. This is a strictly Chinese hamlet, completely surrounded by mountains, thirty miles from the nearest railroad station, accounting for the fact that it has kept its Chinese manners and customs. The streets that jolt to the right or left in an old whimsical way, at first oblige one to solve a complicated puzzle to get home. The mission here is one of the finest in the Vicariate, being blessed because of the martyrs who shed their blood in the Boxer Rebellion. The resident priest of that time was hanged to the very church door. In a few days we will make to our two-wheel covered wagon pulled by a little donkey, and evangelize here and there as we travel along.

Cotillion Revue

By Miss Mary Anthony, '37

Romance and beauty reigned supreme at the Spring Cotillion last Saturday night, and the evening was one that a reporter does not mind writing about. The setting in the Gold Room of the Hotel Kankakee was appropriate for the entertainment of royalty, and the dancers might well have been of royal blood.

Every young lady resembled a queen in her own right, gowned exclusively to suit her own individuality, and it was noticed that each Viator gentleman displayed just what the well-dressed man of 1935 is wearing.

Strolling along the colorful salon, beautiful ladies and handsome men greeted us on every side. It was then that I saw Mr. Thomas Kelly, the College Club President. With him was a most vivacious dark eyed maiden in red. I believe Georgia is her name, a most delightful young lady.

As I passed this very interesting couple I caught a glimpse of two of our own Sophomores, sitting out of a dance: William Schumacher and Miss Evelyn Lanoue. Evelyn was looking more winsome than ever in white and American beauties, and Bill was still the devoted swain.

Someone pointed out Miss Marguerite Senesac, one of the Freshman coeds, looking very sweet in pink organdie, escorted by our Italian count, Alessandro. We wondered what had happened to Lord Byron. Marge has always had a way with royalty, you know.

Most striking was Mr. Weager Krauser's fair partner, another one of our coeds, wearing a most stunning red and white organdie frock, and many the backward glances were cast at Miss Claire Legris.

We saw lovely Miss Peg Watson, escorted by one of the popular Seniors, Francis Smith. Peg, lovelier than ever in yellow, spoke a few moments with Miss Hazel Dionne, who looked glamorous in pink taffeta and gardenias. Miss Dionne was accompanied by that well-dressed and handsome Mr. Bob Robben.

I had a word in the Grill with that delightful and altogether charming young lady, Miss Evangeline Legris, presenting a pretty picture in flowered green taffeta with brown accessories, who was accompanied by that most engaging musician, Mr. Paul Winterhalter. At the same time I saw Miss Legris' younger and equally charming sister, Louise, gowned in red plaid taffeta and escorted by another fellow Viatorian and renowned golfer, Mr. William Crannell.

We passed the sociable Mr. John Morris, talking intently to the gracious Miss Olene Dandurand, who was beautifully gowned in pink taffeta.

One of the most happy and colorful groups to whom we spoke a few words at the McBroom Cafe while they were enjoying a bit of caviar included Mr. Martin McLaughlin and his most enchanting sister Patricia, who was wearing a lovely white Victorian gown. In this group were also Mr. John Cronin, Dramatic Club President, and his sister, Mary, who pleased in a black gown.

Seen at the "Villa on the River" lunching after the cotillion were Mr. Emmerson Dexter, a popular college man, and his captivating partner, Miss Mable Chennon, in a pink organdie, was one of the most popular belles of the evening, and was seen much with a certain senior.

Another campus leader seen a great deal Saturday evening was the Sophomore Class President, Edward O'Brien, who was escorting Miss Katherine Pfeifer, who looked very alluring in yellow.

Day Hopping

Just a bit of friendly advice: prepare for the exams! Now, let me tell you:

Bade is a second Bill Terry,—he found out that Manteno still can play baseball.

Imagine, if you can, Ticulka's stealing the show at the Sophomore dance with "three" of the fair sex. More power to you, Frank,—you'll need it.

Yes, Bob Mackin still holds first place in courages—Bob was batting a thousand in every respect at the Spring Cotillion. Red wasn't doing so bad either. Mm . . . not bad!

Of course Crowley was there in his usual bang-up style. By the way, gentlemen, Jim sure enjoys his week ends—who wouldn't when there's "that something missing" during the week—way up in Chicago.

Who is it that Bade says has blue eyes and is divine?—Yeh, Bruce, let 'em have it.

Mayor Reed of Bradley must have something that Anderson wants as Andy is there most of the time. Politics are in the making!

V. Bade, the King of the Swat, was struck out twice on six pitched balls by Noonan. Bruce struck twice at one pitch, it was "Clare's" slow ball.

Marty McLaughlin does the disappearing act when he exchanges a dance. If you don't believe me, ask Golden. Look out for Marty.

Hugh Mallaney must have cut in on someone's addresses—the total of six was his measure the night of the dance. His closest rival was Ticulka.

The Democrat's baseball club of Kankakee was defeated by Manteno, 6-5. Francis Smith had a hitting duel with Bade. Smitty got two solid whollops, while Bade hit a triple that scored three runs. However, Bade's hit was a pop foul over the first baseman's head, but the umpire called it a fair ball, all runs scored while the players argued over the hit. Smitty fell down trying to field the ball after a long run. Yes, it was a great game.

We are still wondering what became of Joe on the night of May 11. He didn't show up and left Frank with his hands full. But then, as I have said, Frank managed all right.

Homer has found what he has been looking for, so the Chevy will get a much needed rest.

It doesn't take Steamboat George very long to get up steam—in no time he can get 125 pounds of "pressure".

We had the pleasure of speaking for a few moments with Mr. and Mrs. Osmand Trudeau, a most popular couple with the younger set. They were acting as chaperons for the evening. Mrs. Trudeau looked quite as pretty and youthful as her younger sister, Margie, in a green tunic. This young couple certainly deserved a vote of appreciation from the college group.

The neighboring city of Springfield was very well represented by the appearance of several very fair ladies. One outstanding beautiful girl, the sister of Mr. James O'Brien, accompanied Mr. Frank Straub.

Mr. Steve Gould, the President of the I. R. C., seemed to be quite taken up with a real beauty, the enchanting Miss Lorene Linskey.

The enraptured Mr. Basil Nicholson talked all evening with his very petite and magnetic lady, Miss Doris Finn. We would say that the English gentleman seemed very much interested in his friend, more entranced than his usual calm features generally disclosed.

Yes, it was a colorful dance, one out soon to be forgotten.

Prof. Clarence J. Kennedy

Professor Clarence J. Kennedy after twenty-one years of conscientious service will sever his connections with St. Viator this year to assume his new duties as superintendent of public schools for Kankakee county.

St. Viator's loss is Kankakee's gain. An able instructor; a sage counselor, and inspiring friend, Professor Kennedy leaves an inevitable record behind him. As head of the Biological Sciences and as the first registrar of the College, he has been distinguished by his solicitude for the students and his loyalty to the College.

To a scholar and a Catholic gentleman the VIATORIAN extends its best wishes upon his entrance into public life confident that the ideals for which the Church and Catholic Education stand will find in him an able exemplar.

Village Play Directed By Viator Grad

A successful three-act play, "Aunt Samantha Rules the Roost", was presented at the village hall last week under the direction of the capable Miss Evangeline Legris, a Viator graduate of 1933.

Miss Legris was an active and talented member of the Viator Dramatic Club while in attendance here, and the VIATORIAN congratulates her on her new success.

Considering the little material available to her, Miss Legris's stage could not have been more a propos, nor could it have obtained a better atmosphere for which the play called. The characters were chosen from the young people of Bourbonnais and each role was played well. The group has been requested to present the play a fourth time at the Knights of Columbus hall in Kankakee soon.

WHAT IS MORTEX?

Perfect Preservation Protection

Emulsified Asphalt Liquid

A perfect protective coating for brushing, spraying or trowelling, being a high grade Mexican asphalt dispersed as minute particles in water for convenient handling. It is applied cold. As the moisture evaporates, a black, flexible rubberlike film remains which is water-proof, acid, alkaline and fire resistant, and shuts out infiltrations of air.

Mortex 5 does not crack or peel in coldest weather, nor blister, sag nor run on hottest days and always remains elastic. It is odorless, tasteless and noninflammable and can be safely used in confined places. It readily bonds to all clean surfaces, and also to damp surfaces, but should never be applied over rusty, dirty, greasy or oily surfaces or an imperfect bond will result. Use only on clean surfaces to obtain perfect satisfaction.

Used for DAMPPROOFING WALLS and FLOORS, PAINTING GALVANIZED IRON, PROTECTING CLEAN IRON AND STEEL, ROOF REPAIRING and as an ADHESIVE. It can be mixed with Portland Cement and dries out a soft gray color for patching deteriorating concrete.

Levinsky Pokes Foe, Referee, To Spice Program

Kink Levinsky at his waggish best, knockouts, another fight that was branded the best amateur struggle ever fought in this vicinity, a pair of wrestlers that grunted and groaned and hurled and flung until one nearly destroyed himself by getting his head curled up in the ropes, a fight that was waged almost to the dressing room, a battle between a couple of tots, and a boxing clinic were the features of the St. Viator boxing show in Kankakee armory on May 8 that delighted some 1,500 fans.

Levinsky, who rose from a Halsted street fish peddler in Chicago to a contender for the heavyweight championship of the world and to the most vivid pugilistic figure in this section of the country, was nothing short of a show in himself that evening. He referred the wrestling match which was won by "Sune" Rassmussen of Chicago from Stanley Smike of the same place.

A Slap from the King
Several times the King was nearly floored by the matmen when one chose to fling the other about the ring, but the King consistently rose to the occasion by taking a lusty slap at the grapplers. It took all the wisdom Levinsky could summon to save the life of Smike when the latter got curled up in the ropes and was trying to loosen himself before Rassmussen could bounce up on him. Smike was hooked to the ropes by the neck and the King solved the problem by lifting one rope up and the other down, thus leaving sufficient room for the wrestler to squirm out of the delicate situation. A clever fellow, this Levinsky.

But the show had numerous angles. Levinsky battled a three round exhibition against Tom Jones, "Red" Vickery, and Brother Eddie DesLauriers who started out as the referee of the match between Levinsky and Vickery. The King, however, was spoiling for a fight with Brother Eddie and when the fight was over, the crowd was willing to award the Ghetto mit artist a three-way decision.

Dion Wins Windup
George Dion won the windup match from Charlie Persisti of Joliet via a decision in the 147 pound class. However, the third round bell almost didn't end the match as Persisti was positive he hadn't been given a break in the refereeing and he was out for somebody's neck. He looked fiercely at Byron Vickery, the referee, and only splendid holding kept him from tearing into the official, and then Persisti decided that he and Dion should renew the match immediately. He cooled off however, but the announcer said that the battle was briefly replayed in the dressing room, and that it would definitely be decided on a future card.

In what was termed the best fight in these parts for some time, Buddy Gruver carved out a decision from Leonard Demarah of Bradley at 135 pounds. Gruver slugged the daylight out of Demarah in the third round after trailing on points in the first two rounds.

Davis Scores Kayo
Verle Davis, 125 pounds, the wiry Kankakee lad who is fast becoming a popular figure in the local fistic circle, registered the lone knockout of the evening over Daniels of Joliet midway in the second round. Davis sent Daniels crashing to the canvas in the first round and it was

Coeds' Express View of Boxing

"On enetring the Kankakee Armory last May 8th, I was escorted to the press box; the idea of sitting in the press box, watching a boxing show was both exciting and terrifying. While waiting for the bouts to commence, there were recordings of some of our favorite bands and musical pieces, but as each moment passed my ears heard never a note, but anxiously awaited the almost uncivilized combat of human bodies that was to be unfolded before the blow hungry crowd.

"My first impressions of the throng reminded me of the stories we have read in the days of ancient Rome, when human beings were placed before just such audiences to weigh their physical powers against those of another while the blood-thirsty rabble yelled — "Kill Him!"

"A prize fight today, has been made just a little bit more polite, but in all I think it just a mad, hurly-burly, uncouth, display of wrongly directed physical power which is being wasted".

M. A.

"In the midst of an argument between two of our outstanding Chicago chaps as to whether or not a woman is out of place at the ring-side, I witnessed last week's boxing show at the armory. With the exception of two bouts, I might say the entire show was a huge farce. One needs not to be an expert fight fan to realize the boys were out to give an exhibition and not to put on an actual fight. Lucky for me that I found myself in interesting company and listening to a good argument, otherwise I would have been forced to repent my evening as one of ennui".

C. L.

My ignorance of boxing is both amusing and disgusting. But then, so was the best boxing show — amusing and disgusting.

The above are comments written for the VIATORIAN by three of our co-eds who attended the last fight show that was held at the Kankakee Armory on May 8th.

DEAR EDITOR

I've always been interested in Viator and in the various activities of the College. I followed the fortunes of the various representative teams and I have always rooted for Viator.

This interest, I believe, gives me the right to ask a few questions. Why is it that there isn't a better school spirit exhibited by the student body? Formerly, Viator was noted for its enthusiastic cheering groups, but it seems that the new order of college men think it below his dignity to cheer his team on.

I suggest that a cheer leaders' club be organized next year. The membership should be made up of men who can keep the crowd cheering in an organized fashion. The leaders should be trained thoroughly at the start of the fall season, and continue as a unit to make Viator conscious that it falls far below what it should be in school spirit.

School spirit does not mean only cheering. It means giving time and energy to the promotion of successful activities sponsored by the various campus groups.

I hope that next year Viator students will exhibit a real school spirit.

— A Fan.

ATHLETICS

The Chicago White Sox may be gathering all the praise in newspapers of the Windy City but around the campus of St. Viator our own team is certainly the "talk of the town". To date they are undefeated and give every indication of heading for a successful season. The Reverend Father F. J. Harbauer, coach has welded together a nine that is a combination of veterans and rookies. Your reporter witnessed the last game and was certainly impressed with the nine. Of course there are weaknesses but as a whole the team is 100 per cent better than last season.

"Strech" Gannon, a freshman, is holding down the initial sack with all the finesse of a vet. He hails from Valparaiso, Indiana. A broken wrist that has weakened him as a batter, proves to be an advantage in the field. It enables Gannon to place his catching hand in almost any unnatural position with ease. "Strech" bids fair to be the best first baseman that the Irish have had for ages.

Second base, the keystone sack, is being handled by "Streaky" Burke, diminutive basketball star. Burke, a veteran for the past two seasons, acts as field captain. At the present writing he has failed to find his batting eye and hopes are being expressed that he will soon come through.

Another newcomer in the person of Danny Blazeovich, formerly of DeKalb High School, has succeeded in breaking into the regular line up. Blazeovich plays shortstop with all the dash and speed of a "Luke Appling". Danny's only weakness to date seems to be an inability to take pegs from the catcher. In the game with the Kankakee State Hospital nine he fumbled three pegs that would have been sure outs.

At third base, a Connecticut Yankee, Al Palladino is treating the Viator fans to some classy fielding. No foul tip in his territory (or anyone else's for that matter) is too far afield for Al to get. Palladino bats in the lead-off position and has proved himself to be quite handy with the stick.

The outfield consists of Tony Marik, Joe Saia and Emmerson Dexter. With the exception of Saia it is a fairly slow moving trio of gardeners. Marik, who plays left-field, is batting well under .200 and only his throwing ability and general fielding calibre will keep him in the regular starting line-up. His greatest weakness is a tendency to "clown" when making a catch. In the hospital game with two down in the ninth he clowned and as a result missed a fly that would have ended the game. Luckily no one scored. Perhaps Marik has learned his lesson.

Joe Saia, leading home run hitter last season, is once more roaming centerfield. His speed enables him to cover a goodly portion of left or right when the occasion demands. Joe also directs the other two fields how to play for the batter and has been doing an excellent job of it.

Emerson Dexter, who announced at the beginning of the season that he was going to be a bench manager has been drafted to play right field. Dex may not be all that is required of a fielder but then neither is Babe Ruth. Like Ruth, Dex is very potent with the wood and so Father Harbauer has placed him in the field once again, where his fight and pep will be more advantage to the team.

Pitchers are plentiful this season with Clare Noonan, Don Betourne and Dave McGrath listed as the starters. Noonan and Betourne are the vets returned from last year while McGrath is a freshman, who hails from Springfield. Noonan and Betourne, being veterans will no doubt get the majority of the assignments although McGrath is really a find. McGrath saved one game for Viator recently when he went into the St. Rose game in the sixth as a relief pitcher and proceeded to strike out 15 Frenchmen. Incidentally his team mates came through with four runs and thus secured his first victory for him.

Noonan, one of the two pitchers who have gone the regular route this season. He gave a marvelous exhibition of control in that game and was nicked for only 6 hits.

Behind the plate Viator has Abe Rohinsky, the speedy halfback who ran wild against Valpo University last fall. Abe handles the catching assignment with great facility and although only a freshman he has succeeded in ousting Tony Marik and Emerson Dexter who have retired to the outfield. Rohinsky is also a hitter, having an average above .300.

Well, fans, that's the line-up at present. Changes may be made since there are some wonderful players on the squad who are both hitters and ball hawks. Follow your team! Game notices will appear on the bulletin boards.

ant. Viator executed four double plays.

A coed at Woodbury College (Los Angeles) who has the use of only one hand is two weeks ahead of her classmates in a typewriting class.

The strictest dramatic censorship ever known was that enforced in Vienna in the nineteenth century. Stage lovers were prevented from appearing in a scene unless they were accompanied by a chaperon.

Speaking of Chaperones, the days of chivalry are not past. A college professor found a romantic couple sitting in his car after a campus dance. He politely tipped his hatt and walked his wife home.

Slugging Irish Conquers State Hospital, 8-1

A vastly superior St. Viator Independent baseball team easily defeated the Kankakee State Hospital nine on Saturday, May 11, 8 to 1. This was the second straight victory of the current season. Clare Noonan, veteran pitcher, went the full route and yielded only 6 hits.

Throughout the entire contest the Indies played a heads-up game that was marked for its defensive brilliance. While the Irish garnered 11 bingles, it is a safe bet to say that their hitting strength could be improved. All of their hits were singles with the exception of Chicatelli's triple in the ninth with the bags loaded.

The Kankakee State Hospital nine suffered from a lack of good pitchers and were forced to use three before the game ended. A return game will be played Saturday, May 18, when the new State Hospital diamond will be officially dedicated.

Viators Golf Team Meet Teachers Next

The St. Viator golf team will meet Charleston Teachers College on May 21. It will be the first home match of the season. According to Little 19 custom the Irish 'pill-pushers' will singles and doubles.

As we go to press Manager and Captain Fleming informs us that the Irish will be represented by Bill Crannell, Eddie O'Brien, Jimmie Crowley and George Fleming. The meet will probably be held at the Kankakee Country club or the Highland Country club.

Tied Normal

In a recent match with Normal University the Irish golfers emerged with a tie. Captain George Fleming and Jimmie Crowley shot 86 and 85 respectively to defeat their opponents. Bill Crannell playing Durwood Boone, Little 19 champion, lost a tough match shooting an 84 while his opponent shot an 81.

St. Viator Nine Whips Grocers Of Champaign

Staging scoring sprees in the sixth and the eighth innings yesterday, St. Viator varsity baseball team broke up a pitchers' duel to give Don Betourne his first win of the season by an 11 to 2 score over the Champaign Grocers. Betourne was credited with a 2-hit performance in his initial start. Both of the Champaign runs were scored as result of errors.

B. Sheldenhelm held the Irish to one hit until the sixth inning when the Irish gathered 4 hits and 5 runs. Palladino proved to be the big gun when he crashed a ringing triple to deep center with the bags loaded. In the seventh the Irish scored one run on 3 hits and in the eighth they added 5 more on 3 hits, 2 passes and an error. Sheldenhelm struck out 12 Irishmen, while Betourne whiffed 8. "Streaky" Burke led the Irish attack with 3 hits for 3 times at bat.

Mr. Fonseca has traveled all over the United States and presented his lectures and pictures which include action studies of Lou Gerig, "Babe Ruth", Roger Hornsby and other stars that have created a niche in the hall of baseball fame. The exact date of the appearance of Mr. Fonseca has not been determined but it will be announced in special bulletins on the display boards about the campus.

Upon their return to school, the classes expressed their desire to be able to learn more of their lessons in such a practical and impressionistic manner.

a foregone conclusion who would win.

Ike Klemitz of Bradley lost to Powell of Danville in another corking good battle. Klemitz's low punching in the first round caused him to lose points and Powell came back with a rush in the last round that swung the decision definitely his way. The lads weighed 135 pounds. Other results were: Foster, a colored lad of Kankakee, was given a decision over Thacker of Joliet at 147 pounds; Harry Hodgins, St.

Viator, 160 pounds, received the judges nod in a setto with Leo Durand of Streator; "Red" Arnold of Streator gained a decision over Schmidt of Wheaton college at 160 pounds; and Joe Kalkowski, St. Viator captain, lost a close decision that was booed to Klacko of Streator at 147 pounds.

John and Paul Fight

John and Paul Suprenant, with their father officiating put on their usual exhibition bout. The two are mere kids, but they were warmly received by the fans. The other feature of the evening was the clinic conducted by "Red" Vickery. Vickery displayed how the art of manly defense is drilled in boxers by trading punches with several of his pupils from the Vickery School of Boxing. Jimmy Lamb and Sidney Herbst were judges, and Byron Vickery was the referee.

Viator Wins Meet

While only one of the winning fighters was a student of St. Viator College, the Green Wave leather slingers were credited with another match victory since the Kankakee pugilistic fought under the Viator banners. St. Viator squad collected six victories; Streator, two; Danville, one, and Joliet failed to back a winner. The show of May 8 closed the current boxing activities of St. Viator College.

DEADY NAMED CISCA HEAD

At a meeting of the Cisca Club last week, John Deady, Junior, was elected to the post of President for the coming year. His associates will be Walter Minnehan, acting as Vice-President and Miss Mary Anthony, the club's new Secretary-Treasurer. We congratulate the club on its choice of such efficient and diligent officers and wish them complete success in their plans to make Cisca an outstanding campus organization.

The new president, John Deady, will attend a general meeting of the Cisca organization which will be held at Loyola University, Saturday, May 18.

A man who visited a Chesterfield factory recently, said: "Now that I have seen Chesterfields made, I understand better than ever why people say Chesterfields are milder and have a better taste."

If you too could visit our factories you could see the clean, airy surroundings; the employees in their spotless uniforms, and the modern cigarette making machinery.

You could notice how carefully each Chesterfield cigarette is inspected and see also how Chesterfields are practically untouched by human hands.

Whenever you happen to be in Richmond, Va., Durham, N. C., or San Francisco, California, we invite you to stop at the Liggett & Myers plants and see how Chesterfields are made.
